THE LITURGIES
OF
SS. MARK, JAMES, CLEMENT, CHRYSOSTOM, AND BASIL, AND
THE CHURCH OF MALABAR

EXPLANATION OF FRONTISPIECE.

THE FRONTISPIECE is taken from one of the series of nine plates in a beautiful MS. of the Greek Liturgies now in the Vatican; but, in A.D. 1600, in the Monastery of S. Mary at Gethsemane. They have been engraved by Cardinal Mai, in the Sixth volume of the "Nova Bibliotheca." The intention of the designer is to show the fellow-ministration of angels with men in the Liturgy. This plate (the sixth) represents the GREAT ENTRANCE: (see pp. xxix. and 108). The Priest, carried by angels, brings in the chalice covered with the aer: in his right hand, he holds the paten, covered with its veil. The door, out of which he comes, is that of the prothesis. The Deacon, with a taper, and the stole marked with the Ter Sanctus, bows. To the right, an archimandrite stands up: by him is S. Michael: in answer to the prayer, "Grant that with our entrance may be an entrance of the holy angels." In front of the altar, the Priest is represented again: he wears the stoicharion, or alb; over it a plain phelonion, or chasuble: on his left (by the designer's mistake for his right) is seen a part of the epigonation. On the altar are the two tapers: the chalice, covered with the aer; the asterisk covered with the veil; and behind, the books of the Epistles and Gospels. The Great Entrance, as we shall see, is the grandest piece of ritual in the Eastern Church, and mystically represents the Incarnation.

PREFACE TO THE SECOND EDITION.

IN this re-issue of the English Version of the Primitive Liturgies, the translation has been carefully revised and compared with the original texts, and a few additional notes have been appended to elucidate difficulties. The Liturgy of S. Basil, already printed in the Greek edition which ranges with this volume, is now given in English also. And the Appendix of Formulae of Institution has not only been corrected, but also very considerably increased, as it now contains excerpts from the Anaphoræ of twenty-four Liturgies either unknown to Dr. Neale or beyond his reach at the time when the first edition of this book was published. These (distinguished by asterisks) are taken from Syriac and Ethiopic MSS. in the British Museum, and I am indebted to my brother-in-law, Dr. Wright, for the extracts and versions. I have added references to their places in the Museum Catalogue, to facilitate the studies of those who may desire to examine them for themselves. It is unnecessary to dwell on the cumulative weight of so much additional testimony to the liturgical doctrines and usages of ancient Christendom, all the more cogent and valuable because of the innumerable minor variations of phrase and structure which prove the independence of the witnesses, and it will suffice to say that only in the light of these documents is it possible to interpret truly the language of the Fathers touching the Holy Eucharist.

PREFACE.

As I have said in the Introduction to my Edition of the Liturgies in Greek, it has for many years been my desire to render these most pure sources of Eucharistical Doctrine accessible to all my brethren. Hitherto the whole of them have not been procurable in Greek, except with difficulty, and at a heavy expense: in English, not at all.

I had not, however, intended to translate them; but the united advice of all the Ecclesiastical Reviews, and of many private friends, and many Priests with whom I was previously unacquainted, has encouraged me to undertake that task also:— and the result is now before the reader.

A brief introduction is prefixed; but to enter, in such very narrow limits, at any satisfactory length on the subject, is impossible.

The reader who desires to study it more deeply may consult:—1. Mr. Palmer's Essays on the Eastern Church: 2. My own Introduction to its History: 3. (which may easily be procured through Messrs. Williams and Norgate,) the translation of

M. Mouravieff's work on the Eastern Ritual, by Theodore Ballianus. (ἐπιστολαὶ περὶ τῶν ἱερῶν ἀκολουθίῶν τῆς ἀνατολικῆς ὀρθοδόξου Ἐκκλησίας. Athens: Philadelphus, 1857.)

The Translations in the present volume are as follows:

S. MARK } The pro-anaphoral portion, new: the anaphoral, slightly altered from my

S. JAMES } Introduction.

S. CLEMENT. The pro-anaphoral portion, new: the anaphoral, corrected from Dr. Brett's Translation.

S. CHRYSOSTOM } Slightly altered from my In-
THE PROTHESIS } troduction.

THE MALABAR LITURGY—entirely new.

I have endeavoured, most carefully, to abstain in my notes from all polemical remarks; but one observation I should not feel justified in omitting. For nearly twenty years these, and the other early Liturgies, have been my daily study: there are very few passages in them which I could not repeat by heart; and scarcely any important works on the subject which I have not read. I may therefore claim some little right to be heard with respect to them. And I say most unhesitatingly, that while I can conceive that some passages in them might be tortured into a Calvinistic sense, were sufficient ingenuity employed; no ingenuity can make any single clause even patient of the theory of equivalence, which the "Opinion" of a Scotch Bishop seems to endorse. If that theory be true, the Eucharistic teaching of every Eastern Liturgy is absolutely false.

I would conclude by praying that the doctrine of these Liturgies may spread more and more widely amongst us; and that this poor little effort of mine may be blessed to that end.

INTRODUCTION.

I. Liturgical Families.

1. Primitive Liturgies may be divided into five principal families. (1.) That of S. James, or Jerusalem; (2.) That of S. Mark, or Alexandria; (3.) That of S. Thaddeus, or the East; (4.) That of S. Peter, or Rome; (5.) That of S. John, or Ephesus.

2. That of Jerusalem may be divided into three branches: the Clementine, Cæsarean, and Hierosolymitan.⁽¹⁾

3. Of these, the Clementine has no branches.

4. The normal form of the Cæsarean Liturgy is that of S. Basil. This on the one hand branches out into that of S. Chrysostom; on the other, into the Armenian.

5. The norm of the Hierosolymitan family is the Liturgy of S. James: and this family has three divisions. (1.) Sicilian S. James, as said in that island before the Saracen conquest, and partly assimilated to the Petrine Liturgy. (2.) S. Cyril: where used uncertain, but assimilated to the Alexandrian form. (3.) Syriac S. James, the source of the largest number of extant Liturgies. They are these: [1.] Lesser S. James. [2.] S. Clement. [3.] S. Mark. [4.] S. Dionysius. [5.] S. Xystus. [6.] S. Ignatius. [7.] S. Peter I. [8.] S. Peter II. [9.] S. Julius. [10.] S. John Evangelist. [11.] S. Basil. [12.] (S.) Dioscorus. [13.] S. John Chrysostom I. [14.] All Apostles. [15.] S. Maruthas. [16.] S. Eustathius. [17.] Philoxenus of Mabug I. [18.] Matthew the Shepherd. [19.] James Baradaeus. [20.] James of Batnae. [21.] James of Edessa. [22.] Moses Barcephas. [23.] Thomas of Heraclea. [24.] Holy Doctors. [25.] Philoxenus of Mabug II. [26.] S. John Chrysostom II. [27.] Abulfaraj I. [28.] John of Dara. [29.] S. Celestine. [30.] John Bar-Susan. [31.] Eleazar of Babylon. [32.] John the Scribe. [33.] John Maro. [34.] Dionysius of Cardu. [35.] Michael of Antioch. [36.] John Bar-Yahib. [37.] John Bar-Maadán. [38.] Dionysius of Diarbekr. [39.] Philoxenus of Bagdad. [40.] S. Gregory Nazianzen. [41.] Cyriacus of Antioch. [42.] Dionysius Bar-Salibi. [43.] Abulfaraj II. All these, from Syriac S. James inclusive, are Monophysite Liturgies.

(1) In my Introduction to the History of the Holy Eastern Church I had classed the Clementine Liturgy by itself; but Dr. Daniel, in his observations on my book, seems to me to have shewn that it has a very close connection with the Hierosolymitan, or, as he prefers to call it, Antiochane.

6. The norm of the Alexandrian family is S. Mark. From this are derived these Liturgies: (1.) S. Cyril. (2.) S. Gregory. (3.) S. Basil.

From S. Basil another family springs, used in Ethiopia, and for the most part very barbarous. The norm of this is the Liturgy of all Apostles. From this, as from their source, spring the following Liturgies: [1.] S. John Evangelist. [2.] The Three Hundred and Eighteen. [3.] S. Epiphanius. [4.] James of Serug. [5.] Our Lord Jesus I. [6.] (S.) Dioscorus I. [7.] S. Gregory of Armenia. [8.] S. Mary. [9.] S. John Chrysostom. [10.] S. Gregory of Alexandria. [11.] S. Basil. [12.] S. Cyril. [13.] S. Athanasius. [14.] Dioscorus II. [15.] Our Lord Jesus II. [16.] All Apostles II.

There is a bastard Liturgy between Egyptian S. Basil and Syriac S. James, called John of Bussora.

7. The Eastern family is much less numerous. The norm of this is All Apostles. From this there spring (1.) Theodore the Interpreter. (2.) Nestorius. (3.) Narses the Leper. (4.) The Liturgy of Malabar or S. Thomas. But this last is rather collateral with, than derived from, All Apostles. The first four of these are Nestorian. The fifth, originally Nestorian, has since become Jacobite.

8. The Petrine family has only one Liturgy, the Roman.

There is a bastard between Eastern and Petrine, called Romano-Chaldee.

9. The Ephesine family may be divided into two orders, (1.) The Mozarabic. (2.) The Gallican.

But springing from the mixture of these with the Roman, are [1.] The Ambrosian Liturgy. [2.] The Patriarchine, or that used in the province of Aquileia.

And these are all.

II. Difference between Eastern and Western Liturgies.

By Eastern, I mean those of

S. James,
S. Mark,
S. Thaddeus,
S. John.

1. The Eastern have, the Western have not, a distinct invocation of the HOLY GHOST, without which the transmutation of the Elements is not considered perfected. It is true that this has been obliterated from the Mozarabic rite, but there it was originally: in the Gallican it is still visible.

2. The Western—and that of S. John—have varying Collects, as well as Epistles and Gospels—the others have not.

3. The three purely Eastern—S. James, S. Mark, and S. Thaddeus—have only one Preface for every day in the year.

4. The Mozarabic, Gallican, and Ambrosian, have a different one for every festival: the Roman had, and has several still.

III. Distinctive marks of Oriental Liturgies.

These are principally to be found in the position of the intercession for quick and dead.

(1.) In the Hierosolymitan family, it is between the Invocation of the HOLY GHOST and the LORD'S Prayer.

(2.) In the Alexandrian, it is before the Commemoration of the Institution.

(3.) In the Nestorian, it is between the Commemoration of Institution and the Invocation of the HOLY GHOST.

IV. The Order of the Liturgies themselves.

1. Every Liturgy may be divided into two parts:
The Pro-Anaphoral: and
The Anaphoral portion.

The former extends to the Sursum corda: the latter from thence to the end.

2. The Pro-Anaphoral portion is divided into
The Mass of the Catechumens: and
The Mass of the Faithful.

3. The Anaphoral portion has these four divisions:

The Great Eucharistic Prayer;
The Consecration:

The Intercession for quick and dead: and
The Communion.

4. The Mass of the Catechumens consists of these parts:

The Prefatory Prayer:
The Initial Hymn, Introit, Ingressa, Antiphon, or by whatever other name it may be called:
The Little Entrance:
The Trisagion:
The Lections: (in some rites, Prophecy, Epistle and Gospel; in others, only Epistle and Gospel):
The Prayers after the Gospel, and Expulsion of the Catechumens.

5. The Mass of the Faithful consists of

The Prayers of the Faithful: or, After the unfolding the Corporal.
The Great Entrance:
The Offertory:
The Kiss of Peace:
The Creed.

5. Proceeding to the Anaphora: under the Great Eucharistic Prayer we have

The Preface:
The Triumphal Hymn:
The Prayer of the Triumphal Hymn:
Commemoration of our Lord's Life:
Commemoration of Institution.

6. Under the Consecration we have
Words of Institution for the Bread:
Words of Institution for the Wine;
Oblation of the Body and Blood:
Prayer for the Descent of the Holy Ghost:
Prayer for the change of Elements.
7. Under the Great Intercession we have
The Prayer for quick and dead
The Prayer before the Lord's Prayer:
The Lord's Prayer:
The Embolismus; or Prayer against Temptation.
8. Under the Communion we have
The Prayer of Intense Adoration:
The Sancta Sanctis:
The Elevation of the Host:
The Fraction:
The Confession:
The Communion:
The Antidoron:
The Prayer of Thanksgiving:
The Dismissal.

V. Arrangement of an Oriental Church.

1. The rubrics of the Liturgies are so closely connected with the parts of an Eastern Church, that a short description of one is absolutely necessary.

The following is the ground-plan of S. Theodore at Athens.

1. The ἑγιον βήμα, or sanctuary.
2. The altar, in the centre of the chord of the apse.
3. The prothesis } which when divided, as here, by walls
4. The diaconicon } from the bema, are called parabemata.
5. The iconostasis.
6. The trullus, or dome: under it the choir.
7. The trapeza, or nave, not architecturally divided from the choir.
8. The narthex.

2. Every Eastern Church consists of four portions:

Bema or Sanctuary:

Choir:

Trapeza, or Nave:

Narthex, or Western Porch.

But, as in the West, the sanctuary and the choir have hardly any separation, and go together under the name of chancel, so in the East the choir and nave have hardly any separation, and go together under the name of naos.

3. The bema is separated from the naos by a solid screen—the iconostasis: so termed because of the icons on it.

This answers, not to the rood-screen of the Western, but to the altar-rails of the English, Church. Its doors are called the Holy Doors.

4. North of the altar—there is only one altar in every Eastern Church—is the chapel of the prothesis, with the table at which the preparation of the Elements takes place. Thence the Little and Great Entrances are made.

5. South of the altar is the diaconicon, skeuophylakion, or sacristy.

VI. The Liturgies contained in the present volume are those of

S. James,	S. Mark,
S. Chrysostom,	S. Clement, (?)
The Church of Malabar.

The Anaphore of the first four have been translated by Dr. Brett; the whole of S. James by Dr. Rattray; and of S. Chrysostom by Dr. King and (*) I am anxious to correct a mistake in my preface to the Greek edition of this Liturgy, into which I was led by too implicitly following an assertion of my friend Dr. Daniel. It is that the expression, "cleansing ourselves from all filthiness both of the flesh and spirit," is quoted seven times in the Clementine Liturgy. I ought to have said that the verse, which contains that expression, is referred to five times in that Liturgy.

Dr. Covel. I believe that the whole of these Liturgies has not appeared before in English: the whole of S. Chrysostom and the Anaphora of S. James and S. Mark may be found in my Introduction to the History of the Eastern Church. The Malabar Liturgy is given as a specimen of the family of S. Thadæus, rather than one of the three Nestorian Liturgies, as not less valuable, and not having been before translated.

To these I add the office of the Prothesis; as now said all over the Eastern Church.

The Liturgy of S. Chrysostom is the normal Liturgy of the Eastern Church. That of S. Basil is said on all the Sundays in Lent, (except Palm Sunday,) Maundy Thursday, Easter Eve, the Vigils of Christmas and Epiphany, and the Feast of S. Basil (Jan. 1.) That of S. James is said in some of the Greek islands on the Festival of the Saint. That of S. Mark has been obsolete since the time of Theodore Balsamon. This prelate, a complete Oriental ultramontane, was for squaring everything according to "the most strictest" rule of the Great Church; and procured the abolition of this Liturgy, more venerable than his own, just as Rome has abolished, and is still abolishing, the national Liturgies of other Churches.

The Malabar Liturgy I have never been able to see in the original; and an unadulterated copy of the original does not seem to exist. Diligent inquiry, but in vain, was made for it in India by the late Dr. Mill. As it is now printed, it was revised by the Portuguese Archbishop of Goa, Alexis de Menezes, and the Synod of Diamper, (1599)—a revision which, as even Roman Liturgists allow, shews utter ignorance of Oriental Liturgies. Raulin, in his edition, professes to point out all the alterations made by the Synod, and to give, in a note, the original: but the least study of his work will shew that some important changes pass without the least notice by him.

VII. Mystical Interpretation of Oriental Liturgies.

The best key to the mystical explanation of the Liturgy of S. Chrysostom is to be found in the Commentary of Symeon of Thessalonica—a translation of the latter part of which here follows. This prelate—a man of the highest character for learning and piety, and the stay of the whole Eastern Church in troublesome times—died in 1429. To his treatise should be added that of Theodore of Andida, a writer of uncertain age, first published by Cardinal Mai, in the sixth vol. of his Nova Bibliotheca, in 1855.

"The Bishop therefore who is about to celebrate, descending from the throne in which he has been stationed, figures the condescension of God the Son to us. And having put on the holy stole, (*) he

(*) The stole, used by Priests in the Eastern Church, is also called epitrachelion and horarion, or orarion: it differs in shape from that of the West. It is merely a long piece of silk or other stuff, something more than double the width of the Western stole, and with a hole in the middle of the upper part, through which the celebrant puts his head. As, however, figures the Lord's most holy Incarnation; and going out to the gates of the temple, His presence and manifestation on earth, even till His death and descent into hell. This is signified by the Priest going towards the West and as far as the Church doors.

“ Now when the holy Liturgy is begun, which is when the Bishop gives the sign—for no one can attempt to commence anything without him—the Priests within the bema commence the prayers, and the singers modulate the Antiphons and divide them into three portions, and those things which are taken from the Psalms: (4) to these they add the hymns which pertain to the time of grace. By the Psalms, the prediction of the Incarnation of the Word to those of old time is set forth: by the hymnody which follows, the perfect completion of grace is typified to the bystanders, and the Son of God incarnate, and all the things which He worked for our sakes. Wherefore also, first of all, we honour her who virginally bare Him, and beseech her mediation for us, saying: By the intercession of the Mother of God, O Saviour, hear us. Then, commemorating the Saints, who, agonising for the mystery of faith, died a holy death, we beseech their supplications also; and last of all, venerating it has an embroidered seam down the middle, its appearance is much the same as that to which we are accustomed.—Symeon on the Liturgy.

(4) The three Antiphons of the Constantinopolitan rite will be seen in the Liturgy of S. Chrysostom, where an explanation of them is given.

CHRIST, the author and finisher of our salvation, we cry out with a loud voice, Save us, O Son of God. (5) But when the Bishop has finished his holy prayers without the bema, the Deacons stand by him, who typify, not only the Apostles, but also the Angels, who minister also in the mysteries of CHRIST. But when the Priests within the bema have also finished their own prayers, and come forth, the descent of the holy Angels, which took place in the Ascension of CHRIST, is signified. And when the torches are borne forth, and the Deacons advance by two and two, and the Holy Gospel is carried in procession, and the Bishop, supported on either side by Deacons, advances, and the other Priests follow behind, and sing out clearly, O come let us worship CHRIST, and the acclamations of good wishes to the Bishop resound, and the Deacon after the prayer of the Entrance, while he holds the Gospel in his hands, exclaims: Wisdom; stand up: (6) the Resurrection and Ascension of the Saviour is shadowed forth. For the Deacon, while he thus cries out, announces the Resurrection of CHRIST; and the choir of Priests and Deacons, as we said before, typify the Apostles present with the LORD and beholding Him, and the most holy Angels. But the Bishop is a type of the LORD Himself made manifest to the disciples, and

(5) The reader is recommended to follow the Liturgy of S. Chrysostom, as given below, while he reads the explanation of Symeon, comparing it at the same time with the ground-plan of S. Theodore, above.

(6) This refers to the ceremonies of the Little Entrance, of which more at length hereafter.

taken up from earth to heaven. Wherefore, as we have said, the whole of the exterior naos is a type of earth; the most holy bema represents heaven. Wherefore, as David also prophesies, when the Lord ascended, the Angels assisted in His triumph; and cried out to them that were above, Lift up your doors, and they named Him King of Glory and Lord, and confessed Him the Mighty. Thus too doth the Church, while she honours the celebrant entering with the pomp of a procession into the Holy of Holies; and the holy doors of the bema, shut before that procession enters, and opened that it may enter, signify the same thing.

But when the celebrant has entered and has censed the holy table around, the advent of the Holy Gnost is signified by him. For the SPIRIT came to us from heaven, when CHRIST went up into heaven. Furthermore, the Bishop, signing the Gospel crosswise by a certain double taper, dikerion, typifies the illumination brought to pass both in heaven and earth by the Incarnation of JESUS in His two natures. For by the Incarnation of the Word of God, He not only gave light to men, but also to the Angels.

The Trisagion, which is forthwith said, manifests the mystery of the TRINITY; which the Incarnation of one person of the TRINITY manifested to men; (7) and also the sympathy and union of Angels and men. Wherefore also it is sung within the bema by the Priests, and without it by the clerks and laity: for one Church of Angels and men hath been formed through CHRIST. It is this which the Pontiff proclaims, while he signs the Gospel crosswise with a three-headed taper, (trikerion), and shews that the preaching of the TRINITY is contained in the same, and prays that by it we may be confirmed and established.

But also while he advances to the divine syntonon, (*) which typifies the session of CHRIST at the Right Hand of the FATHER; and then blesses the people crosswise with the trikerion, he assures us of the sanctification which is through the TRINITY, and reminds us that CHRIST, having ascended into heaven, sent down upon us the splendour of the TRINITY, typified by the light, and the blessing. And sitting down in the syntonon, where he is a type of CHRIST, and where he has, as his fellow-assessors, his brother Bishops and Priests, who represent the figure and the similitude of the Apostles, he gives peace to all; and this is a symbol of Christian union. For it is CHRIST, saith Paul, Who hath put an end to enmity in His Flesh, and hath made both one, both things in heaven and things in earth. Then follows the lection of the Apostolic words, which allegorises the mission of the Apostles to the nations. And the Bishops and Priests sit while these are read, but the Deacons do not; because the former also possess the grace of the Apostolate. Then follows the hymn Alleluia, (†) which manifests the praise of God, and the advent of the Divine grace, which is the lection of the Gospel. Now this lection sets forth the preaching of the Gospel throughout the whole world, which was brought to pass after the Ascension of the LORD, by the hands of His Disciples. Wherefore also, we first read the Epistle, then the Gospel; because the Disciples were first invigorated and sent forth, and afterwards, performing their circuit throughout the world, preached the Gospel. And before the Gospel, incense is offered on account of the grace of the HOLY GHOST, which by means of the Gospel was given to the whole world.

(*) The syntonon is the seat in the depth of the Eastern apse, in the centre of which the Bishop sat with his face westward towards the altar,—the altar itself occupying the central position in the chord of that apse,—and having his Clergy on his right and left hand.

(†) See the note on this Alleluia in the Liturgy of S. Chrysostom between the Epistle and Gospel.

But while the Gospel is being read, the Bishop lays aside his omophorion, (‡) thereby making profession of his service to the LORD. For since it is the LORD Who is represented as speaking by the Gospel, and is, as it were, Himself present, the Bishop at that time ventures not to be arrayed with the symbol of His Incarnation—I mean the omophorion; but taking it off from his shoulders he gives it to the Deacon, who holds it folded in his right hand, himself standing near the Bishop, and preceding the holy gifts. He also holds the trikerion in his hand: and this signifies that in the world to come, JESUS, Who was Incarnate and wounded for us, and being one of the TRINITY shining upon us with the rays of Godhead, will be manifestly revealed to all. Then the Pontiff, descending from the syn-throne, and after the Gospel and the prayer for the Emperors, blessing the people with the trikerion, makes manifest that the pious empire and the priesthood exist by means of the Gospel, and prays that they may remain by the grace of the TRINITY.

And now, approaching the altar, he begins the work of prayers, manifesting himself to be the minister of the mystery. And forthwith the catechumens are dismissed, and the faithful are exhorted to remain; because that moment represents the season of the end of the world. "For," saith he, "the Gospel must first be preached throughout all the world, and then shall the end be." And again he saith, "He shall send forth His Angels, and they shall sever the wicked from the good." Thus also the Church doth when she commands the catechumens to depart, and the faithful alone to remain. Whence also we may learn how careful the faithful ought to be that they communicate not with them with whom there ought to be no communion; and this is more particularly the duty of Priests. For if it is unlawful to associate in prayer, how much more in the Sacrifice? Neither ought they to receive the oblations for the sacrifice of those faithful who are open and notorious sinners, but first to require from them penitence. For mutual communion arises from the oblations that are brought to the altar; and it is not meet that the unworthy should partake in the sacrifice. And when the Divine gifts are about to be offered, the Pontiff first washes his hands before all, thereby manifesting his purity and irreprehensibleness in this hierurgy; and that it is right to approach that which is so pure without any manner of pollution, so far as is possible for man, and thus to minister in those most pure mysteries.

But the procession, after these things, of the Divine gifts, is with great pomp of Readers, Deacons, and Priests, with the lamps and holy vessels preceding and following: ⁽¹¹⁾ because this symbolises the last Advent of CHRIST, when He shall come with glory. Whence the omophorion marked with the Cross goes before, which sets forth the sign of the SON of MAN, which will appear from heaven, and the SON of MAN Himself. And after this follow the Deacons in order, symbolising the ranks of Angels; and this also the Fans, ⁽¹²⁾ as they are ⁽¹¹⁾ That is the Great Entrance, for which see pages 10, 108; and also the frontispiece.

⁽¹²⁾ These Fans are a not unimportant part of the plate of an Oriental Church; they are now generally made of silver, and in the shape of the heads and wings of cherubim. The (Clementine Liturgy, (see page 65) orders them to be made of silk or peacock's feathers, or some other light material: they were originally intended to prevent flies and the like insects from settling on the Holy Mysteries, and in process of time came to signify mystically the vibration of the wings of the Seraphim before the throne of God. Under the name of Flabella or Muscaria, they were employed in early Western ritual. Hildebert of Le Mans has an elegant and playful letter to a friend who presented him with a pair. S. Udalric, in his Constitutions of Cluny, book ii. chap. 29, thus writes: "And one of the Deacons, of whom there always ought to be two, shall stand with a fan near the Priest, from the time that flies begin to be troublesome, till the end of the service, that he may drive them away from the sacrifice and from the altar." Durandus thus writes, iv. 35-8: "But lest flies called, set forth, which S. Dionysius names wings. Then come they who carry the Holy Gifts, after whom follow the rest, and they who bear on their head the holy veil, which represents the veil that was wrapped about the Body of the Lord Jesus. These then, going round the Temple processionally, and praying for the people, enter in to the altar, and all of them pray for the Pontiff; and they give heed to no other prayer, but only for the kingdom of God. Now all these things teach that, in the end of the world, after the departure of the wicked, when the SAVIOUR shall have appeared, there shall be no other heritage for the faithful, save the Kingdom of God. Now CHRIST Himself is the Kingdom of God, and the contemplation of His dispensation: His having been humbled even to death; His having been sacrificed for us; to behold that sacrificed and divine and quickening Body, manifesting its wounds—the Body That indeed tasted of death, but is the earnest to us of victory over death; the Body which bestows on us, out of its wounds, immortality and life and the Beatific Vision with the Angels, and food and drink, and life and light, the very Bread of Life, the True Light, eternal life, CHRIST JESUS. Wherefore this entrance symbolises, at the same time, both the Second Advent of CHRIST and His should come and spoil the sweetness of the ointment, that is, lest troublesome thoughts should arise and destroy the devotion of prayer, they are to be driven away by the fan of the spirit. And to signify this, in summer time, a material fan should be used while the secreta is being said."

sepulture: for it is He, as we have said before, Who will be our Beatific Vision in the life to come. Then all the faithful, as is meet, fall down before the Priests, partly as desiring their prayers, and to be remembered in their hierurgy, and partly venerating the Divine gifts. For although they have not yet been sanctified, yet they have been dedicated to God in the prothesis; and the Priest there presented them to God, and besought that they might be received upon the heavenly altar. Although then their sanctification is not yet complete, yet they are prepared for completeness, and are dedicated to God, and an antitype of the Lord's Body and Blood. If then we attribute honour and adoration to holy images, how much more do these gifts which, as the great Basil says, are the antitypes of, and are brought in to the end that they may become, the Body and Blood of Christ. (12) And the people saith not Kyrie Eleison, but, For many years, O LORD; asking, as it were, that he should proceed prosperously in his hierurgy, and should continue his sacrificial functions for a long time. When he has entered in, the doors are shut; because it is not fitting that the Mystery should be beheld by all, but only by those who have been invested with the priesthood. Furthermore, in the same way that there is order and rank in the blessed Angels: for they that are highest enjoy the Beatific Vision without any intermediation, the second rank through the first, ⁽¹⁴⁾ and the third through the second, as Dionysius, ⁽¹⁵⁾ endowed with heavenly wisdom, teaches, so also is the case in the Church. The Pontiff approaches the Divine altar without any intermediary; the Priests and other ecclesiastics, by means of him. And by the Priests and the Ministers the people is admitted to a participation in the tremendous Communion and the sacred hymns. But when, after the first set of prayers, the Creed has been recited, comes the Kiss of Peace, because by the true confession of the TRINITY, and of the One of the TRINITY That was Incarnate, we are united with each other, and that confession associates us with the Angels. And because we ought to love each other, since CHRIST became an oblation through love, and whoever is about to communicate, ought to present himself without any feeling of anger; and because all, in the world to come, are in union with each other, and no one there can be an enemy. But they keep the sacred veil over the gifts until the holy Creed is finished; because we must first make a true and sincere confession about the LORD, before we can behold Him without any veil. After this, the Pontiff who is to celebrate approaches the altar, and praises the works of God, and giving thanks for all, associates himself with the Angels, and vociferates with them the triumphal hymn, the Holy, Holy, Holy: and the people also recite it, typifying the equality of peace which we shall hereafter enjoy with the Angels, and our union with them. Then the Pontiff having praised the greatest of the works of God, the Incarnation of the Only-Begotten, and again the greatest act of His dispensation, His Death for us, goes on to the commencement of the Mysteries, and utters the holy words, the same which our LORD used when Himself sacrificing. Then, having given thanks for all things, and offering the gifts on account of all, he invokes upon himself, and upon the Mysteries laid on the altar, the divine grace of the SPIRIT. By which, having accomplished the rite by the seal of the Cross, and the invocation of the HOLY GHOST, he forthwith beholds the living JESUS lying before him, and Him in His very essence, being truly the Bread and the Cup. For His is that saying, This Bread is My Body; and His again is this saying, That which is in the cup is My Blood. And the sacrifice for the whole world, and the common propitiation, and the living delicacy, and the infinite joy, and the kingdom of the heavens, and the only essential good, is set before all on the Divine table; wherefore also the celebrant prays with the greater boldness on behalf of all. For he takes confidence when he beholds Him Who is the patient Lover of men, lying before him a sacrifice; and he offers praise and makes supplication for all, and remembers those that are absent, and more especially the Maiden Mother of God, who virginally bare Him. Testifying also in this how we are one with the Saints, and by this sacrifice are partakers with them, and that they, having boldness with Him Who loves and is loved, have the power to reconcile and unite us with Him. At last, having exhorted us with one mind and one mouth to praise our God, and having called down upon us the mercies of our great God JESUS CHRIST, He leads us up to our adoption by our heavenly FATHER, and prays that we, being purged from sin by Him Who is His Son according to nature, may become His sons according to grace; and that we may be able rightly to call Him our FATHER, Who is the Father of heaven. And this is the sign of the union in the future world, and of our being united to God, through the Only-Begotten by the HOLY GHOST. Whence the Pontiff, having prayed for peace and returned thanks, calls upon JESUS that He would make him partaker of the Holy Mysteries, that the rest may be counted worthy to become partakers of them through Him.

(12) Symeon is replying to the objections brought by Latin writers against this anticipative adoration, which is common, as we shall see, to all the Eastern Communion, heterodox as well as Catholic, and which is even defended by many Roman writers. Some sentences in the text which dilate on this subject are omitted.

⁽¹⁴⁾ See this idea worked out with greater fulness in the Liturgy of Joseph Bar-Vahib: Renaulot, tom. ii. p. 525.

⁽¹⁵⁾ The writer is of course referring to the Treatise of Pseudo-Dionysius the Areopagite on the Heavenly Hierarchy.

When he has finished the Liturgy, and comes to the Communion, he again assumes the omophorion, manifesting that, before this, he was one of the ministers, and was afraid to put upon himself that holy garment. But when the work is accomplished, and he goes on to elevate the Bread and to divide it into parts, and to receive it himself and distribute it to others, it is necessary that he should put on all the sacred symbols of his dignity: and since the omophorion is the principal vest of a Pontiff, he necessarily assumes that, and in that is partaker of the most divine Things. Having, therefore, put it on, and having made the elevation, and having proclaimed the Holy Things for Holy Persons, he invites all holy persons to that divine and living food of the Holy Table. And the people with one mind cry out, One Holy, One Lord, JESUS CHRIST, to the glory of God the FATHER. And this, as S. Paul saith, shall be preached in the Last Day, when every knee shall be bowed to JESUS, and every tongue shall confess that JESUS CHRIST is Lord, to the glory of God the FATHER. Hence, then the common union of all the faithful is published, and the consent of all concerning the preaching of the Incarnate Son of God, Who shall reign over all, and of His Kingdom there shall be no end, as it is written. But the answer made to the Holy Things to Holy Persons, namely, There is One Holy, &c., first signifies to us the essential sanctity of God Himself, and that from Him is the sanctification of all things that are hallowed. And it is, as it were, an expression of humility; and if we said, Who of us is holy, or who of us is pure? One only is holy, One only is the Lord JESUS CHRIST, Who will of His mercy sanctify us.

Now the elevation of the Bread sets forth to us the elevation of Jesus on the Cross; wherefore also the cup itself lies before our eyes containing the Blood and Water which flowed from His Holy Side. The bread then he divides into four parts, and places them crosswise, and in this he sees Jesus crucified. Nor can there be any greater spectacle than the vision of the Most High God humbled for our sakes. Then taking the upper portion, and with it making the sign of the Cross, he dips it in the chalice, and makes the union of the mysteries; and then he pours the warm water into the cup.⁽¹⁶⁾ And this he does to signify that the Lord's Body, even when dead, and when the Divine Soul was separated from it still remained possessed of its quickening powers: the Divinity never being separated from it, as neither any of the energies of the Divine Spirit. Since then warm water affords by its heat a type of life, it is then employed in the time of Communion that when our lips touch the chalice and participate in the Blood, we may be so affected as if we received it from that quickening side. There are other reasons also, and that of marvellous depth, assigned by writers far superior to ourselves; but that which we have mentioned may suffice for us. For we may understand from the words that accompany the injection of warm water, that this which we have mentioned is the intention of Church. For he saith, "The fervour of the Holy Ghost." And a still clearer proof is, that this admixture also takes place in the Liturgy of the Presanctified.⁽¹⁷⁾ For (16) See all these rites more fully explained at page 120.

(17) The Liturgy of the Pre-sanctified, or of S. Gregory, is employed by the whole Eastern Church, and has been so at there would be no use in this, were the reason of the rite any other than that we have assigned; seeing that in the previous Liturgy it had already been mixed with the Gifts. But the Pontiff, dividing the Bread into many particles, intimates in that action the sacrifice of Jesus Christ. For it is written, He took bread and brake and gave to His disciples. He first then himself communicates in the Bread, and participates in the tremendous Chalice. For no one else administers it to him, except it be some one of his own rank, namely another Pontiff. Then he imparts the Communion to all the rest, who kiss his hand and cheek, by which he proclaims the communion of the Body of Jesus, even in the future world, which shall be for ever and ever. But the hand and cheek receive the kiss—the former as the agent in those tremendous mysteries—the latter as the instrument of speech, by which prayers are offered, and because of love and communion in Christ; which is confirmed by that which is then said—Christ is in the midst of us. Furthermore, because the Lord was smitten on the cheek, so that the Pontiff may be reminded of how great humility the Lord showed Himself to be possessed of, and may never be lifted up in functions so divine and so great.

Those then of the altar communicate at the altar, least since the time of the Council in Trullo, on every day of Lent except the Saturdays, the Sundays, the Annunciation, and Maundy Thursday.

and analogously with their order, as Paul also teaches of the future life: Every man, saith he, in his own order: taking the divine Bread in their own hands, and receiving the Chalice with their lips; and after this he exhibits to the people the Holy Gifts veiled. This teaches that it is not lawful, as hath been said before, for all men to see them unveiled. But if any one is in a proper state to communicate, he then, advancing with reverence and fear, participates of them, but mediately: for he receives the mysteries at the hand of the Pontiff by the spoon. ⁽¹⁹⁾ And thus, when prayer has been offered for the heritage of God and His innumerable people, the Pontiff goes and censes the gifts, and adds that which signifies the Ascension of the Lord, and the glory of the subsequent preaching of Him to all creation. As if he thus spake to the SAVIOUR, and said: Thou didst descend even to us and wast seen amongst us, and didst ascend again into Heaven; and being taken up from the earth, Thou ⁽¹⁹⁾ The mystical reference is to the tongs by which the live coal from the altar was laid on the prophet's lips. The laity in the Eastern Church receive the Body and Blood of our Lord together, the former having been dipped in the latter. The more ancient way was to receive the latter by means of a tube which they held in their own hands and put into the Chalice for themselves. This was also the custom in the West, till the introduction of the present corruption of the disuse of the Chalice in the eleventh and twelfth centuries. I have seen, in the French cathedrals, as many as four of these tubes, or reeds as they were called: one of gold, the other three of silver-gilt. At present, the united elements are administered in the East by a spoon.

didst with Thy glory fill the earth; by which we, performing the hierurgy of these Thy mysteries, are both partakers of Thee, and without intermission hold Thee. After this, the sacred Gifts being carried back to the prothesis, the Deacon holding the paten on his head, and the Priests the chalices, he giveth thanks, and having washed his hands, goeth forth to give that which is called the Antidoron to the people. ⁽²⁰⁾ For since the Pontiff, as we have said, expresses the character of Christ, and has both offered Him and received Him, and has distributed Him to them that are sanctified, it is necessary also that the people should partake of sanctification, that is to say, as far as it can be intellectually conveyed to them by prayer and the tremendous hierurgy. And since we, who are endued with a body, must of necessity receive sanctification by sensible things, it is given us by the Antidoron. This is the sanctified bread, over which, on the table of prothesis, prayers have been poured forth, and the uppermost part has been cut out and has been consecrated. This, after being signed with the spear, ⁽²¹⁾ and hallowed by the divine words said over it, is distributed instead of the tremendous

⁽²¹⁾ For an explanation of the spear, by the means of which the Lamb is cut out and stabbed, see the office of prothesis, at the end of the book. The oblation serves two uses: the seal or Lamb stamped with IC XC NIKA serves for the Sacrament; the remaining part, as here, for the antidoron.

Gifts to those who have not communicated. Which, when the Pontiff has done, and has prayed over the people, he puts an end the Liturgy. . . .⁽¹⁾

⁽²⁾ The rest of the treatise is taken up by the author's apology and by a few remarks on the Prothesis, which will better be given under that rite.

Lord, have mercy.

Priest (secretly). We yield Thee thanks, we yield Thee exceeding thanks, O Lord our God, FATHER of our Lord and God and Saviour Jesus CHRIST, for all things, and through all things, and in all things: for that Thou hast sheltered, assisted, defended, and brought us through the past time of our life, and hast guided us to this hour, vouchsafing again to set before Thee, in Thy holy place, us who ask pardon of our sins, and propitiation for all Thy people. And we pray and beseech Thee, O Lover of men, O good God, give us to accomplish ⁽¹⁾ this holy day ⁽²⁾ and all the time of our life sinlessly, with all joy, health, safety, and with all sanctification and Thy fear. But all envy, all fear, all temptation, every Satanic operation, every plot of wicked men, repel from us, O God, and from Thy holy Catholic and Apostolic Church. That which is good and profitable, do Thou supply to us: if we have at all sinned against Thee in word or deed, or by thought, do Thou, as good and the Lover of men, vouchsafe to overlook it, and forsake not us, O God, who put our trust in Thee, nor lead us into temptation, but deliver us from the evil one, and from his works, through the grace and pity and benignity of Thine Only-Begotten Son: (aloud) through Whom and with Whom, be to Thee the glory and the might, in Thine all-holy and good and life-giving SPIRIT, now and ever, and to ages of ages.

⁽¹⁾ I know not but that the word ἐπιτέλεισαι may here partly retain its religious signification, "to offer as a sacrifice:" thus Elian in his Various History: Καὶ καθ' ἕκαστον ἔτος ἐπιτέλειον αὐτῶν. (Lib. 12, cap. 61.)

People. Amen.

Priest. Peace be with all.

People. And with thy spirit.

Deacon. Pray for the king.

People. LORD, have mercy. LORD, have mercy, LORD, have mercy.

Priest (secretly). Master, LORD, and GOD, FATHER of our LORD and GOD and SAVIOUR JESUS CHRIST, we beseech and supplicate Thee that Thou wouldest perpetually keep our king in peace and fortitude and righteousness. Subject to him, O God, every enemy and adversary: lay hand upon the shield and buckler, and stand up to help him. Grant to him, O God, victories, and that he may be peaceably disposed towards us, and towards Thy holy Name. (2) That we also in the tranquillity of his days, may lead a quiet and peaceable life in all godliness and honesty, (3) through the grace and mercies and benignity of Thine Only-Begotten Son: (aloud) through Whom and with Whom, be to Thee the glory and the might, in Thine all-holy and good and life-giving SPIRIT, now and ever, and to ages of ages.

(2) This is a clear proof that this prayer was composed before the beginning of the great Tenth Persecution; during which it would have been differently worded, and after which, it would have been inappropriate. In fact there is no doubt that these three prayers are of the most remote antiquity; and this particular clause, with its singularly crabbed construction, may, not improbably, contain the original words of the Apostle.

People. Amen.

Priest. Peace be with all.

People. And with thy spirit.

Deacon. Pray for the Pope and the Bishop. (4)

People. LORD, have mercy. LORD, have mercy.

Lord, have mercy.

Priest. Master, LORD, and GOD, the ALMIGHTY, (5) the FATHER of our LORD and GOD and SAVIOUR JESUS CHRIST, we beseech and supplicate Thee, O Lover of men, O good God, preserving our most holy and blessed Pontiff, the Pope N., and the most sacred Bishop N., preserve them to us peacefully many years, executing the holy Arch-priesthood intrusted by Thee to them according to Thy holy and blessed word, rightly dividing the word of truth, with all orthodox Bishops, Priests, Deacons, Sub-deacons, Readers, Singers, and laymen, with the whole fullness of Thy holy and only Catholic Church, granting to them peace and health and salvation. And their prayers which they make for us, and we for them,

(3) Notice the coincidence of these expressions, with those in the First Epistle to Timothy; and remember that it is quite as likely that the Apostle was quoting from the Liturgy, as the Liturgy from the Apostle.

(4) By the Pope is of course meant the Patriarch of Alexandria, Pope being his specific title, as Patriarch was that of the Metropolitan of Antioch, and Archbishop that of him of Constantinople. Probably the original bidding prayer was simply.—Pray for the Bishop.

(5) I take the epithet by itself, as more in accordance with the structure of the commencement of the second prayer.

receive, O LORD, unto Thy holy and heavenly and reasonable altar. And every enemy of Thy holy Church subdue speedily under their feet, through the grace and mercies and benignity of Thine Only-Begotten Son: (loud) through Whom and with Whom, be to Thee the glory and the might, in Thine all-holy and good and life-giving SPIRIT, now and ever, and to ages of ages.

People. Amen.

Priest. Peace be with all.

People. And with thy spirit.

Deacon. Stand for prayer.

People. LORD, have mercy. LORD, have mercy. LORD, have mercy.

The Priest subjoins the Prayer of the Entrance (?) and for the Incense:

Master, LORD, and our God, Thou Who didst elect the twelve-lighted lamp of the twelve Apostles, and didst send them into the whole world, to preach and to teach the Gospel of Thy kingdom, and to heal every sickness and every infirmity in the people; and didst breathe into their faces, and didst say to them, Receive the HOLY GHOST, the Comforter: whose sins ye remit, they are remitted unto them; whose sins ye retain, they are retained; thus do Thou also upon us Thy servants that stand around in the Entrance of our holy ministry * * * * with the Bishops, Priests, Deacons, Readers, Singers, and laity, together with all the fulness of Thy holy Catholic and Apostolic Church. Preserve us, O

(?) That is to say the Little Entrance, or the bringing in of the Gospel—a ceremony of considerable pomp. Preceded by tapers and incense, the Priest and Deacon carry the Holy Gospels from the Prothesis, and so through the Holy Doors to the Altar.

LORD, from curse, and ban, and from anathema, and binding, and excommunication, and from the part of the adversary, and purify our lips and our heart from all pollution and from all iniquity; that with a pure heart, and pure conscience, we may offer to Thee this sacrifice for a sweet-smelling savour, and for the remission of our sins, and of the sins of Thy people: through the grace and mercies and benignity of Thine Only-Begotten Son: (loud) through Whom and with Whom, be to Thee the glory and the might, with Thine all-holy and good and life-giving SPIRIT, now and ever, and to ages of ages.

Priest. Amen.

Deacon. Stand up. (*)

And they sing the Only-Begotten Son.

Priest. Only-Begotten Son and Word of GOD, immortal, Who didst vouchsafe for our salvation to take flesh of the holy Mother of GOD, and Ever-Virgin Mary, and didst without mutation become man, and wast crucified, CHRIST, our God, and by death didst overcome death, being one of the Holy Trinity, and glorified together with the FATHER and the HOLY GHOST, save us. (?)

And the Entrance of the Gospel takes place.

Deacon. For prayer.

Priest. Peace be with all.

People. And with thy spirit.

Deacon. For prayer.

(*) This word, ἐπιθόσ, has, like other short speeches of the Deacon, been retained untranslated in other Liturgies: thus the Armenian gives it orti.

(?) This anthem, which is in the original simply referred to, is clearly of later date than the Council of Ephesus, and is one of the four employed in the Oriental Liturgies.

People. Lord, have mercy.

The Priest saith the Prayer of the Trisagion. ⁽¹⁰⁾

Master, and LORD JESUS CHRIST, co-eternal WORD of the self-existent FATHER, Who didst become like us in all respects, sin excepted, for the salvation of our race: Who didst send forth Thy holy disciples and Apostles to preach and teach the Gospel of Thy kingdom, and to cure all sickness and all infirmity among Thy people, do Thou Thyself, O LORD, send out thy light and Thy truth, and enlighten the eyes of our understanding to the comprehension of Thy Divine oracles; and enable us to be hearers of them, and not hearers only, but also doers of the word, that we may bring forth fruit and produce good fruits, thirty-fold, and an hundred-fold, that we may be counted worthy of the kingdom of heaven. (Aloud.) And let Thy mercies speedily prevent us, O LORD, for Thou art the good tidings, Saviour, and guardian, of our souls and of our bodies, LORD our God; and to Thee we send up glory and giving of thanks and the hymn of the Trisagion, FATHER, SON, and HOLY GHOST, now and ever, and to ages of ages.

People. Amen. Holy God, Holy and Mighty, Holy and Immortal, have mercy upon us.

And after the Trisagion, the Priest signs ⁽¹¹⁾ the people, saying, Peace be with all.

⁽¹⁰⁾ This prayer is said in a low voice, while the people are singing the Trisagion, as presently. This little anthem is usually ascribed to a miraculous origin, in the time of S. Proclus (434—437), but it is probably far older, and if not Apostolic, is at least Isapostolic. The troubles excited by the addition made by Peter the Fuller, "Thou That wast crucified for us," are well known.

⁽¹¹⁾ That is, makes the sign of the Cross towards or on them.

People. And with thy spirit.

And the Attend; ⁽¹²⁾ the Apostle; the Prologue of the Alleluia. The Deacons, according as they are enjoined, say—

Sir, give the blessing. ⁽¹³⁾

Priest. The LORD bless and minister with you by His grace, now and ever, and to ages of ages.

The Priest before the Gospel offers incense and saith thus:

We offer incense before Thy glory, O God: do Thou receive it ⁽¹⁴⁾ to Thy holy and super-celestial and intellectual altar. Do Thou, in its stead, send down the grace of Thy HOLY SPIRIT, for Thou art blessed, and do Thou send forth Thy glory.

When the Deacon is about to read the Gospel, the Priest saith:

The LORD bless and strengthen, and make us to be hearers of His holy Gospel.—Who is God That is blessed, now and ever, and to ages of ages. Amen.

Deacon. Stand: let us hear the holy Gospel.

Priest. Peace be with all.

People. And with thy spirit.

⁽¹²⁾ This Rubric requires explanation. Attend, is a not unfrequent exclamation of the Deacon in the Oriental rites. The πρόσχαιμα of the Greek is literally retained in the Armenian, Proschaima. The Apostle is the more usual title in the Oriental, as it was in the Gallican, Liturgy, for the Epistle. The Prologue of the Alleluia seems to have been some prayer recited by the Priest, while the Alleluia was recited by the people.

⁽¹³⁾ This might also be translated, Lord, bless: but, by the analogy of the Western Church, I prefer the version which I have given.

⁽¹⁴⁾ The reading seems rather corrupt, but its sense is manifest.

The Deacon saith the Gospel. The Priest subjoins the Collect: (15)

Visit, O Lord, in thy pity and mercies, those of Thy people that are sick: those of our brethren that have departed, or are about to depart, give to each a prosperous journey in his place, and seasonably. Send down rains on the places that want and stand in need of them. Raise the waters of the river to their measure, through Thy grace. (16) Increase the fruits of the earth, to seed-time and to harvest; guard the kingdom of Thy servant, whom thou hast appointed to rule over the land, in peace and courage and righteousness and tranquillity. This humble and poor and Christ-loving city, preserve it, O God, from evil days, from famine, plague, and incursion of the heathen, as Thou didst spare the city of Nineveh: because Thou art full of mercy and pity, and keepest not in remembrance the iniquities of man. Thou, by Thy prophet Isaiah, hast said, I will protect this city, and save it for My sake, and for My servant David's sake. Wherefore we beseech Thee, and supplicate Thee, O Lover of men, O good God, guard this city for the sake of Thy Martyr and Evangelist, Mark, who showed to us the way of salvation, through the grace and mercies and benignity of Thine Only-Begotten Son: (aloud) through Whom and with Whom, be to Thee the glory and the might, in Thine all-holy and good

(15) Synapte, literally Collect; but in no way responding to the prayer so called in the Western Church, to which, indeed, the East offers no parallel. This answers much more nearly to the Ectene, or Missal Litany—perfect examples of which will be found in the Liturgies of S. James and S. Chrysostom.

(16) The rise of the Nile being a point of such vital importance to the Egyptian harvest, is a subject put prominently forward in all the Coptic Liturgies.

and life-giving SPIRIT, now and ever, and to ages of ages. (17)

Deacon. Begin.

And they say the Stichos. The Deacon saith the Three. (18)

Priest. Master and Lord, God the Almighty, the FATHER of our Lord Jesus Christ, we pray and beseech Thee, assign the peace which is from heaven to the hearts of all of us, and also bestow on us the peace of this world. Our most holy and blessed Pope N., and our most sacred Bishop N., guard to us for many years, peacefully accomplishing the holy Arch-priesthood, intrusted by Thee to them, according to Thy holy and blessed will, rightly dividing the word of truth: with all orthodox Bishops, Priests, Deacons, and Sub-deacons, Readers, Singers, with all the fulness of Thy holy Catholic and Apostolic Church. Bless, O Lord, our assemblies; grant them to be without let and without hindrance, according to Thy holy will. Grant them to be houses of prayer, houses of blessing, to us and to Thy servants after us for ever. Arise, O Lord, and let Thine enemies be scattered; let them also that hate Thee flee before Thee. And bless Thy faithful and orthodox people; increase them to myriads of myriads, and let not the death of sin prevail

(17) It is almost unnecessary to remark that the reference to the Evangelist is of far later date than the original Liturgy: and the whole prayer, as perhaps the next also, seems to me made up from the Great Intercession for quick and dead, to which we shall presently come.

(18) The Stichos, or Versicle, was no doubt some varying anthem for different festivals. What is intended by the Three, is not agreed. Some take it to mean three collects to be recited in this place: others, a verse beginning, "The Three Persons and One Essence," or something of a similar kind against us, nor against all Thy people, through the grace and mercies and benignity of Thine Only-Begotten Son: (aloud) through Whom and with Whom, be to Thee the glory and the might, in Thine all-holy and good and life-giving SPIRIT, now and ever, and to ages of ages.

People. Amen.

Priest. Peace be with all.

People. And with thy spirit.

Deacon. Look lest any of the Catechumens...⁽¹⁹⁾

Here they sing the Cherubic Hymn.

Let us, who mystically represent the Cherubim, and sing the holy hymn to the quickening Trinity, lay by at this time all worldly cares, that we may receive the King of Glory, invisibly attended by the angelic orders. Alleluia. Alleluia. Alleluia.⁽²⁰⁾

The Priest offers Incense for the Entrance, and prays.⁽²¹⁾

Priest. LORD our God, Who hast no need of any

⁽¹⁹⁾ Here followed the expulsion of the Catechumens and penitents, preceded probably in this, as in the Constantinopolitan ritual, by the Priest unfolding the Corporal. We shall find a fuller form for this expulsion in other Liturgies.

⁽²⁰⁾ This, one of the four Liturgical hymns, is not earlier than the time of Justinian; and accordingly does not occur in any of the heretical Liturgies except the Armenian. It is found in all the great rites, except the Clementine.

⁽²¹⁾ This is the Great Entrance; the carrying the Elements from the Prothesis to the altar. It is the most imposing ceremony in the Eastern Church. The anticipative worship paid to these Elements by the congregation, who fall down in the very path of the Priest, is defended with difficulty by Greek ritualists; but at all events proves thus much, with how true and real a worship they must adore those Elements after Consecration, which before it were counted worthy, as they themselves seem to say, of anticipative latria.

gift, accept this incense offered by an unworthy hand, and count us all worthy of the blessing which is from Thee; for Thou art our sanctification, and to Thee we ascribe glory.

And the Holy Things enter to the Altar, and the Priest prayeth thus.

Holy, Most High, terrible, Thou Who restest in the holies, O LORD, Thyself sanctify us, and count us worthy of Thy fearful Priesthood, and cause us to approach to Thy venerable altar with all good conscience: and purify our hearts from every pollution: chase away from us every evil sensation: hallow our mind and our soul, and grant us to accomplish the worship of our holy fathers with Thy fear, propitiating Thy Face at all times; for Thou art He that blessest and sanctifiest all things, and to Thee we ascribe the glory and the giving of thanks.

Deacon. Kiss one the other.

The Priest saith the prayer of the Kiss.

Master, and LORD Almighty, look down from heaven upon Thy Church, and upon all Thy people, and all Thy flocks, and save all of us Thine unworthy servants, the creatures of Thy fold; and grant to us Thy peace, and Thy love, and Thy help, and send down upon us the gifts of Thy most HOLY SPIRIT, that, in a pure heart, and with a good conscience, we may salute one another with an holy kiss, not in hypocrisy, not taking part with the Alien,⁽²²⁾ but blameless and unspotted, in one spirit, in the bond of peace and of love, one body and one spirit, in one faith, as we have also been called in one hope of our calling, that we may all of us arrive at the Divine and boundless affection, in CHRIST JESUS OUR LORD, with Whom Thou art blessed.

⁽²²⁾ There is something here corrupt.

Then the Priest offers Incense, saying:

Incense is offered to Thy Name. Let it ascend, we pray Thee, out of the poor hands of us sinners, to thy super-celestial altar, for a sweet-smelling savour for the propitiation of all Thy people. For to Thee is due all glory, honour, worship, and giving of thanks, the FATHER, the SON, and the HOLY GHOST, now and ever, and to ages of ages.

And after the Kiss of Peace, the Deacon, aloud:

Stand to make your offerings according to your order. ⁽²⁰⁾

The Priest signing with the Cross the patens and the chalices, saith with a loud voice—

I believe in one GOD the FATHER Almighty, Maker of heaven and earth, and of all things visible and invisible: and in one LORD JESUS CHRIST, the Only-Begotten SON of GOD, begotten of His FATHER before all words, Light of Light, very GOD of very GOD, begotten, not made, being of one substance with the FATHER; by Whom all things were made: Who for us men, and for our salvation, came down from heaven, + and was Incarnate by the HOLY GHOST of the Virgin Mary, and was made man, and was crucified + also for us under Pontius Pilate. He suffered and was buried, and the third day He rose again according to the Scriptures, and ascended into heaven, and sitteth on the right hand of the ⁽²⁰⁾ This I take to be the meaning of κατὰ τὸν ὄρον. Renaudot translates it modestly.

FATHER. And He shall come again with glory to judge both the quick and the dead: Whose kingdom shall have no end. And I believe in the + HOLY GHOST, the Lord and Giver of Life. Who proceedeth from the FATHER. Who with the FATHER and the SON together is worshipped and glorified, Who spake by the Prophets. And I believe one Catholic and Apostolic Church. I acknowledge one Baptism for the remission of sins: and I look for the Resurrection of the dead, and the life of the world to come. Amen.

Deacon. Stand for prayer.

Priest. Peace be with all.

Deacon. Pray for them that offer.

The Priest saith the prayer of the Offertory.

Our Master, JESUS CHRIST, LORD, co-eternal WORD of the self-existent FATHER and of the HOLY GHOST, Thou that art the Great High Priest, the Bread that comest down from heaven, and bringest up our life from corruption, That didst give Thyself, a spotless Lamb, for the life of the world, we pray and beseech Thee, O LORD, Lover of men, cause Thy face to shine upon this bread and upon these chalices, which the most holy table receives, through the ministry of angels, and the surrounding choir of archangels, and the priestly hierarchy, to Thy glory and the renovation of our souls; through the grace and mercies and love to men of Thine Only-Begotten SON, through Whom and with Whom, be to Thee the glory and the might. ⁽²¹⁾

⁽²¹⁾ Observe the corruption which affixes such an ending to a prayer addressed to the SON; unless by a most violent construction we leave the former part of the prayer without any apodosis, and conceive the clause that begins, "We pray and beseech Thee," to be addressed to the FATHER.

At the end of the Creed, the Priest signs the people with the Cross, saying aloud—

The LORD be with all.

People. And with thy spirit.

Priest. Lift we up our hearts.

People. We lift them up unto the LORD.

Priest. Let us give thanks to the LORD.

Priest. It is meet and right.

The Priest begins the Oblation.

It is verily meet and right, holy and becoming, and advantageous to our souls, I ASK, LORD GOD, FATHER Almighty, to worship Thee, to hymn Thee, to give thanks to Thee, to return Thee praise, both night and day, with unceasing mouth, and lips that keep not silence, and heart that cannot be still: Thee Who madest the heaven and the things that are in heaven, the earth and the things that are in the earth, the sea, the fountains, the rivers, the lakes, and all things that are in them: Thee Who didst make man after Thine own image and likeness, and also gavest him the delights that were in paradise, and didst not overlook him when he fell, nor desert him, O good God, but didst call him back by the Law, didst educate him by the Prophets, didst reform him, and renew him by this tremendous and life-giving and heavenly mystery. All which things Thou hast done by Thy Wisdom, the true Light, Thine Only-begotten Son, our LORD and GOD and SAVIOUR JESUS CHRIST, by Whom, rendering thanks to Thee with Himself and the HOLY GHOST, we offer to Thee this reasonable and unbloody sacrifice, which all nations offer to Thee, O LORD, from the rising of the sun unto the going down of the same; from the north and the south; for Thy name is great among the Gentiles, and in every place incense is offered to Thy name, and a pure offering.

And we pray and beseech Thee, O Lover of men. O good God:

Remember, O LORD, the holy and only Catholic and Apostolic Church, which is from one end of earth to the other end of it, all peoples and all Thy flocks. Vouchsafe to all our hearts the peace which is from heaven, and also bestow on us the peace of this life.

The king, the military orders, the princes, the councils, the boroughs, every neighbourhood, our comings in and our goings out, set in order in all peace.

O King of peace, give to us Thy peace in concord and love: possess us, O God; beside Thee we know none other: we are called by Thy Name: quicken all our souls, and the death of sin shall not have dominion over us, nor over all Thy people.

Them that are sick, O LORD, of thy people, visit in Thy pity and mercies, and heal.

Avert from them and from us all sickness and infirmity. Drive away from them the spirit of weakness: raise up again them that are lying in long sickness; heal them that are vexed of unclean spirits, them that are in prisons, or in mines, or in courts of justice, or with sentence given against them, or in bitter slavery, or tribute, have mercy on all, free all: for Thou art our GOD, He that sets free the bound, He that raises those that are in misery, the hope of the hopeless, the succour of the defenceless, the resurrection of the fallen, the harbour of the tempest-tost, the avenger of the afflicted. To every Christian soul that is in trouble, and that is a petitioner to Thee, give mercy, give remission, give refreshment. Furthermore, O LORD.

heal the diseases of our souls, cure our bodily weaknesses, O Physician of souls and bodies; oversee of all flesh, oversee and heal us by Thy salvation.

To our brethren that have departed from us, or are about to depart, in whatever place, give a fair journey, whether by land or rivers, or lakes, or highways, or in whatever way they may be travelling, restore them all everywhere to a tranquil harbour, to a safe harbour: vouchsafe to be their fellow-voyager and fellow-traveller. Give them back to their friends, rejoicing to the rejoicing, healthful to the healthful.

And preserve, O Lord, to the end, our sojourning also in this life, without harm, and without storm.

Send down richly good showers on the places that need them and desire them; rejoice and renew by their descent the face of the earth, that in their drops it may be made glad, and may spring up. Raise up the waters of the river to their full measure; rejoice and renew by their ascent the face of the earth: water her furrows, multiply her increase. Bless, O Lord, the fruits of the earth. Preserve them continually whole and unhurt; preserve them to us for seed and for harvest. Bless also now, O Lord, the crown of the year of Thy goodness, for the poor of Thy people, for the widow, and for the orphan, for the proselyte,⁽²⁵⁾ for all of us who hope in Thee, and who are called by Thy holy Name: for the eyes of all wait upon Thee, and Thou givest them their meat in due season. Thou That givest meat to all flesh, fill our Deacon. Sir, pray for a blessing.

Priest. The Lord shall bless thee with His grace, now and ever, and to ages of ages.

The Deacon reads the Diptychs of the departed. (7)
The Priest bows down and prays:

And to the spirits of all these give rest, our Master, Lord and God, in the Tabernacles of Thy Saints, vouchsafing to them in Thy kingdom the good things of Thy promise, (8) which eye hath not seen, and ear hath not heard, and it hath not entered into the heart of man, the things which Thou hast prepared, O God, for them that love Thy holy Name. Grant rest to their souls, and vouchsafe to them the kingdom of heaven; and to us grant that the end of our lives may be Christian and well-pleasing to Thee, and without sin, and grant to us to have a

(7) That is to say, the names of the former Prelates of the See, and of celebrated benefactors to the Church. The name is derived from their being inscribed on a board with two leaves, like a modern book: just as Triptych is a board with three leaves, two of which overlap and cover the third. The insertion of a name in the Diptychs, or its erasure from them, was equivalent to a declaration that its possessor died in, or out of, the Communion of the Church; and hence fierce contests in the earlier ages, especially between Rome and Constantinople, on this subject. The only rite which at present retains the lesson of the Diptychs as a part of the Liturgy, is the Mozarabic.

(8) Observe here, (1) one of the many examples of prayers for the dead as an Apostolic practice; (2) that, nevertheless, every single expression contained in them militates against the doctrine of a purgatory,—i.e. in the sense of a place of pain. As this is a subject of such great importance, I have thrown together in an Appendix the prayers for the departed contained in the principal Liturgies not here translated; the exceeding beauty of the language will render them acceptable to those who have no need of a proof of the doctrine.

portion and a lot with all Thy saints. The thank-offerings of them that offer sacrifices and oblations receive, O God, to Thy holy and super-celestial and spiritual altar, to the height of the heavens, by Thy arch-angelic ministry; of them that offered much or little, secretly and with open boldness, of them that desired and had not wherewithal to offer; and of them that have brought this day their oblations: as Thou didst receive the gifts of Thy righteous servant Abel; [and the Priest offers incense and saith,] the sacrifice of our father Abraham, the incense of Zacharias, the alms of Cornelius, and the two mites of the widow, receive also their thank-offerings, and give to them instead of things earthly, things heavenly; instead of things temporal, things eternal. The most holy and blessed Pope N., whom Thou didst foreknow and * * * to take in hand the government of Thy holy Catholic and Apostolic Church, and our most sacred Bishop N., guard them by Thy care, for many years, in peaceful time, accomplishing Thy holy Archpriesthood intrusted to them by Thee, according to Thy holy and blessed will, rightly dividing the word of truth. And remember also all orthodox Bishops everywhere, Presbyters, Deacons, Sub-deacons, Readers, Singers, Monks, ever-virgins, widows, laymen. Remember, O Lord, the holy city (9) of CHRIST our God, and

(9) Notice the extreme antiquity of this collocation, which places Jerusalem first. I am inclined to think that the "reigning city" is not Constantinople, but Rome: since it is hardly likely that, were this clause posterior to the time of Constantine, three of the Patriarchal thrones should be mentioned without that which was by universal consent, the first. Anyhow it is remarkable, that Rome is either omitted altogether, or is preceded by Jerusalem; and that, too, in the Liturgy of Alexandria, the Church which, of all in the East clung most closely to the Latin See.

the reigning city, and this our city, every city and region, and those that dwell in it in the orthodox faith of CHRIST, their peace and safety. Remember, O LORD, every Christian soul in affliction and trouble, that needs the mercy and succour of God, and the conversion of them that have wandered. Remember, O LORD, our brethren that are in bonds; grant them to find mercy and pity in the sight of all those that have carried them captive. Remember, O LORD, also us, as sinners and Thy unworthy servants, and blot out our sins as the GOOD GOD, and LOVER of men. Remember, O LORD, also me, Thy humble and sinful and unworthy servant, and blot out my sins, as the GOD that is the LOVER of men. Be present with us who are ministering to Thy all-holy Name. Bless, O LORD, our congregations. Root out idolatry wholly from the world: bruise Satan and all his power and wickedness beneath our feet. The enemies of Thy Church, O LORD, as at all times, so now also humble. Lay bare their pride, speedily make manifest their weakness: bring to nought their plots and their villany which they employ against us. Arise, O LORD, and let Thine enemies be scattered, and let all them that hate Thy holy Name flee backward. (*) (Bless) Thy faithful and orthodox people, them that do Thy holy will, with a thousand thousand and ten thousand times ten thousand blessings.

Deacon. Ye that are sitting, stand up.

Priest. Free them that are bound, bring forth them that are in necessities. Satisfy the hungry, comfort the pusillanimous, convert them that have strayed, enlighten them that are in darkness, raise the fallen, establish those that are wavering, heal the sick: direct all, O good God, into the way of salvation, and unite them to Thy holy flock: and preserve us from our iniquities, being in all things our guard, and our defender.

Deacon. To the East.

The Priest bows down and prays.

Thou art above all power and dominion, and might, and principality, and every name that is named not only in this world but also in that which is to come. Round Thee stand thousand thousands, and ten thousand times ten thousand armies of holy angels and cherubims. Round Thee Thy two most honourable creatures, the Cherubim, with many eyes, and the Seraphim with six wings, with twain whereof they cover their face, with twain their face, and with twain they do fly: and cry one to the other with incessant voices and perpetual praise, singing, vociferating, glorifying, crying, and saying to the Majesty of Thy glory, the triumphal Trisagion: Holy, Holy, Holy, Lord of Sabaoth: heaven and earth are full of Thy holy glory. (Aloud.) Thou ever sanctifiest all: but with all that glorify Thee, receive, O LORD, our praise also, who with them laud Thee and say,

People. Holy, Holy, Holy, Lord.

The Priest signs the Holy Mysteries with the Cross, saying,

Verily earth and heaven are full of Thy holy glory, through the manifestation of our LORD and GOD and SAVIOR JESUS CHRIST: fulfil also, O GOD, this sacrifice with Thy heavenly blessing, by the coming down on it of Thy most HOLY GHOST. For the LORD Himself and our GOD and universal King, JESUS CHRIST, in the night wherein He surrendered Himself for our sins, and . . . [underwent] death in the flesh for all, sitting down at supper with His holy Disciples and Apostles, took bread ^(*) in His holy and pure and spotless hands, looked up to Thee His own Father, our God and the God of all, and gave thanks, and blessed, and hallowed, and brake, and distributed to His holy and blessed Disciples and Apostles, saying, (aloud) Take, eat.

Deacon. Pray earnestly.

Priest. For this is My Body which is broken for you, and distributed for the remission of sins.

Choir. Amen.

Priest. Likewise also the cup after supper, having taken, and mingled with wine and water, and looking up to heaven to Thee His own Father, our God, and the God of all, He gave thanks, He blessed, He filled with the HOLY GHOST, He distributed it to His holy and blessed Apostles and Disciples, saying, (aloud) Drink ye all of this.

Deacon. Yet pray earnestly.

Priest. This is My Blood of the New Testament, which is shed and distributed for you and for many for the remission of sins.

People. Amen.

Priest. Do this in remembrance of Me. For as often as ye eat this bread and drink this cup, ye

(*) The points dwelt on in the Oriental Liturgies with respect to the institution of the Blessed Eucharist are principally these. Of the Bread; that our Lord (1) looked up to Heaven: (2) took leavened bread: (3) blessed: (4) brake: (5) Himself received: (6) distributed to His Apostles. Of the Chalice: (1) that He mingled it with wine and water: (2) looked up to heaven: (3) blessed: (4) Himself received: (5) distributed to His Apostles. In Appendix II., I give the words of institution from all known Liturgies.

shew forth My death, and confess My Resurrection and Ascension till I come.

O Almighty Lord and Master, King of heaven, we, announcing the death of Thine Only-begotten Son, our Lord and God and Saviour JESUS CHRIST, and confessing His blessed Resurrection from the dead on the third day, confess also His Ascension into heaven, and His session on Thy right hand, His God and FATHER, looking also for His second and fearful and dreadful coming, when He shall come to judge the quick and the dead in righteousness, and to render to every man according to his works:

O Lord our God, we have set before Thee Thine own of Thine own gifts.

And we pray and beseech Thee, (?) O good God

(?) We now come to the Invocation of the HOLY GHOST, by which, according to the doctrine of the Eastern Church, and not by the words of institution, the bread and wine are "changed," "transmuted," "transclemented," "transubstantiated," into our Lord's Body and Blood. This has always been a point of contention between the two Churches—the time at which the change takes place. Originally, there is no doubt that the Invocation of the HOLY GHOST formed a part of all Liturgies. The Petrine has entirely lost it: the Ephesine (Gallican and Mozarabic) more or less retains it: as do also those mixtures of the Ephesine and Petrine,—the Ambrosian and Patriarchine or Aquileian. To use the words of the authorized Russian catechism: "Why is this (the Invocation) so essential? Because, at the moment of this act, the bread and wine are changed or transubstantiated into the very Body of CHRIST, and into the very Blood of CHRIST. How are we to understand the word Transubstantiation? In the exposition of the faith by the Eastern Patriarchs, it is said that the word is not to be taken to define the manner in which the bread and wine are changed into the Body and Blood of our Lord; for this none can understand but God; but only this much is signified, that the bread, truly, really, and substantially becomes the very true Body of the Lord, and the wine the very Blood of the Lord."

and Lover of men, to send down from Thy holy height, and appointed habitation, and incircumscript bosom, the very PARACLETE, the SPIRIT of truth, the Holy, the Lord, the Life-giving: Who spake in the Law and by the Prophets and the Apostles; Who is everywhere present, and filleth all things, and works of His own free will, and not as a minister, according to Thy good pleasure, in those in whom He wills, sanctification. One in His nature, manifold in His energies, fountain of Divine graces; consubstantial with Thee, proceeding from Thee, fellow-sharer in the Throne of Thy kingdom, and of Thine Only-Begotten Son, our Lord and God and SAVIOUR, JESUS CHRIST. Send down then on us, and on these loaves; and on these cups, Thy HOLY GHOST, that He may sanctify and perfect them, as God Almighty. (Aloud.) And make this bread the Body.

People. Amen.

Priest. And this cup the Blood of the New Testament, of our very Lord and God and SAVIOUR and universal King, JESUS CHRIST.

Deacon. Come down, ye Deacons.

Priest. That they may be to all of us who participate in them for faith, for sobriety, for healing, for temperance, for sanctification, for renovation of soul, body, and spirit, for participation of the blessedness of eternal life and immortality, for the glory of Thy holy Name, for the remission of sins, that Thy most holy and precious and glorious Name may here, as also in every place, be hallowed, and hymned and sanctified with JESUS CHRIST and the HOLY GHOST.

People. As it was and is.

Priest. Peace be with all.

Deacon. Pray.

Priest. God of light, Father of life, Author of grace, Framers of the worlds. Founder of knowledge, Giver of wisdom, Treasure of holiness, Teacher of pure prayers, Benefactor of the soul, Who givest to the weak-hearted who trust in Thee those things into which the angels desire to look. Who hast raised us from the abyss to light, hast given us life from death, hast granted us freedom from slavery, hast dissolved in us the darkness of sin by the coming of Thine Only-Begotten Son; now also, O LORD, illuminate the eyes of our understanding by the visitation of Thy HOLY SPIRIT, that we may without condemnation partake of this immortal and heavenly food; and sanctify us wholly, soul, body, and spirit, that with Thy holy Disciples and Apostles we may say to Thee this prayer, OUR FATHER, &c. And make us worthy, O LORD and Lover of men, with boldness, without condemnation, with a pure heart, with an enlightened soul, with a countenance that needeth not to be ashamed, with hallowed lips, to dare to call upon Thee our holy God and FATHER, Which art in heaven, and to say, Priest. Even so, LORD, LORD, lead us not into temptation, but deliver us from the evil one: for Thy great mercy knoweth that we are unable to bear up through our much infirmity; but make with the temptation also a way of escape, that we may be able to bear it; for Thou hast given us power to tread on serpents and scorpions, and on all the might of the enemy: (aloud) for Thine is the kingdom, and the power.

(S) The LORD'S PRAYER, as is well known, forms a part of every Liturgy, except the CLEMENTINE; and is always followed by the short supplication against temptation, technically known as the Embolismus.

People. Amen.

Priest. Peace be with all.

Deacon. Bow your heads to JESUS.

People. To Thee, O LORD.

Priest. (²⁰) This is the prayer of Intense Adoration, which has its place in all Oriental Liturgies, and answers to the worship paid by the Western Church to our LORD's sacramental Body and Blood at the Elevation of the Host. An attempt has been made to prove that the East does not agree with the West in paying the worship of latría to that Body and that Blood, from the long interval which separates the prayer of intense Adoration (in all Liturgies except the present one) from the invocation of the HOLY GHOST. Nothing can be more futile: the obvious tangible reason being, that during the consecration, the holy doors were closed, or, in the Armenian Church, the veil was drawn; so that the people could hardly be called on to worship that which was not presented to their eyes, as they can be and are in the Western Church, where it is so presented. But now the holy doors are opened; hence the reason of the position of this prayer.

Deacon. With the fear of God.

Priest. Holy, most high, tremendous LORD, Who retest in the holies: sanctify us, LORD, by the word of Thy grace and the visitation of Thy most HOLY SPIRIT. For Thou, LORD, hast said. Priest. HOLY THINGS FOR HOLY PERSONS. (²²)

One holy FATHER, one holy SON, one HOLY GHOST; in the unity of the HOLY GHOST. Amen.

Deacon. For salvation and succour, &c.

The Priest, signing the people with the sign of the Cross, saith,

The LORD be with all.

He breaks the bread, and saith,

O praise GOD. (Ps. 1.)

The Priest divides it among the assistants, and saith,

The LORD shall bless and minister unto you, through His great mercy,

(²¹) συνάπτει: unless, indeed, the true reading be συνάπτεισθε, together with Them without origin.

(²²) The famous exclamation which makes a part of all Eastern Liturgies, and is accompanied with the elevation of the Host. These words are no doubt of Apostolic origin and are quoted over and over again by the Eastern Fathers. It is the more wonderful that, to carry out a novel theory, an eminent scholar should lately have attempted to translate them: "The holy things are lifted up to the holy places."

Priest. Command.

The Clerks. The HOLY GHOST commands and sanctifies.

Priest. Behold, they are sanctified and consecrated.

The Clerks. One HOLY FATHER, &c. (thrice).

Priest. The LORD be with all.

The Clerks. And with thy spirit.

Priest. Himself hath blessed it.

Priest. We give Thee thanks, Master, LORD, and our GOD, for the reception of Thy holy, spotless, immortal, and heavenly mysteries, which Thou hast given us for the well-doing and sanctification and salvation of our souls and bodies; and we pray and beseech Thee, good LORD, and Lover of men, to grant that the participation of the holy Body and precious Blood of Thine Only-Begotten SON, may be to faith that shall not be ashamed, to love unfeigned, to the

Then the Priest turns to the people, and saith,

Mighty King and co-sharer of Thy Father's rule. Who didst by Thy might spoil hell, and trample on death, and didst raise Adam from the tomb, by Thy god-like might, and by the illuminative splendour of Thine ineffable Godhead, do Thou, O LORD, by the participation of Thy spotless Body and precious Blood, send forth Thine invisible right hand, that is full of blessings, and bless us all; pity and strengthen by Thy divine power, and destroy in us the vicious and sinful working of fleshly lust: enlighten the eyes of our souls from the darkness of sin that lies around them; unite us to the all-blessed company that is well-pleasing to Thee: for through Thee and with Thee, to the FATHER and the HOLY GHOST, every hymn is due, honour, might, adoration, and giving of thanks, now and ever, and to ages of ages.

Deacon. Depart in peace.

People. In the name of the LORD.

Priest. (aloud.) The love of GOD and the FATHER, the grace of the SON and our LORD JESUS CHRIST, the communion and gift of the HOLY GHOST, be with us all, now and ever, and to ages of ages.

People. Amen. Blessed be the Name of the LORD. ^(*)

S. James.

Priest. Master, Lord, and our God, reject me not utterly, though polluted with the multitude of my sins; for, behold, I have come to this Thy divine and heavenly mystery. Not as being worthy, but looking up to Thy goodness. I address my voice unto Thee. O God, be merciful to me a sinner: I have sinned against heaven and before Thee, and am not worthy to present myself before this Thy sacred and spiritual Table, whereon Thine Only-Begotten Son, and our Lord JESUS CHRIST, is mystically set forth as a sacrifice for me a sinner, and marked with every stain. Therefore I offer unto Thee this supplication and thanksgiving, in order to the sending down upon me Thy SPIRIT of consolation, to confirm and prepare me for this service; and do Thou make me worthy to declare, without condemnation, the word delivered by me to Thy people from Thee, through JESUS CHRIST our Lord; with Whom Thou art blessed, together with Thy most holy, and good, and quickening, and consubstantial SPIRIT, now and ever, and to ages of ages. Amen.

Prayer of Standing before the Altar.

Glory to the FATHER, and to the SON, and to the HOLY GHOST, the Trinal and only light of Godhead, existing, one Substance in Trinity, and undividedly: for the one ALMIGHTY GOD is the Trinity, Whose glory the heavens relate, and the earth His power, and the sea His might, and every sentient and intelligent creature heralds everywhere His greatness: for Him befits all glory, honour, might, greatness, and magnificence, now and ever, and to ages of ages. Amen.

Prayer of the Incense.

Master and Lord, JESUS CHRIST, O Word of God, Who didst voluntarily offer Thyself, a spotless sacrifice, upon the Cross to God and the FATHER, the coal of two natures, Who didst kindle with the tongue the prophet's lips, and didst take away his sins, kindle also the perceptions of us sinners, and purify us from every spot, and cause us to stand pure before Thy holy altar, that we may offer to Thee the sacrifice of praise: and receive from us, Thine unprofitable servants, for a sweet-smelling savour, and make sweet that which is unsavoury both in our souls and our bodies; and sanctify us with the sanctifying power of Thy most HOLY SPIRIT: for Thou only art holy, Who sanctifiest, and art distributed to, Thy faithful people; and glory befits Thee with Thy self-existent FATHER, and Thy most holy and good and quickening SPIRIT, now and ever, and to ages of ages. Amen.

Introductory Prayer.

O Beneficent King of Ages, and Maker of the whole Creation, accept Thy Church approaching Thee through Thy CHRIST; fulfil that which is profitable to each; bring all to perfection; and make us worthy of the grace of Thy sanctification; gathering us together in Thy holy Church, which Thou hast purchased by the precious Blood of Thine Only-Begotten Son, our Lord and Saviour JESUS CHRIST; with Whom Thou art blessed and glorified, together with the most holy and good and quickening SPIRIT, now and ever, and to ages of ages. Amen.

Deacon. Let us yet pray to the LORD.

Priest. O God, Who didst receive the gifts of Abel, the sacrifice of Noah and Abraham, the incense of Aaron and Zacharias, receive also out of the hand of us sinners this incense for a sweet-smelling savour, and for the remission of our sins, and of all Thy people; for Thou art blessed, and to Thee glory is due, FATHER, SON, and HOLY GHOST, now and ever.

Deacon. Sir, give the blessing.

Priest. JESUS CHRIST, our LORD and God, Who, through the exceeding greatness of Thy goodness, and Thy love not to be restrained, wast crucified, and didst not refuse to be pierced by the spear and the nails; Who didst provide this mysterious and fearful rite as an eternal remembrance to us continually; bless thy ministry in CHRIST our God, and bless our Entrance, and accomplish perfectly the ministration of this our Liturgy by His ineffable loving-kindness, now and ever, and to ages of ages.

Responsory prayer from the Deacon.

The LORD bless and vouchsafe to us to bring presents to Him seraphically, and to sing the widely-celebrated hymn of the divine Trisagion, by the measureless fulness of all the completeness of sanctification, now and ever. (1)

The Deacon sings in the Entrance.

Only-Begotten SON and WORD of God, immortal, Who didst vouchsafe for our salvation to take flesh of the holy mother of God, and ever-Virgin Mary, and didst without mutation become man, and wast crucified, CHRIST, our God, and by death didst overcome death, being one of the HOLY TRINITY, and glorified together with the FATHER and the HOLY GHOST, save us.

The Priest saith this prayer from the gates to the Altar.

O God, the Almighty and glorious LORD, Who hast given to us an Entrance to the Holy of Holies, by the sojourning on earth of Thine Only-Begotten SON, our LORD, and God, and Saviour, JESUS CHRIST, we beseech and supplicate Thy goodness, seeing that we are full of fear and trembling, when about to stand before Thy holy Altar, send down upon us, O LORD, Thy good grace, and sanctify our souls and bodies and spirits, and change our dispositions to piety, that we, with a pure conscience, may offer to Thee gifts, presents, fruits, to the putting away of our transgressions and for the propitiation of all Thy people, through the grace, and mercies, and love to man of Thine Only-Begotten SON, with Whom Thou art blessed to ages of ages. Amen.

And after entering to the Altar, the Priest saith—

Peace be with all.

People. And with thy spirit.

Priest. The LORD bless us all, and hallow us in the entrance and hierarchy of the divine and spotless Mysteries, giving peace also to the blessed souls of the holy and the just, through His grace and love to man, now and ever, and to ages of ages. Amen.

*Then the Deacon saith the Collect.—*In peace let us make our supplication to the LORD.

For the peace that is from above, and the loving-kindness of God, and the salvation of our souls, let us make our supplication to the LORD.

For the peace of the whole world, and the union of all the holy Churches of God, let us make our supplication to the Lord.

For the forgiveness of our sins, and the remission of our transgressions, and that we may be preserved from all affliction, wrath, danger, and necessity, and the insurrection of our enemies, let us make our supplication to the Lord.

Then the Singers sing the hymn of the Trisagion.

Holy God, Holy and Mighty, Holy and Immortal, have mercy upon us.

Priest (bowing down). Merciful and pitiful, long-suffering, and gracious, and very Lord, look upon us from Thy prepared habitation, and hear us Thy suppliants, and preserve us from all temptation whether of the devil or of man, and set not Thy help far from us, nor bring upon us chastisements heavier than we can bear: for we are not able to conquer the things which are adverse to us: but Thou art able, O Lord, to save us from all adversities. Save us, O God, from the difficulties of this world, according to Thy goodness; that we, entering with a pure conscience to Thy holy Altar, may without blame send up to Thee, together with the heavenly powers, the blessed hymn of the Trisagion; and, accomplishing the Liturgy, well-pleasing to Thee and divine, may be counted worthy of everlasting life.

Exclamation. For Thou art holy, O Lord, our God, and Thou dwellest and restest in the Holies, and to Thee we ascribe glory, and the hymn of the Trisagion, FATHER, SON, and HOLY GHOST, now and ever, and to ages of ages.

People. Amen.

Priest. Peace be with all.

People. And with thy spirit.

The Singers. Alleluia!

Then are read consecutively (2) the sacred oracles of the Old Testament and the Prophets; and the Incarnation of the Son of Man, His sufferings and Resurrection from the dead, His Ascension into heaven, and His Second Coming with glory, are set forth. And this is done every (3) day in the holy and Divine Service. And after the reading and teaching, the Deacon says,

Let us all say, Lord, have mercy.

Lord, Almighty, God of our Fathers, we beseech Thee to hear us.

For the peace that is from above, and the salvation of our souls, let us make our supplication to the Lord.

For the peace of the whole world, and the unity of the holy Churches of God, let us make our supplication to the Lord.

For the salvation and succour of all the Christ-loving people, we beseech Thee to hear us.

That we may be delivered from all affliction, wrath, danger, and necessity, bondage, bitter death, and our iniquities, we beseech Thee to hear us.

For the people that is standing round about, and expecting the rich and great mercy that is from Thee, we beseech Thee, be compassionate and have mercy.

(2) διεξοδικώτατα. So they usually interpret the word, though others will have it to mean at very great length. The Rubric is of the most venerable antiquity.

(3) καθ' ἑκάστην. It is most natural to understand ἡμέρας. This passage is another proof that the Primitive Liturgies were not confined to Sunday only.

Save, O Lord, Thy people, and bless Thine inheritance.

Visit Thy world in mercy and loving-kindnesses.

Raise the horn of Christians, by the might of the precious and quickening Cross.

We beseech Thee, O Lord of many mercies, hear us who supplicate Thee, and have mercy.

People (thrice.) Lord, have mercy.

Deacon. For the forgiveness of our sins, and the remission of our offences, and that we may be preserved from all affliction, wrath, danger, and necessity, let us make our supplication to the Lord.

Let us beseech from the Lord, that we may pass through this whole day in perfectness, holiness, peace, and sinlessness.

Let us beseech from the Lord, an Angel of peace, a faithful guide, guardian of our souls and bodies.

Let us beseech from the Lord, pardon and remission of our sins and transgressions.

Let us beseech from the Lord, such things as are good and convenient to our souls, and peace to the world.

Let us beseech from the Lord, that we may accomplish the remainder of our lives in peace and health.

Let us beseech that the ends of our life may be Christian, without pain, and without shame, and a good answer at the dreadful and fearful judgment-seat of Christ.

Priest. For Thou art the good tidings, and the illumination, the Saviour and the Guardian of our souls and bodies, God, and Thy Only-Begotten Son, and Thy all-holy Spirit, now and ever.

People. Amen.

Priest. Commemorating our all-holy, spotless, exceeding glorious Lady, the Mother of God, and ever-Virgin Mary, with all Saints, and just men, let us commend ourselves, and each other, and all our life to Christ, our God.

People. To Thee, O Lord.

Priest. O God, Who hast sounded into our ears Thy divine and salutary oracles, illuminate the souls of us sinners to the comprehension of that which has been before read, so that we may not only be seen to be hearers of spiritual things, but doers of good works, following after faith without guile, blameless life, conversation without charge of guilt.

Exclamation. In Christ Jesus our Lord, with Whom Thou art blessed, with Thy most holy and good and quickening Spirit, now and ever, and to ages of ages.

People. Amen.

Priest. Peace be with all.

People. And with thy spirit.

Deacon. Let us bow our heads to the Lord.

People. To Thee, O Lord.

Priest. Lord and Giver of Life, Supplier of good things, Thou That didst give to men the blessed hope of everlasting life, our Lord Jesus Christ, vouchsafe that we may in holiness accomplish this divine Liturgy to Thee, to the enjoyment of future blessedness.

Exclamation. To the end that we, ever guarded by Thy might, and conducted to the light of truth, may send up to Thee glory and thanksgiving, FATHER, SON, and HOLY GHOST, now and ever.

People. Amen.

Deacon. Let none of the Catechumens, let none of the uninitiated, let none of those who are not able to join with us in prayer;—look upon (*) one another. The doors! All upright! Let us pray yet to the Lord.

Prayer of the Incense.

Priest. Master, Almighty, King of Glory, Who knowest all things before their origin, be Thyself present with us who call upon Thee in this holy hour, and ransom us from the shame of our falls. Purify our mind and our thoughts from impure concupiscences and worldly deceit, and every diabolic influence; and receive from the hands of us sinners this Incense, as Thou didst receive to Thyself the offering of Abel and Noe, and Aaron and Samuel, and all Thy Saints; defending us from every evil thing, and preserving us to the being evermore well-pleasing to Thee, and worshipping Thee, the FATHER and Thine Only-Begotten SON, and Thy most Holy SPIRIT, now and ever, and to ages of ages.

And the Readers begin the Cherubic Hymn.

Let us, who mystically represent the Cherubim, and sing the thrice-holy hymn to the quickening TRINITY, lay by at this time all worldly cares, that we may receive the King of Glory, invisibly attended by the angelic orders. Alleluia. (†)

Priest. Let all mortal flesh keep silence, and stand with fear and trembling, and ponder nothing earthly in itself; for the King of Kings, and LORD of Lords, CHRIST our God, cometh forward to be sacrificed and to be given for food to the faithful; and He is preceded by the choirs of the Angels, with every Domination and Power, the many-eyed Cherubim, and the six-winged Seraphim, that cover their faces, and vociferate the hymn, Alleluia, Alleluia, Alleluia.

(*) So as to be sure that none, whom any worshipper knew to be a Catechumen or heretic, might conceal himself in the church.

The Priest brings in the Holy Gifts, and saith this prayer. (‡)

O God, our God, Who didst send forth the heavenly Bread, the nourishment of the whole world, our LORD JESUS CHRIST as our Saviour and Ransomer and benefactor, blessing and sanctifying us, Thyself bless this offering, and receive it to Thy super-celestial Altar. Remember, as good and the Lover of men, them that brought it, and them for whom they brought it; and continually guard us without condemnation, in the hierarchy of Thy divine mysteries. For hallowed and glorified is Thine all-honourable and majestic Name, of FATHER, and SON, and HOLY GHOST, now and ever, and to ages of ages.

Priest. Peace be with all.

Deacon. Sir, give the blessing.

Priest. Blessed be God, Who blesseth and halloweth us all at the offering of the divine and spotless mysteries, and giveth rest to the blessed souls with the Saints and the just, now and ever, and to ages of ages.

Deacon. Let us attend in wisdom.

The Priest begins—

I believe in one God the FATHER Almighty, Maker of heaven and earth, and of all things

(‡) The Great Entrance: for which see the parallel passage in the Liturgy of S. Mark.

visible and invisible: and in one LORD JESUS CHRIST, the Only-Begotten Son of God, begotten of His FATHER before all worlds. Light of Light, very God of very God, begotten, not made, being of one substance with the FATHER; by Whom all things were made: Who for us men, and for our salvation came down from heaven, and was Incarnate by the HOLY GHOST of the Virgin Mary, and was made man, and was crucified also for us under Pontius Pilate. He suffered and was buried, and the third day He rose again according to the Scriptures, and ascended into heaven, and sitteth on the right hand of the FATHER. And He shall come again with glory to judge both the quick and the dead: Whose kingdom shall have no end. And I believe in the HOLY GHOST, the Lord and Giver of Life, Who proceedeth from the FATHER: Who with the FATHER and the Son together is worshipped and glorified, Who spake by the Prophets. And I believe one Holy Catholic and Apostolic Church. I acknowledge one Baptism for the remission of sins. And I look for the Resurrection of the dead, and the life of the world to come. Amen.

Then he prayeth, bowing the neck.

God and Master of all things, make us, the unworthy, O Lover of men, worthy of this hour, that we, remaining pure from all guile and all hypocrisy, may be united together by the bond of peace and of love, being established by the sanctification of Thy divine knowledge, through Thine Only-Begotten Son, our LORD and SAVIOUR JESUS CHRIST: with Whom.

Deacon. Let us stand well: let us stand piously; let us stand with the fear of God, and compunction of heart. In the peace of the Lord, let us pray.

Priest. For the God of peace, mercy, love, bowels of compassion, and love to man, art Thou and Thine Only-Begotten Son, and Thine all-holy Spirit, now and ever.

People. Amen.

Priest. Peace be with all.

People. And with thy spirit.

Deacon. Let us kiss one another (?) with an holy kiss. Let us bow our heads to the Lord.

The Priest bowing down, saith this prayer.

Thou Who alone art Lord and merciful God, on them that bow down their necks before Thine holy Altar, and seek the spiritual gifts that are from Thee, send forth Thy good grace: and bless us all with every spiritual blessing, that cannot be taken away, Thou Who dwellest on high, and regardest things that are humble.

Exclamation. For laudable and adorable and exceeding glorious is Thy most holy Name, of FATHER, SON, and HOLY GHOST, now and ever, and to ages of ages.

Deacon. Sir, give the blessing.

Priest. The Lord shall bless, and shall minister with all of us in His grace and love to men. And again. The Lord shall bless, and make us worthy of standing before His holy Altar, always, now and ever, and to the ages. And again. Blessed be God, Who blesseth and sanctifieth all of us in our presence at, and hierurgy of, His spotless mysteries, now and ever, and to the ages. (*) (?) Observe that the Kiss of Peace follows the Creed in this Liturgy—precedes it in that of S. Mark.

(*) It is not easy to say whether these are different versions of the same blessing, or whether they bear any reference to the Blessed Trinity.

The Deacon makes the universal Litany.

In peace let us make our supplication to the LORD.

People. LORD have mercy. (2)

For the peace that is from above, and the love of God, and the salvation of our souls, let us make our supplication to the LORD. [Each clause ends in the same way.]

For the peace of the whole world, and the unity of all the holy Churches of God.

For them that bear fruit and do good deeds in the holy Churches of God, that remember the poor, the widows and the orphans, the strangers, and them that are in need; and for them that have desired us to make mention of them in our prayers.

For them that are in old age and infirmity, the sick, the distressed, and that are vexed of unclean spirits, their speedy healing from God and salvation.

For them that lead their lives in virginity, and purity, and asceticism, and in venerable marriage, and them that carry on their struggle in the caves and dens (10) and holes of the earth, our holy fathers and brothers.

For Christians that sail, that journey, that are strangers, and for our brethren that are in bonds and exiles, and imprisonment and bitter slavery, their peaceful return.

For the forgiveness of our sins and remission of

(10) The Deacon in the printed texts, continues, Preserve, have pity, and guard us, O God, by Thy grace. This petition is clearly mis-placed here: it may have belonged to the end. Compare this "Catholic Synapte" with the Ecstene of the Liturgy of S. Chrysostom.

(11) A clause probably added in the 4th century.

our offences, and that we may be preserved from all affliction, wrath, danger and necessity, and the insurrection of enemies.

For good temperature of the atmosphere, peaceful showers, pleasant dews, abundance of fruits, fulness of a good season, and for the crown of the year.

For those, our fathers and brethren, that are present and pray together with us in this holy hour and at all seasons, their diligence, labour, and readiness.

And for every Christian soul in affliction and distress, and needing the mercy and succour of God, and for the conversion of the erring, the health of the sick, the rescue of the prisoners, and the rest of them that have departed afore our fathers and brethren.

That our prayer may be heard and acceptable before God, and that His rich mercies and pities may be sent down upon us.

Let us commemorate the most holy, spotless, exceedingly glorious, blessed Lady, the Mother of God and Ever-Virgin Mary, with all the Saints together, that we may obtain mercy through their prayers and intercessions.

And for the proposed, precious, heavenly, ineffable, spotless, glorious, fearful, terrible, divine gifts, and the salvation of the Priest that stands by and offers them, let us supplicate the LORD our God.

People. LORD have mercy.

Then the Priest signs the Gifts with the Cross, and standing saith secretly thus—

Glory to God in the highest, and on earth peace, good-will to men. (Thrice.)

O LORD, open Thou my lips, and my mouth shall shew forth Thy praise. (Thrice.)

Let my mouth be filled with Thy praise, O LORD, that I may set forth Thy glory, and Thy majesty all the day long. (Thrice.)

Of the FATHER. Amen. And of the SON. Amen. And of the HOLY GHOST. Amen. Now and ever, and to ages of ages. Amen.

And bowing to this side and that, he saith—

O magnify the LORD with me, and let us exalt His Name together.

And they answer, bowing down.

The HOLY GHOST shall come upon thee, and the power of the Highest shall overshadow thee.

And the Priest at length.

LORD and MASTER, Thou That dost visit us with mercies and loving-kindnesses, and hast freely given boldness to us Thy humble and sinful and unworthy servants, to stand before Thy holy Altar, and to offer to Thee the fearful and unbloody sacrifice for our sins and for the ignorance of the people, look upon me, Thine unprofitable servant, and blot out my sins by Thy tender mercy: and cleanse my lips and heart from all pollution of flesh and spirit; and remove from me every unseemly and foolish thought, and make me fit, by the might of Thine all-holy SPIRIT, for this Liturgy; and receive me by Thy goodness, approaching to Thy holy Altar; and vouchsafe, O LORD, that these gifts, brought to Thee by our hands, may be acceptable, condescending to my weaknesses: and cast me not away from Thy Face, neither abhor Thou mine unworthiness: but pity me according to Thy great mercy, and according to the multitude of Thy loving-kindnesses pass by my transgressions: that I, coming blamelessly into the presence of Thy glory, may be counted worthy of the protection of Thine Only-Begotten SON, and of the illumination of the most HOLY SPIRIT; and may not, as a slave of sin, be rejected, but, as Thy servant, may find grace and mercy and remission of sins before Thee, in this world, and in that which is to come. Yea, all-ruling Master, Almighty LORD, hear my supplication; for Thou art He That workest all in all, and we all seek in all things after the succour and assistance that is from Thee and Thine Only-Begotten SON, and the good and quickening and consubstantial SPIRIT, now and for ever.

O GOD, Who through Thy great and ineffable love to man didst send Thine Only-Begotten SON into the world, that He might turn back again the sheep that had gone astray; turn not back us sinners, that take hold of Thee in the fearful and unbloody sacrifice: for we trust not in our own righteousness, but in Thy good mercy, by which Thou redeemest to Thyself our race. We supplicate and beseech Thy goodness that this Mystery planned for our salvation may not be for condemnation to Thy people, but for the blotting out of sin, for the renewal of souls and bodies, for the well-pleasing of Thee, our GOD and FATHER, in the mercy and love to men of Thine Only-Begotten SON, with Whom Thou art blessed, with, &c.

LORD GOD, Thou That didst form us and bring us to life, Thou That hast manifested to us ways to salvation; Thou That hast vouchsafed to us the revelation of celestial Mysteries, and didst place us in this ministry in the might of Thine all-holy SPIRIT: vouchsafe, Master, that we may be servants of Thy New Testament, ministers of Thy spotless mysteries, and according to the multitude of Thy mercy receive us who approach to Thy holy Altar, that we may be worthy to offer to Thee gifts and sacrifices for our own ignorances and for those of the people; and grant us, O LORD, with all fear and with a good conscience to set before Thee this spiritual and unbloody sacrifice, receiving which unto Thy holy and super-celestial and rational Altar, for a savour of spiritual sweetness, send down to us in its stead the grace of Thine all-holy SPIRIT. Yea, O God, look upon us, and have regard to this our reasonable sacrifice, and receive, as Thou didst receive the gifts of Abel, the sacrifices of Noe, the priestly offerings of Moses and Aaron, the peace-offerings of Samuel, the repentance of David, the incense of Zacharias: as Thou didst receive from the hand of Thine Apostle this true worship, thus receive also from the hands of us sinners, in Thy goodness, these gifts that are laid before Thee. And grant that our oblations may be well-pleasing to Thee and hallowed by the HOLY GHOST, for a propitiation of our transgressions, and of the ignorances of the people, and for the repose of the souls that have fallen asleep; that we also, Thy humble and sinful, and unworthy servants, being counted worthy to minister without guile at Thy holy Altar, may receive the reward of faithful and wise stewards, and may find grace and mercy in the fearful day of Thy just and good recompense.

Prayer of the Veil. (11)

We render thanks to Thee, LORD our God, for that Thou hast given us boldness to the entrance in of Thy holy places, the new and living way which Thou hast consecrated for us through the veil of the Flesh of Thy CHRIST. We therefore, to whom it

(11) Because the Veil is now raised, and the Holy Mysteries exposed to view.

hath been vouchsafed to enter into the place of the tabernacle of Thy glory, and to be within the veil, and to behold the Holy of Holies, fall down before Thy goodness: Master, have mercy upon us: since we are full of fear and dread, when about to stand before Thy holy Altar, and to offer this fearful and unbloody sacrifice for our sins and for the ignorances of the people. Send forth, O God, Thy good grace, and hallow our souls, and bodies, and spirits; and change our disposition to piety, that in a pure conscience we may present to Thee the mercy of peace, the sacrifice of praise. (12)

Exclamation. Through the mercy and love to men, and Thine Only-Begotten Son, with whom, &c.

People. Amen.

Priest. Peace be with all.

Deacon. Let us stand with piety; let us stand with the fear of God and compunction of heart; let us attend to the holy Anaphora, to offer peace [i.e. a peace-offering] to God.

People. The mercy of peace, the sacrifice of praise.

Priest. And do Thou, uncovering the veils of enigmas which mystically surround this holy rite; make them gloriously manifest to us: and fill our intellectual eyes with incomprehensible light; and, having cleansed our poverty from every pollution of flesh and speck, make it worthy of this fearful and dread ministration: for Thou art the God of exceeding tender mercy: and to Thee we send up the glory and giving of thanks to the FATHER, the SON, and the HOLY GHOST, now and for ever.

(12) Notice the sublime depth of this prayer, which seems perfectly apostolic. Did the writer quote S. Paul, (Heb. x. 19, 20.) or did S. Paul, in writing to the Hebrews, quote their own Liturgy?

Then he exclaims—

[HERE BEGINNETH THE ANAPHORA.]

The love of the LORD and FATHER, the grace of the LORD and SON, the communion and gift of the HOLY GHOST, be with us all.

People. And with thy spirit.

Priest. Lift we up our mind and our hearts.

People. It is meet and right.

Priest. It is verily meet and right, fitting and due, to praise Thee, to hymn Thee, to bless Thee, to worship Thee, to glorify Thee, to give thanks to Thee, Who madest all creation visible and invisible; the Treasure of eternal good things, the Fountain of life and immortality, the God and Master of all Things, Whom heaven, and the heaven of heavensh, ymn, and all their powers: the sun and the moon and all the choir of the stars; the earth, the sea, and all that is in them; Jerusalem the celestial assembly, the Church of the First-born written in heaven: the spirits of just men and of Prophets; the souls of Martyrs and Apostles; Angels, Archangels, thrones, dominations, principalities, virtues, and the tremendous powers; the Cherubim of many eyes, and the Seraphim that have six wings, with twain wherof they cover their faces, and with twain their feet, and with twain they do fly, crying one to the other, with ceaseless tongues and perpetual doxologies, the triumphal hymn to the majesty of Thy glory, singing with a loud voice, crying, praising, vociferating, and saying,

Choir. Holy, Holy, Holy LORD of Sabaoth; heaven and earth are full of Thy glory. Hosanna in the highest: blessed is He that cometh in the Name of the LORD: Hosanna in the highest.

Holy art Thou, King of ages, and LORD and Giver of all holiness: holy also Thine Only-Begotten SON, our LORD JESUS CHRIST, by Whom Thou didst make all things: holy also the HOLY GHOST, Who searcheth all things, yea, even the deep things of God: holy art Thou, O Omnipotent, Almighty, Good, Tremendous, Long-suffering, and of great compassion towards Thy creatures: Thou Who didst make man from the earth after Thine image and likeness: and didst give him the delight of Paradise, and when he transgressed Thy commandment and fell, Thou didst not disregard nor leave him, O good GOD: but didst correct him: as a tender Father, didst call him by the Law, didst educate him by the Prophets; and lastly didst send forth into the world Thine Only-begotten SON, our LORD JESUS CHRIST, that He might come and renew and restore in us Thine image: Who descended from heaven, and being incarnate of the HOLY GHOST and Mary the Virgin and Mother of God, and having had His conversation with men, accomplished all the dispensation for the salvation of our race, and Who being about to endure His voluntary and life-giving death on the Cross, the sinless, for us sinners, in the night wherein He was betrayed, or rather surrendered Himself for the life and salvation of the world (here the Priest takes the bread in his hands), taking bread in His holy and spotless and pure and immortal hands, and looking up to heaven, and shewing it to Thee, His GOD and FATHER, He gave thanks, and hallowed, and brake, and gave to us His Apostles and Disciples⁽¹⁾, saying,

The Deacons, For the remission of sins and eternal life.

(1) Notice the word us, which is found in this connection in no other Liturgy, however ancient, or bearing the name of any other Apostle. It seems to denote the authorship of one who was present at the Last Supper.—L.

* Priest (aloud.) Take, eat: this is My Body which is broken for you, and is given for the remission of sins.

People. Amen.

Then he takes the cup, and saith,

+ Likewise also the cup after supper, having taken, and mixed it with wine and water, and having looked up to heaven, and displayed it to Thee, His God and FATHER, He gave thanks, and hallowed, and blessed, and filled with the HOLY GHOST, and gave it to us, His Disciples, saying,

Drink ye all of this:

This is My Blood of the New Testament, which for you and for many is shed and distributed for the remission of sins.

People. Amen.

* Priest. Do this in remembrance of Me. For as often as ye eat this bread, and drink this cup, ye set forth the death of the Son of Man, and confess His resurrection, till He come.

Deacon. We believe and confess.

People. We set forth Thy death, O LORD, and confess Thy resurrection.

+ Priest. We therefore also, sinners, remembering His life-giving Passion, His salutary Cross, His Death, and Resurrection from the dead on the third day, His Ascension into heaven, and session on the right hand of Thee, His God and FATHER, and His glorious and terrible coming again, when He shall come with glory to judge the quick and the dead, and to render to every man according to his works, offer to Thee, O LORD, this tremendous and unbloody sacrifice, beseeching Thee that Thou wouldst not deal with us after our sins, nor reward us according to our iniquities: but according to Thy gentleness and ineffable love, passing by and blotting out the hand-writing that is against us, Thy supplicants, wouldst grant us Thy heavenly and eternal gifts, which eye hath not seen, nor ear heard, neither hath it entered into the heart of man to conceive the things which Thou, O God, hast prepared for them that love Thee.⁽¹⁴⁾ And set not at naught Thy people, O LORD and Lover of men, for me and for my sins. (He repeats thrice.) For Thy people and Thy Church supplicate Thee.

People. Have mercy upon us, LORD GOD, FATHER Almighty.

Priest. Have mercy on us, God Almighty.

Have mercy on us, GOD OUR SAVIOUR.

Have mercy on us, O God, according to Thy great goodness, and send upon us, and upon these proposed gifts, Thy most HOLY GHOST, (he bends his head,) the LORD and life-giving sharer of the throne and of the kingdom with Thee, GOD and FATHER, and Thine Only-Begotten SON, consubstantial and co-eternal, Who spake in the Law, and the Prophets, and Thy New Testament, Who descended in the form of a dove on our LORD JESUS CHRIST in the river Jordan, and rested on Him, Who descended upon Thy holy Apostles in the likeness of fiery tongues in the upper room of the holy and glorious Sion, at the day of Pentecost: send down the same most HOLY GHOST, LORD, upon us, and upon these holy and proposed gifts, (he raises himself, and saith aloud,) that coming upon them with His holy and good and

(14) This is the famous passage which is found in 1 Cor. ii. 9, but which is there a quotation, and irregular in grammatical construction. It is commonly referred to Isaiah lvi. 4, but when tested by the LXX. proves to have only a superficial resemblance to it. The inference is that this is the original context, and that S. Paul quotes the Liturgy.—L.

glorious presence, He may hallow and make this bread the holy Body of Thy Christ.

People. Amen.

† Priest. And this cup the precious Blood of Thy CHRIST.

People. Amen.

Priest, rising up, in a low voice,

† That they may be to those that partake of them, for remission of sins, and for eternal life, for sanctification of souls and bodies, for bringing forth good works, for the confirmation of Thy Holy Catholic Church, which Thou hast founded upon the rock of faith, that the gates of hell may not prevail against it; freeing it from all heresy and scandals, and from them that work wickedness, and preserving it till the consummation of all things. (Bending his head, he continues.) We offer them also to Thee, O LORD, for Thy holy places which Thou hast glorified by the divine apparition of Thy CHRIST, and by the advent of Thine All-Holy SPIRIT: especially for the glorious Sion, the mother of all Churches. And for Thy holy Catholic Apostolic Church throughout the world. Supply it, O LORD, even now, with the plentiful gifts of Thy HOLY GHOST. Remember also, O LORD, our holy fathers and brothers in it, and the Bishops that in all the world rightly divide the word of Thy truth. Remember, also, O LORD, every city and region, and the Orthodox that dwell in it, that they may inhabit it with peace and safety. Remember, O LORD, Christians that are voyaging, that are journeying, that are in foreign lands, in bonds and in prison, captives, exiles, in mines, and in tortures, and bitter slavery, our fathers and brethren. Remember, LORD, them that are in sickness or travail, them that are vexed of unclean spirits, that they may speedily be healed and rescued by Thee, O God. Remember, LORD, every Christian soul in tribulation and distress, desiring the pity and succour of Thee, O God, and the conversion of the erring. Remember, LORD, our fathers and brethren that labour and minister to us through Thy holy Name. Remember, LORD, all for good; have pity, LORD, on all; be reconciled to all of us; give peace to the multitude of Thy people; dissipate scandals; put an end to wars; stay the rising up of heresies. Give us Thy peace and Thy love, O God our SAVIOUR, the succour of all the ends of the earth. Remember, LORD, the healthfulness of the air, gentle showers, healthy dews, plenteousness of fruits, the crown of the year of Thy goodness, for the eyes of all wait upon Thee, and Thou givest them their meat in due season; Thou openest Thine hand, and fillest all things living with plenteousness. Remember, LORD, them that bear fruit and do good deeds in Thy holy Churches, and that remember the poor, the widows, the orphans, the stranger, the needy; and all those who have desired us to remember them in our prayers. Furthermore, O LORD, vouchsafe to remember those who have this day brought these oblations to Thy holy Altar; and the things for which each brought them, or which he had in his mind; and those whom we have now commemorated before Thee. Remember also, O LORD, according to the multitude of Thy mercy and pitie, me Thy humble and unworthy servant; and the Deacons that surround Thy holy Altar. Grant them blamelessness of life, preserve their ministry spotless, keep in safety their goings for good, that they may find mercy and grace with all Thy Saints that have been pleasing to Thee from one generation to another, since the beginning of the world, our ancestors, and fathers, Patriarchs, Prophets, Apostles, Martyrs, Confessors, Teachers, Holy Persons, and every just spirit made perfect in the faith of Thy CHRIST.

⁽¹³⁾ Hail, Mary, full of grace; the Lord is with thee; blessed art thou among women, and blessed is the fruit of thy womb, because thou hast brought forth the SAVIOUR of our souls. (Aloud.) Especially the most holy, spotless, excellently laudable, glorious Lady, the Mother of God, and Ever-Virgin Mary.

Choir. It is very meet to bless thee, the Mother of God, the ever blessed, the entirely spotless, ⁽¹⁴⁾ more honourable than the Cherubim, and infinitely more glorious than the Seraphim, thee, who didst bear without corruption God the Word, thee, verily the Mother of God, we magnify.

In thee, O full of grace, all creation exults, and the hierarchy of Angels, and the race of men; in thee, sanctified temple, spiritual paradise, glory of virgins, of whom God took flesh; our God, That was before the world, became a child. For He made thy womb His throne, and rendered it more extended than the heavens. In thee, O full of grace, all creation exults: glory to thee.

The Deacons. Remember, Lord our God.

Priest (bowing). Remember, Lord, the God of the spirits and all flesh, the Orthodox whom we have commemorated, from righteous Abel unto this day.

⁽¹³⁾ The introduction of the angelical salutation is clearly a later interpolation, as interrupting the sequence of the prayer. And so is the ἐν τῷ κοίτην, the thoughts in which seem borrowed from the magnificent sermon of S. Proclus, delivered at Constantinople, March 25, A.D. 429.

⁽¹⁴⁾ It is impossible in English, without tautology, to repeat the ἁγία τοῦ Θεοῦ ἡμῶν, after having already given the θεοτόκος

Give them rest there, in the land of the living, in Thy kingdom, in the delight of paradise, in the bosom of Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob, our holy fathers, whence pain, sorrow, and groaning is exiled, where the light of Thy countenance looks down, and always shines. And direct, Lord, O Lord, in peace the ends of our lives, so as to be Christian, and well-pleasing to Thee, and blameless; collecting us under the feet of Thine elect, when Thou wilt, and as Thou wilt, only without shame and offence: through Thine Only-Begotten Son, our Lord and God and Saviour Jesus Christ; for He alone hath appeared on the earth without sin.

Deacon. And for the peace and stability of the whole world, and of the holy Churches of God, and for that for which each hath brought his offering, or hath in his mind: and for the people that stand around, and for all both men and women.

People. For all, both men and women.

Priest. For which things' sake, to us also, as being good, and the Lover of men.

People. Remit, forgive, pardon, O God, our offences, voluntary and involuntary, in deed and word, by knowledge and ignorance, by night and by day; in mind and intention: forgive us all, as being good, and the Lover of men.

Priest. Through the grace, and pity and love of Thine Only-Begotten Son, with Whom Thou art to be blessed and glorified, together with the most holy and good and life-giving SPIRIT, now and ever, and to all ages.

People. Amen.

Priest. Peace be with all.

People. And with thy spirit.

Deacon. Again and always in peace, let us make our supplications to the Lord.

For the oblations, and hallowed, precious, celestial, ineffable, stainless, glorious, terrible, tremendous, divine gifts to the LORD GOD.

That the LORD our God having received them to His holy, heavenly, intellectual and spiritual Altar, for the odour of a sweet-smelling sacrifice, would send down in their stead to us divine grace, and the gift of the most HOLY GHOST.

Having prayed for the unity of the faith, and the participation of the HOLY GHOST, let us commend ourselves and each other and all our life to CHRIST our God.

People. Amen.

Priest. God, the Father of our LORD and GOD and SAVIOUR JESUS CHRIST, the mighty LORD, blessed nature, ungrudging goodness, the GOD and LORD of all, Who art blessed for evermore: Who sittest upon the Cherubim, and art glorified by the Seraphim: before Whom stand thousand thousands, and ten thousand times ten thousand armies of holy Angels, and Archangels. Thou hast received in Thy goodness the gifts, presents, fruits that have been offered before Thee for a sweet-smelling savour, and hast been pleased to sanctify and perfect them by the grace of Thy CHRIST, and the visitation of Thy most HOLY SPIRIT: sanctify also, O LORD, our souls, bodies, and spirits; touch the powers of our minds, search out our consciences, and cast out from us every evil thought, every impure imagination, every base lust, every unfitting motion, all envy and pride and hypocrisy, all falsehood and guile, every worldly distraction, all avarice, all vainglory, all idleness, vice, anger, passion, remembrance of wrongs, blasphemy, all motion of body and soul at variance with the will of Thy holiness. (Aloud.) And grant us, LORD, and Lover of men, with boldness, without condemnation, with a pure heart, with a broken spirit, with a face that needeth not to be ashamed, with hallowed lips to dare to call upon Thee, our holy GOD and FATHER in the heavens, and to say,

People. Our FATHER, &c.

Priest (bowing). And lead us not into temptation,⁽⁷⁾ LORD GOD of Hosts, Who knowest our infirmity, but deliver us from the evil one, and his works, and all his insults, and devices, for Thy holy Name's sake, by which our humility is called.

Aloud. For Thine is the kingdom, the power, and the glory, FATHER, SON, and HOLY GHOST, now and ever.

People. Amen.

Priest. Peace to all.

People. And with thy spirit.

Deacon. Let us bow our heads to the LORD. ⁽⁸⁾

People. To Thee, O LORD.

Priest. To Thee, O LORD, we Thy servants have bowed our necks before Thy holy Altar, waiting for the rich mercies that are from Thee: send down upon us, O LORD, Thy rich grace and blessing; and sanctify our souls, bodies, and spirits, that we may become worthy partakers and communicants of Thy holy mysteries: to the forgiveness of our sins and eternal life.

Aloud. For Thou art to be worshipped and glorified, O our God, and Thine Only-Begotten SON, and Thy most HOLY SPIRIT, now and ever.

People. Amen.

⁽⁷⁾ This is the Embolismus, or Prayer against Temptation, which follows the LORD'S PRAYER in every Liturgy. See S. Mark, p. 25.

⁽⁸⁾ In the printed Greek Liturgy of S. James there is a double proclamation by the Deacon, and a double prayer of inclination; but one of these is so clearly a second edition of the other, that I have ventured to omit it.

Priest, (aloud). And the grace and mercies of the Holy and consubstantial and uncreated and adorable TRINITY shall be with us all.

People. And with thy spirit.

Deacon. With the fear of God let us attend.

The Priest saith privately.

Holy LORD, That retest in the holies, hallow us by the word of Thy grace, and by the visitation of Thine All-holy SPIRIT, for THOU O LORD, hast said, be ye holy, for I am holy. Lend our God, incomprehensible Word of God, consubstantial, co-eternal, indivisible, with the FATHER and the HOLY GHOST, receive the pure hymn, in Thy holy and spotless Sacrifice, with the Cherubim and Seraphim, and from me a sinner, crying and saying,

Then he elevates the gifts, and saith,

Holy things for holy persons.

People. One holy, one LORD, JESUS CHRIST, in the glory of God the FATHER, to Whom be glory for ever and ever.

Deacon. For the remission of our sins, and the propitiation of our souls, and for every afflicted and distressed soul, that needeth the pity and help of God: and for the conversion of them that have strayed, the healing of them that are sick, the liberation of them that are in captivity, the rest of our fathers and brethren that have fallen asleep before us, let us pray earnestly and say, LORD, have mercy.

People. LORD, have mercy. (Twelve times.)

Then the Priest breaks the bread, and holds the half in his right hand, and the half in his left; and dips in the chalice that which he holds in his right hand, saying,

The union of the most holy Body and precious Blood of our LORD and GOD and SAVIOUR JESUS CHRIST. Then he signs that which he holds in his left hand: then with that which is signed the other half: then he begins to divide before all, and to distribute one part into each chalice, saying,

It hath been united and sanctified and accomplished in the NAME of the FATHER, and of the SON, and of the HOLY GHOST, now and ever.

And when he signs the bread, he saith,

Behold the LAMB of GOD, the SON of the FATHER, That taketh away the sin of the world, sacrificed for the life and salvation of the world.

And when he distributes one part into each chalice, he saith,

A holy portion of CHRIST, full of grace and truth, of the FATHER and the HOLY GHOST, to Whom be the glory and the might, for ever and ever.

Then he begins to break, and to say,

Psalm xxiii.

Psalm xxxiv.

Psalm cxlv.

Psalm cxvii.

Deacon. Sir, bless.

Priest. The LORD shall bless us and keep us without condemnation for the communion of His spotless gifts, now and ever, and to all ages.

Deacon. Sir, bless.

Priest. The LORD shall bless us and make us to receive with the pure tongues of our fingers the burning coal, and to place it in the mouths of the faithful, for the purification and renewal of their souls, and bodies, now and ever.

O taste and see that the LORD is good: He That is broken, and not divided, distributed to the faithful, and not consumed, for the remission of their sins and eternal life, now and ever, and to all ages.

Deacon. In the peace of CHRIST let us sing.

Choir. O taste and see that the LORD is good.

Priest (before communicating). LORD our God, the Heavenly Bread, the Life of the world, I have sinned against heaven and before Thee, and am not worthy to partake Thy spotless mysteries: but do Thou, Who art ~~an~~ compassionate God, make me worthy by Thy grace to communicate without condemnation in the Holy Body and precious Blood, for the remission of sins, and eternal life.

[The Priest communicates.]

But when the Deacons take up the patens and chalices to communicate the people, the Deacon that takes the first paten, says,

Sir, bless.

Priest. Glory to God, Who hath sanctified, and sanctifieth us all.

Deacon. Set up Thyself, O God, above the heavens, and Thy glory above all the earth; and Thy kingdom remaineth for ever and ever.

And when the Deacon is about to take it up from (12) the side table, the Priest saith, Blessed be the Name of the LORD our God for ever.

(12) All the editions read below, ἐπαίρει τὸν δίακον ἀπὸ τοῦ παραπροθέσου, and here, ὅτε μέλλει ὁ διάκονος τίθεναι ἐπὶ τὴν παραπροθέσον. It is nearly certain that the rubrics here seem misplaced. The point is one of great difficulty, but the commentators entirely neglect it. The first question is, what is the παραπροθέσον? Du Cange will have it to be that on which the sacred portions were lying, the prothesis of the office of prothesis. But it is clear that the Deacons are now in the Deacon. With the fear of God, and faith, and love, draw near.

People. Blessed be He that cometh in the Name of the LORD.

[The Communion.]

And again, when the Deacon puts the paten down on the side table, he saith,

Sir, bless.

Priest. O LORD, save Thy people: and bless Thine heritage.

Glory to our God Who hath sanctified us all.

Deacons and people. Fill our mouths with Thy praise, O LORD, and fill our lips with thankfulness, that we celebrate Thy glory and Thy majesty all the day long.

naos, or just on the point of leaving the bema. The antideron then is out of the question, for the Communion has not yet taken place. We must imagine the παραπροθέσον in this instance to be a side table placed in the bema, on which the chalices, &c., were set down (by the rubric before, ὅταν ἑδῆ μερῖδα ἀπλὴν εἰς ἕκαστον κρατήρα, λέγει, it is clear that several were contemplated) in order that the Deacons might take them thence, and not from the Altar. By the transposition of the rubrics, all is now clear: when the Deacon takes the paten up, for the purpose of administering to the people, he says, "Blessed be the Name," &c. He then desires the people to approach; and they accordingly communicate. After this he returns to the παραπροθέσον, and setting down the paten or chalice, says, "Sir, bless," &c., as below. But if the alteration in the rubrics be not allowed, the only possible way of making sense is the arrangement which I adopted in another place, where I did not feel justified in making the change. (Tetralog. Liturgic. p. 192.) The Deacon, receiving the chalice from the Priest to set it on the side table, says, "Blessed be the Name," &c. He sets it down. He calls the people to approach. He then lifts it up, and says, "Sir, bless;" but the Priest does not bless till after the Communion is finished. The great awkwardness of this is clear.

We give Thee thanks, CHRIST our God, that Thou hast vouchsafed to make us partakers of Thy Body and Blood, for the remission of sins, and eternal life. Keep us, we beseech Thee, without condemnation, because Thou art good, and the Lover of men.

The Praying of Incense at the last Entrance.

Priest. We thank Thee, GOD and SAVIOUR of all, for all the good things which Thou hast bestowed on us; and for the participation of Thy holy and spotless mysteries. And we offer to Thee this incense, praying Thee to keep us under the shadow of Thy wings; and vouchsafe that, till our last breath, we may receive Thy sanctifications; for the sanctification of souls and bodies, for the inheritance of the kingdom of heaven: for Thou, O GOD, art our sanctification, and to Thee we ascribe glory and thanks, &c.

The Deacon begins in the Entrance.

Glory to Thee, glory to Thee, glory to Thee, CHRIST the King, Only-Begotten Word of the FATHER, for that Thou hast vouchsafed us sinners and Thy unworthy servants to enjoy Thy spotless mysteries, for the forgiveness of sins and for eternal life: glory to Thee. ⁽²⁾

⁽²⁾ Here, in the editions, follows this:

And when he makes the entrance the Deacon begins to say thus,

Again and again, and evermore in peace, let us make our supplications to the LORD.

That the participation of His sanctification may be to us for the turning away of every evil thing, for a viaticum of eternal life, for the participation and gift of the HOLY GHOST.

And when he puts down the chalice on the holy table, the Priest saith, ⁽²⁾ Blessed be the Name of the LORD for ever and ever.

Priest. Peace be with all.

People. And with thy spirit.

Deacon. In the peace of CHRIST let us chant.

And again. In the peace of CHRIST let us depart.

People. In the Name of the LORD; LORD, bless us.

Priest. Commemorating the most holy, &c.

People. To Thee, O LORD.

Priest. GOD, Which through Thy great and ineffable love to man didst condescend to the weakness of Thy servants and hast vouchsafed that we should partake of this heavenly Table, condemn us not in the participation of Thy spotless mysteries, but guard us, good GOD, by the sanctification of Thy HOLY GHOST; that, being holy, we may find part and inheritance with all Thy Saints who have pleased Thee from the beginning of the world, in the light of Thy countenance, through the mercies of Thine Only-Begotten SON, our LORD and GOD and SAVIOUR JESUS CHRIST; with Whom Thou art blessed, with Thy most holy and good and quickening SPIRIT, &c.

People. Amen.

But, in all probability, this is nothing but a second edition of the two last prayers; it is hardly possible to conceive that both the Deacon and the Priest would say over again, in other words, what each of them has just been already saying; and the more so as the time is limited to that of the entrance. It will be seen that, as we at present have the Liturgy of S. James, the Priest remains at the Altar, while the Deacons distribute to the people.

⁽²⁾ Here I have made another change. In the editions, the rubric precedes the prayer of incense at the last entrance. But as it is clear that the Deacon must have entered the bema before he can set down the chalice on the Altar, I have reversed the order.

Prayer of Dismissal said by the Deacon.

From glory to glory advancing, we hymn Thee, the Saviour of our souls. Glory to the FATHER, and to the SON, and to the HOLY GHOST. We hymn Thee, the Saviour of our souls.

The Priest saith this prayer as he goes from the Altar to the Sacristy.

From might to might advancing, and having accomplished all the Divine Liturgy in Thy temple, we now also pray Thee, vouchsafe to us Thy full mercy; rightly divide our paths: root us in Thy fear; and count us worthy of Thy heavenly kingdom, in CHRIST JESUS our LORD: with Whom, &c.

Deacon. Again and again and evermore in peace, let us make our supplications to the LORD.

Prayer said in the sacristy after the dismissal.

Thou hast given us, O LORD, sanctification, &c. As in the Liturgy of S. Mark. (2)

(2) It cannot be parallelised with that prayer, because this follows, that precedes, the dismissal.

OF

S. Clement.

And after the reading of the Law and the Prophets, and our Epistles and Acts, and the Gospels, let him that hath been elected salute the Church, saying,

The grace of our LORD JESUS CHRIST, the love of GOD and our FATHER, and the Communion of the HOLY GHOST, be with you all.

And let all answer: And with thy spirit.

And after this, let him address to the People words of exhortation, and when he hath accomplished the Word of Teaching, I. Andrew, the brother of Peter, say: All standing up, let the Deacon ascending to some high place, proclaim: Let none of the auditors: let none of the unbelievers. And when quiet hath been made, let him say:

Ye that are Catechumens, pray.

And let all the faithful, as they will, pray for them, saying,

LORD, have mercy.

And let him minister on their behalf, saying:

Let us all beseech GOD (1) for the Catechumens,

(1) S. Chrysostom, in his third homily on the incomprehensible nature of GOD, refers to this prayer, when he says—“Immediately after this exhortation follows the prayer.” And the same thing is to be found in the nineteenth canon of the Council of Laodicea. (A.D. 363 or 365.)

that He Who is good and the Lover of men, may mercifully hear their prayers and supplications, and receiving their requests, may assist them and grant them their hearts' desire as may be expedient for them, and may reveal to them the Gospel of His CHRIST, and may enlighten them and cause them to understand and may instruct them in Divine knowledge, and may teach them His commandments and judgments, and may implant in them His true and salutary fear, and may open the ears of their hearts to discover the things that are in His law day and night, may stablish them in piety, may unite and may number them together with His holy fold, may count them worthy of the laver of regeneration, of the vestment of immortality, of the true life; may preserve them from all impiety, and may give no place to the enemy against them; but may purify them from all pollution of flesh and spirit, may dwell in them and walk in them by His CHRIST, may bless their comings in and their goings out, and may direct that which lies before them as may be profitable. Furthermore, let us earnestly supplicate for them, that having obtained the remission of their transgressions through the initiation of baptism, they may be counted worthy of the holy mysteries, and of perseverance with the Saints. Ye that are Catechumens arise.

Ask for the peace of God through His CHRIST; that this day and all the time of your life may be peaceful and sinless; that your ends may be Christian; that God may be merciful and gracious; that your sins may be remitted; commend yourselves to the Only, Unbegotten God, through His CHRIST. Bow down and receive the blessing.

And for each of these whom the Deacon addresses, as we have said before, let the people say, Lord, have mercy: and before all the children. (2) And while they bow down their heads, let him that hath been elected Bishop, bless them with this blessing:

The Almighty God, the Unbegotten and Unapproachable, the only true God, the God and FATHER of Thy CHRIST, THINE Only-Begotten SON, the God of the PARACLETE, and the LORD of all: Thou Who didst by CHRIST constitute Thy disciples as teachers of piety;—do Thou Thyself also now look upon these Thy servants, the Catechumens of the Gospel of Thy CHRIST, and give to them a new heart, and renew within them a right spirit, to know and do Thy will with a full heart and willing soul. Make them worthy of the holy initiation of baptism, and unite them to Thy holy Church, and make them participators of the Divine mysteries, through CHRIST our Hope, Who died for them: through Whom be to Thee the glory and the worship, in the HOLY GHOST, through all ages. Amen.

And after this, let the Deacon say, Go forward, ye Catechumens, in peace. And after their having gone forth, let him say: Pray, ye that are troubled by unclean spirits. Let us all earnestly pray for them, that God, the Lover of men, may, through CHRIST, rebuke the unclean and wicked spirits, and may pre-

Cotelierus would understand it of the choir; but I am inclined to think that the words are spoken of all the children present; the same who are afterward committed to the charge of their mothers. serve His suppliants from the over-mastery of the enemy: He that rebuked the legion of fiends, and the primeval source of evil, the Devil, let Him rebuke also now the apostates from piety, and preserve His own handiwork from the energy of Satan, and purify them whom with much wisdom He made. Furthermore, let us intently pray for them: Save and raise them up, O God, in Thy might. Bend your heads, ye Energumens, and receive the blessing. And let the Bishop pray over them, saying, Thou That didst bind the strong man, and spoil all his goods: Thou That didst give us power to tread upon serpents and scorpions and all the might of the adversary: Thou That didst give over to us bound, the man-slaying serpent, as a sparrow to children: (2) Whom all things fear and tremble at from the face of Thy power: Thou That didst break him as lightning from heaven, not with a local fracture, but from honour to dishonour, through his own evil-mindedness: Thou Whose look drieth up the abysses, and Whose threat wasteth the mountains, and Whose truth remaineth for ever; Whom infants praise, and sucklings bless: Who lookest upon the earth, and makest it to tremble. Who touchest the mountains, and they smoke: Who threatenest the sea, and driest it up, and utterly destroyest all the rivers: to Whom the clouds are the dust of Thy feet: Thou That walkest upon the sea as upon a foundation: Only-Begotten God, Son of the Mighty FATHER, rebuke the evil spirits, and preserve the works of Thine Hand, from the energy of an adverse spirit: for to Thee is glory, honour, and worship.

and by Thee to Thy FATHER, and the HOLY GHOST. Amen.

And let the Deacon say: Pass forward, ye Energumens. And after this let him exclaim: Pray, ye that are illuminated. Let us, the faithful, all pray earnestly for them, that the LORD may count them worthy, having been initiated into the death of CHRIST, raise them up together with Him, and to become partakers of His kingdom, and sharers of His mysteries, that He may unite and may collect them together with those that are saved in His Holy Church. Save and raise them up in Thy grace. Let them that have been sealed to God by His CHRIST, bow down and be blest with this blessing from the Bishop. Thou That saidst aforehand by Thy holy Prophets to the initiated, Wash you, make you clean, and didst through CHRIST give them the law of spiritual regeneration,—do Thou Thyself now look upon the baptized, and bless them and hallow them, and prepare them so as to be worthy of Thy spiritual gift, and the true adoption of Thy spiritual mysteries, the gathering together with them that are saved, through CHRIST our Saviour: (3) through, &c.

And let the Deacon say: Pass forward, ye that are illuminated. And after this, let him proclaim: Pray, ye that are in penitence. Let us earnestly supplicate for our brethren that are in penitence, that God, the very pitiful, may point out to them the way of repentance, may receive their recantation and their confession, and may bruise Satan under their feet shortly, and may ransom them from the snare of the devil, and the insult of demons, and may deliver them from every unlawful word, and every unseemly deed and wicked imagination; may pardon them all their falls, voluntary and involuntary; and may blot out the handwriting that is against them, and may write them in the Book of Life, and may cleanse them from every pollution of flesh and spirit, and may restore them so as to unite them to His holy flock: for He knoweth our frame. For who can boast that he hath a pure heart? Or who can be confident that he is pure from sin? For we are all subject to penalty. Let us yet pray more earnestly for them, because there is joy in heaven over one sinner that repenteth, that they, turning away from every unlawful work, may be made familiar with every good deed, to the end that God, the Lover of men, may speedily receive their prayers with favour, may give them the joy of His salvation again, and may establish them with His princely Spirit, that they may be no more shaken: that they may become partakers of His holy things, and sharers of the Divine mysteries, and being manifested as worthy of adoption, may attain eternal life. Let us yet say earnestly for them: LORD, have mercy: save them, O God, and raise them up by Thy mercy. Rise up and bend your heads to God, through His Christ, and receive the blessing.

Then let the Bishop pray after this fashion. Almighty, everlasting God, Master of all, Creator and Governor of all things, Thou Who didst through Christ consecrate man to be the ornament of the world, (*) and didst give him a law implanted in him and written, to the end that he might live according to Thy statutes, as is reasonable: and didst by Thy goodness give to him when he had sinned a warning to repentance; look down upon these that have bowed to Thee the necks of their souls and their bodies: for Thou willest not the death of a sinner, but his conversion, so as to turn him from his evil ways that he may live. Thou That didst receive the repentance of the Ninevites: Thou That willest that all men should be saved and come to the knowledge of the truth; Thou That didst, through Thy fatherly pity, receive the son who devoured his substance in riotous living, because of his repentance; do Thou Thyself now receive the repentance of Thy suppliants; for there is none who sinneth not before Thee; for if Thou, LORD, shalt be extreme to mark what is done amiss, O LORD, who may abide it? for with Thee there is mercy. And restore them to Thy holy Church in reputation and honour, through CHRIST, our God and Saviour: through Whom, &c.

And let the Deacon say: Depart, ye that are in penitence. And let him add: Let none of those that are not able to pray with us, pass forward: let as many as are faithful kneel with us. Let us all with one accord call upon God through His Christ. For the peace and good condition of the world, and the holy Churches, let us make our supplication; that He, Who is the God of all, may bestow peace on us, eternal, and that cannot be taken away, to the end that He may preserve us perseveringly in the fulness of that virtue which is according to godliness. For the Holy Catholic and Apostolic Church, which is from one end of the earth to the other, let us make our supplication; that the LORD would preserve it and guard it continually, unshaken and without storm, unto the consummation of all things, founded upon the rock. ⁽⁶⁾ And for the holy parishes here, let us make our supplication, that He Who is the Lord of all may vouchsafe to give us a share in His heavenly hope, and to bestow unceasingly the reward of our prayers.

For every Episcopate under heaven of those who rightly divide the word of Thy truth, let us make our supplication: and for our Bishop James and his parishes, let us make our supplication: for the Bishop Clement and his parishes, let us make our supplication: for our Bishop Euodius and his parishes, let us make our supplication. ⁽⁷⁾ That the merciful God may vouchsafe them to their holy Churches safe, honourable, full of length of days, and may afford them an honourable old age in piety and righteousness.

And for their Presbyters let us make our supplication: that the Lord would preserve them from every unseemly and wicked thing, and afford to them their priestly office, safe and honourable. For all the diaconate, and ministry in Christ, let us make our supplication, that the Lord may preserve their services blameless.

For Readers, Singers, Virgins, Widows, and Orphans, let us make our supplication: for them that are in the yoke of marriage, and the production of children, let us make our supplication: that the Lord may have mercy on them all.

For Eunuchs, walking holly, let us make our ⁽⁶⁾ Observe that the reference is not to S. Matthew xvi. 18, but to S. Matthew vii. 25.

⁽⁷⁾ These names are manifestly an insertion by way of a pious fraud on the part of the compiler of the Apostolic Constitutions. In some MSS. instead of Euodius, Anianus, the first Bishop of Alexandria after S. Mark is mentioned.

supplication: for those that are in continence and piety, let us make our supplication: for them that bring forth fruit in the holy Church, and do alms to the poor, let us make our supplication; and for them that bring offerings and first-fruits to the Lord our God, let us make our supplication: that the all-good God may recompense them with His heavenly gifts, and may give them a hundred-fold more in the present world, and in the world to come, life everlasting, and may grant to them of His grace, for things earthly, things heavenly.

For our newly-illuminated brethren, let us make our supplication that the Lord may confirm and establish them.

For our brethren that are exercised by sickness, let us make our supplication; that the Lord may preserve them from all diseases and infirmity, and may restore them safely to His holy Church.

For them that sail and that journey, let us make our supplication: for them that are in mines and exiles and prisons and bonds for the Name of the Lord, let us make our supplication: for them that travail in bitter slavery, let us make our supplication: for our enemies, and them that hate us for the Lord's sake, let us make our supplication: that the Lord may soften their mind, and disperse their passion against us.

For them that are without and wandering, let us make our supplication: that the Lord may convert them.

Let us remember the little ones of the Church, that the Lord, perfecting them in His fear, may bring them to the full measure of age: for each other, let us make our supplication; that the Lord may guard us and preserve us by His grace to the end, and may defend us from the wicked one, and all the scandals of them that work iniquity, and may save us to His heavenly kingdom.

For every Christian soul, let us make our supplication. Preserve and raise us up, O God, by Thy pity.

Let us rise up.

Having earnestly made our supplication, let us commit ourselves and each other to the Living God, through His CNISR. Then let the Bishop pray over them and say: LOD Almighty, Most Highest, Thou That dwellest in the highest, Thou Holy One That restest in the Holies, Thou That art without beginning, Thou That art only Ruler: Thou Who through CNISR didst give us the preaching of knowledge for the acknowledgment of Thy glory and of Thy Name which He manifested to our comprehension: do Thou Thyself now look down through Him upon this Thy flock: and free it from all ignorance and evil practices, and grant that it may entirely fear Thee and perfectly love Thee, and may be endued with the glory of Thy countenance: be Thou propitious to them, and merciful, and ready to hear their supplications, and keep them without turning, without blame, without accusation; that they may be holy in body and soul, not having spot nor wrinkle, nor any such thing: but that they may be perfect, and not one of them may be imperfect or incomplete. Thou That art the Helper, the Mighty, Thou That respectest not the persons of men, become Thou the assistance of this Thy people, whom Thou didst purchase with the precious Blood of Thy CNISR. Defender, Guardian, Steward, Most secure Wall, Fence, Security, for none can pluck out of Thine Hands: nor is there any other God like Thee, for in Thee is our trust. Sanctify them in Thy truth, for Thy word is truth. Thou That art not to be flattered, Thou That canst not be deceived, preserve them from all sickness and all infirmity, from every fall, from all injury and deceit, from the fear of the enemy, from the arrow that lieth by day, from the thing that walketh in darkness: and vouchsafe to them the eternal life, which is in CNISR Thine Only-Begotten Son, our God and Saviour, through Whom.

And after this let the Deacon say: Let us attend.

And let the Bishop salute the Church, and say: Let the peace of God be with you all.

And let the people answer, And with thy spirit.

And let the Deacon say to all, Salute one another with an holy kiss.

And let the Clergy kiss the Bishop; and of the Laity, the men the men, and the women the women. And let the children stand by the Bema. And let a Deacon preside over them, that they may not be disorderly. And let other Deacons walk about and observe the men and the women that there may be no disturbance, and that no one nod, or whisper, or wink. And let the Deacon stand at the doors of the men, and the Sub-Deacons at those of the women, that no one may go out, and the door may not be opened even though it may be by one of the faithful, during the time of the Anaphora. And let one Sub-Deacon give water to the Priests to wash their hands, the symbol of the purity of the souls devoted to God.

The order of James, the brother of John, the son of Zebedeo.

And I, James, the brother of John, the son of Zebedeo, command that forthwith the Deacon say, Let none of the Catechumens, none of the hearers, none of the unbelievers, none of the heterodox, stay. Ye who have prayed the former prayer, depart. Mothers, take up your children. Let no one have ought against any man. Let none be in hypocrisy. Let us stand upright, to present unto the LOD our offerings with fear and trembling.

When this is done, let the Deacons bring the gifts to the Bishop at the Altar; and let the Priests stand on his right hand, and on his left, as disciples by their Master. But let two of the Deacons on each side of the Altar hold a fan made up of thin membranes, or peacock's feathers, or fine cloth, and let them silently drive away flies and gnats, that they may not fall into the cups. Then the Bishop, after having prayed secretly, (and likewise the Priests,) and having put on his splendid vestment, () and standing at the Altar, and signing himself with the sign of the Cross upon his forehead, let him say,*

The grace of the Almighty God, and the love of our Lord Jesus Christ, and the fellowship of the Holy Ghost, be with you all.

And let all with one voice say, And with thy spirit.

Bishop. Lift up your mind.

People. We lift it up unto the Lord.

Bishop. Let us give thanks to the Lord.

People. It is meet and right.

Bishop. It is indeed meet and right before all things to sing praises to Thee, the true God, from everlasting, of Whom the whole family in heaven and earth is named; Who alone art unbegotten, without beginning, the supreme Lord, Almighty King, and self-sufficient; the Author and Giver of all good things, without cause, without generation, self-existing; the same yesterday, to-day, and for ever. At Thy Word, as from a necessary original, all things started into being. For Thou art everlasting knowledge, sight before all objects, hearing before all sounds, wisdom without instruction; the first in nature, the law of being, exceeding all number. Thou createdst all things out of nothing by Thine Only-Begotten Son, begotten before all ages by no other means than Thy will, Thy power, and Thy goodness; God the Word, the Only-Begotten Son, the Living Wisdom, the First-born of every creature, the Angel of Thy great counsel, Thy High Priest, but Lord and King of all sensible and intellectual creatures, Who was before all things, and by Whom all things were made. Thou, O eternal God, didst make all things by Him, and by Him too dispensest Thy providence over them; for by the Same that Thou didst graciously bring all things into being, by Him Thou continuest all things in well-being. The God and FATHER of Thine Only-Begotten Son; Who by Him didst make first the Cherubim and Seraphim, the Ages, Thrones, Archangels, and Angels, and after these didst by Him create this visible world, and all things which are therein. For it is Thou Who hast fixed the heaven like an arch, and stretched it out like the covering of a tent; and didst establish the earth upon nothing by Thy will alone; Who hast established the firmament, and prepared the night and the day, bringing light out of Thy treasures, and darkness to overshadow it, that under its covert the living creatures of this world might take their repose. Thou hast appointed the sun to rule the day, and the moon to govern the night; and moreover hast inscribed in the heavens a choir of stars for the honour of Thy glorious majesty. Thou hast made water for drink, and for cleansing, the vital air for respiration, and conveyance of sounds by the tongue's striking of it, and the hearing which cooperates with it, so as to perceive the voice when it is received by it and falls upon it. Thou madest fire for our consolation in darkness, and for the relief of our necessities, that we might be both warmed and enlightened by it. Thou didst divide the great sea from the land, making the one navigable, and the other a basis for our feet in walking; the former Thou hast replenished with small and great beasts, the latter too both with tame and wild; and hast moreover furnished it with various plants, crowned it with herbs, beautified it with flowers, and enriched it with seeds. Thou didst constitute the great deep, and didst set about it a mighty hollow; (?) seas of salt waters stand as an heap bounded on every side with barriers of sand; sometimes Thou dost swell it by the wind, so as to equal the high mountains, and sometimes smooth it into a plain; now making it rage with a tempest, then stilling it with a calm, for the ease of mariners in their voyages. The earth, which was made by Thee, through CHRIS^T, Thou hast encompassed with rivers, watered with currents, and moistened with springs which never fail; Thou hast girt it about with mountains, that it may not be moved at any time: Thou hast replenished and adorned it with fragrant and medicinal herbs, with many and various kinds of living creatures, strong and weak, for food and for labour, tame and wild; with the dull harsh noises of those creatures which move upon the earth, and the soft sprightly notes of the gaudy many-coloured birds which wing the air; with the revolution of years, the number of months and days, the regular succession of the seasons; with the courses of the clouds big with rain, for the production of fruits, the support of living creatures: where also the winds take their stand, which blow at Thy command, and for the refreshment of trees and plants. And Thou hast not only created the world, but man likewise the citizen of it; manifesting in him the beauty and excellency of that beautiful and excellent creation. For Thou saidst to Thine Own Wisdom, Let us make man in Our Own Image, and after Our likeness, and let them have dominion over the fish of the sea, and over the fowl of the air. Wherefore Thou madest him of an immortal soul, and perishable body, the soul out of nothing, the body of the four elements; this endued with five senses, and a power of motion; that with reason, and a faculty of distinguishing between religion and irreligion, the just and the unjust. Thou, O Almighty God, didst also by CHRIS^T plant a garden eastward in Eden, adorned with every plant that was meet for food; into this Thou didst put him, a rich and magnificent habitation; having given him a law in his nature, and such powers that without the assistance of other means, even in himself he might have the principles of divine knowledge. And when Thou didst put him into this paradise of pleasure, Thou gavest him the privilege of enjoying all its delights, with this only exception, that he should not out of vain curiosity in hopes of bettering his condition, taste of one tree, and immortality was to be the reward of his obedience to this command; but when he had broken through it, and eaten of the forbidden fruit, over-reached by the subtilty of the serpent, and the counsel of the woman, Thou didst justly drive him out of paradise; but in Thy goodness didst not despise him, nor suffer him wholly to perish; for he was the work of Thine own hands: but Thou gavest him dominion over all things, and by his labour, and the sweat of his face, to procure his food, Thy providence co-operating with him, so as to make the fruits of the earth to spring up, increase, and ripen. And having subjected him for a while to a temporary death, Thou didst bind Thyself by an oath to restore him to life again; loosing the bands of that death, by the promise of a resurrection to the life which is eternal. Nor was this all; but Thou didst likewise multiply his posterity without number, glorifying as many of them as were obedient unto Thee, and punishing those who rebelled against Thee. Thou didst accept the sacrifice of Abel on account of his righteousness, and reject the offering of Cain who slew his brother, because of his unworthiness. And besides these, Thou didst receive Seth and Enos, and translate Enoch. For Thou art the creator of men, the author of life, the supplier of our wants, the giver of laws, the rewarder of those who keep them, and the avenger of those who transgress them; Who didst bring the great flood upon the world because of the multitude of the ungodly, but didst deliver righteous Noah with it with eight souls in the ark, the last of the foregoing, and the first of the succeeding generations; Who didst kindle a dreadful fire in the five cities of Sodom, and turn a fruitful land into a salt lake for the wickedness of them that dwelt therein; but didst snatch holy Lot out of the conflagration. Thou art He, Who didst preserve Abraham from the idolatry of his forefathers, and appoint him the heir of the world, manifesting unto him Thy Christ; Who didst ordain Melchisedeck an high priest for Thy worship; Who didst approve Thy servant Job by his patience and long suffering, the conqueror of that serpent, who is the author and promoter of all wickedness; Who madest Isaac the Son of the promise, and Jacob the father of twelve sons, whom Thou didst multiply exceedingly, bringing him into Egypt with seventy-five souls. Thou, O LORD, didst not overlook Joseph, but gavest him, as the reward of his chastity for Thy sake, the government over the Egyptians. Neither didst Thou, O LORD, overlook the Hebrews when in bondage under the Egyptians, but according to Thy promises made to their fathers, Thou didst deliver them, and punish the Egyptians. And when men corrupted the law of nature, and esteemed the creation, sometimes as the effect of chance, and sometimes to be worthy of honour equal to Thine, Who art the God of all, Thou didst not suffer them to wander in error; but didst raise up Thy holy servant Moses, and by him give a written law to strengthen the law of nature, and shew the creation to be Thy work, and that there were no other Gods besides Thee. Thou didst adorn Aaron and his posterity with the honour of the priesthood. Thou didst punish the Hebrews when they sinned, and receive them again when they returned to Thee. Thou didst torment the Egyptians with ten plagues, and divide the sea for the Israelites to pass through, overwhelming the Egyptians in their pursuit after them with the waves thereof. Thou didst sweeten the bitter water with wood, and bring water out of the precipitous rock. Thou didst rain manna from heaven, and quails out of the air for food. Thou madest a pillar of fire to give them light in the night, and a pillar of a cloud to shadow them from the heat in the day. Thou didst raise up Joshua to be a general of their armies, and by him destroy seven nations of the Canaanites. Thou didst divide Jordan, and dry up the rivers of Etham. Thou didst overthrow walls without engines, or any assistance of human force. For all these things, glory be to Thee, O Lord Almighty; Thee the innumerable hosts of angels, archangels, thrones, dominions, principalities, virtues, powers. Thine everlasting armies adore. The Cherubim and Seraphim with six wings, with twain they cover their feet, with twain their heads, and with twain they fly, and say, together with thousand thousands of archangels, and ten thousand times ten thousand of angels, crying incessantly with uninterrupted shouts of praise;

And let all the People say with them:

Holy, holy, holy, is the Lord of Sabaoth, heaven and earth are full of His glory. Blessed be He for evermore. Amen.

After this, let the Bishop say,

Thou art indeed holy, and most holy: the highest, and most highly exalted for ever. Holy also is Thine Only-Begotten Son Jesus Christ our Lord and God. Who, always ministering to Thee His God and Father, not only in the various works of the creation, but in the providential care of it, did not overlook lost mankind. But after the law of nature, the admonitions of the positive law, the prophetic reproofs, and the superintendency of angels, when men had perverted both the positive and natural law, and had forgotten the flood, the burning of Sodom, the plagues of the Egyptians, the slaughter of the nations of Palestine, and were now ready to perish universally; He, Who was man's Creator, was pleased with Thy consent to become man; the Lawgiver to be under the law; the Priest to be Himself the sacrifice; the Shepherd a sheep; to appease Thee His God and Father, to reconcile Thee (2) to the world, and deliver all men from the impending wrath. He was incarnate of a Virgin, God the Word, the beloved Son, the First-born of every creature; and, as He Himself had foretold by the mouth of the prophets, of the seed of David, and of Abraham, and of the tribe of Juda. He, Who forms all that are born in the world, was Himself formed in the womb of a Virgin; He That was without flesh, became flesh; and He Who was begotten from eternity, was born in time. He was holy in His conversation, and taught according to the law; He cured diseases, and wrought signs and wonders amongst the people; He Who is the feeder of the hungry, and fills every living creature with His goodness, became partaker of His own gifts, and eat, and drank, and slept amongst us; He manifested Thy Name to them that knew it not; He dispelled the cloud of ignorance, restored piety, fulfilled Thy will, and finished Thy work which Thou gavest Him to do. And when He had regulated all these things, He was seized by the hands of a disobedient people, and wicked men abusing the office of Priests and High-Priests, being betrayed to them by one who excelled in wickedness; and when He had suffered many things from them, and been treated with all manner of indignity; He was by Thy permission delivered to Pilate the governor; the Judge of all the world was judged, and the Saviour of mankind condemned; although impassible, He was nailed to the cross; and although immortal, died. The Giver of Life was laid in the grave, that He might deliver those from the pains of death, for whose sake He came; and that He might break the bands of the devil, and rescue man from his deceit. He arose from the dead the third day; and after continuing forty days with His disciples, He was taken up into heaven, and is set down on the right hand of Thee His God and FATHER.

(2) Notice here, and again presently, this "unscriptural" phrase. According to S. Paul's teaching, it is man that must be reconciled to God, not God to man. This appears to me a good argument in favour of the belief that S. Clement's Liturgy was never really employed by any Church. Such an error might easily escape the notice of an individual writer; but the marvellous theological accuracy of early Liturgies would not have allowed the phrase to remain in use.

Calling therefore to remembrance those things which He endured for our sakes, we give thanks unto Thee, O God Almighty, not as we ought, but as we are able, to fulfil His institution. For in the same night that He was betrayed, taking bread into His holy and immaculate hands, and looking up to Thee His God and FATHER, and breaking it, He gave it to His disciples, saying, This is the Mystery of the New Testament; take of it; eat; this is My Body, which is broken for many for the remission of sins. Likewise also having mingled the cup with wine and water, and blessed it, He gave it to them, saying: Drink ye all of it: this is My Blood, which is shed for many for the remission of sins; do this in remembrance of Me; for as often as ye eat of this bread, and drink of this cup, ye do shew forth My death till I come.

Wherefore having in remembrance His passion, death, and resurrection from the dead, His return into heaven, and His future second appearance, when He shall come with glory and power to judge the quick and the dead, and to render to every man according to his works; we offer to Thee, our King and our God, according to this institution, this bread and this cup; giving thanks to Thee through Him, that Thou hast thought us worthy to stand before Thee, and to sacrifice unto Thee. And we beseech Thee, that Thou wilt look graciously on these gifts now lying before Thee, O Thou self-sufficient God; and accept them to the honour of Thy CHRIST. And send down Thy HOLY SPIRIT, the Witness of the sufferings of the LORD JESUS, on this sacrifice, that He may make this bread the Body of Thy CHRIST, and this cup the Blood of Thy CHRIST. That all who shall partake of it may be confirmed in godliness, may receive remission of their sins, may be delivered from the devil and his wiles, may be filled with the HOLY GHOST, may be made worthy of Thy CHRIST, and may obtain everlasting life; Thou, (¹⁰) O LORD Almighty, being reconciled to them.

We further pray unto Thee, O LORD, for Thy holy Church, spread from one end of the world unto the other, which Thou hast purchased by the precious Blood of Thy CHRIST, that Thou wilt keep it steadfast and immovable unto the end of the world; and for every Episcopate rightly dividing the word of truth. Further we call upon Thee for my unworthiness, who am now offering; and for the whole Presbytery; for the Deacons, and all the Clergy; that Thou wouldst endue them with wisdom, and fill them with the HOLY GHOST. Further we call upon Thee, O LORD, for the King and all that are in authority, for the success of the army, that they may be kindly disposed towards us; that leading our whole life in peace and quietness, we may glorify (¹⁰) Notice what is said before of this expression.

Thee through JESUS CHRIST our hope. Further we offer to Thee for all the saints, who have pleased Thee from the beginning of the world: the patriarchs, prophets, righteous men, apostles, martyrs, confessors, bishops, priests, deacons, sub-deacons, readers, singers, virgins, widows, laymen, and all whose names Thou knowest. We further offer to Thee for this people; that for the glory of Thy CHRIST Thou wilt render them a royal priesthood, an holy nation; for the virgins, and all that live chastely; for the widows of the Church; for those that live in honourable marriage, and child-bearing; for the young ones among Thy people; that Thou wilt not permit any of us to become castaways. Further we pray unto Thee for this city, and the inhabitants thereof; for the sick; for those that are in bitter slavery; for those that are in banishment; for those that are in prison; for those that travel by land or by water; that Thou wilt be to all of them an helper, strengthener, and supporter.

We further beseech Thee also for those who hate us and persecute us for Thy Name's sake; for those that are without, and wander in error; that thou wouldst convert them to that which is good, and appease their wrath against us. Further we pray unto Thee for the catechumens of the Church; for those who are under possession, and for those our brethren who are in the state of penance: that Thou wilt perfect the first in Thy faith, deliver the second from the power of the wicked one, accept the repentance of the last, and grant unto them and to us the remission of our sins. Further we offer unto Thee for reasonable weather, and that we may have plenty of the fruits of the earth: that receiving the abundance of Thy good things we may incessantly praise Thee Who givest food to all flesh. Further we pray unto Thee for all those who are absent upon a just cause; that Thou wilt preserve all of us in godliness, and gather us together in the kingdom of Thy CHRIST our king, the God of every sensible and intelligent being. And that Thou wilt keep us steadfast, unblameable, and unproveable. For to Thee is due all glory, adoration, and thanksgiving, honour, and worship to the FATHER, and to the SON, and to the HOLY GHOST, both now and ever, and world without end.

And let all the People say, Amen.

And let the Bishop say, The peace of God be with you all.

And let all the people say, And with thy spirit.

And let the Deacon again proclaim,

Again and again let us pray to God through His CHRIST, in behalf of the gift that is offered to the LORD God; that the good God will receive it through the mediation of His CHRIST at His heavenly Altar for a sweet-smelling savour. Let us pray for this Church and people. Let us pray for every Episcopate, for the whole Presbytery, for all the Deacons and Ministers in CHRIST, for the whole congregation; that the LORD will preserve and keep them all. Let us pray for kings and all that are in authority, that they may be peaceable towards us; so that enjoying a quiet and peaceable life, we may spend our days in all godliness and honesty. Let us commemorate the holy martyrs, that we may be deemed worthy to be partakers of their trial. Let us pray for all those who have fallen asleep in the faith. Let us pray for the good condition of the air, and the ripening of the fruits. Let us pray for those that are newly-baptized, that they may be confirmed in the faith, that all may be mutually comforted by one another. Raise us up, O God, by Thy grace. Rising up, let us devote ourselves to God through JESUS CHRIST.

And let the Bishop say,

O God Who art great, great in name and counsel, powerful in Thy works, the God and FATHER of Thy holy Son JESUS CHRIST our Saviour, look upon this Thy flock, which Thou hast chosen through Him to the glory of Thy Name; sanctify us in body and soul; and grant that we being purified from all filthiness of flesh and spirit, may partake of the mystic blessings now lying before Thee, and judge none of us unworthy of them, but be Thou our supporter, our helper, and defender, through Thy CHRIST, with Whom glory, honour, laud, praise, and thanksgiving be to Thee and the HOLY GHOST for ever. Amen.

And after all have said Amen, let the Deacon say, Let us attend.

And the Bishop shall speak aloud to the People in this manner:

HOLY THINGS FOR HOLY PERSONS.

And let the People answer: There is one Holy, one LORD, one JESUS CHRIST to the glory of God the FATHER, blessed for evermore. Amen. Glory be to God in the highest, and on earth peace, good will towards men. Hosanna to the Son of David. Blessed be He that cometh in the Name of the LORD: God is the LORD, and He hath appeared unto us. Hosanna in the highest.

After this, let the Bishop receive; then the Presbyters, and Deacons, and Sub-Deacons, and Readers, and Singers, and Ascetics; and of the women, the Deaconesses, Virgins, and Widows. Afterwards the Children, and then all the People in order with fear and reverence, without tumult or noise. And the Bishop shall give the oblation, saying, The Body of CHRIST.

And let him that receives say, Amen.

And the Deacon shall hold the cup, and when he gives it, let him say, The Blood of CHRIST, the cup of life.

And let him that drinks say, Amen.

Let the Thirty-third Psalm be said while the rest are receiving; and when all, both men and women, have received, let the Deacons take up that which is over and carry them into the Sacristy. (11)

And let the Deacon say, when the Singers have finished,

Having received the precious Body and precious Blood of CHRIST, let us give thanks to Him Who hath vouchsafed that we should receive His holy mysteries,—and let us beseech Him that they may not be to us to judgment, but to salvation; to the advantage of soul and body, to the preservation of godliness, to the forgiveness of sins, to the life of the world to come. Let us rise. In the grace of CHRIST, let us commend ourselves to God, the only-ungotten God, and to His CHRIST.

And let the Bishop give thanks.

Master, God Almighty, Father of CHRIST, Thy

(11) 'Εἰς τὰ παστοφόρια. The word seems originally to have been used of that which was borne on a shrine: from παστόν, a small chapel; and that again from πάσσω, either in the sense of ornamental work generally, or of embroidery in particular, from the curtain hung before such a shrine.

Blessed Son, Who art ready to hear them that with uprightiness call upon Thee; Who also knowest the petitions of them that are silent; we yield Thee thanks that Thou hast vouchsafed us to receive Thy holy mysteries, which Thou hast afforded us, to the preservation of godliness, to the remission of sins, because the name of Thy CHRIST has been called upon us, and we have been made members of Thy family. Thou That hast separated us from fellowship with the wicked, unite us with them that are hallowed to Thee: establish us in the truth by the coming down of the HOLY GHOST: that which we know not do Thou reveal: that which is wanting in us do Thou fill up; in that which we know do Thou strengthen us: guard continually Thy Priests blameless in Thy service: keep evermore kings in peace, rulers in righteousness, the atmosphere in good temperature, the fruits in abundance, the world in all-powerful⁽¹²⁾ forethought. Soften the natures that delight in war: turn again that which has gone astray: hallow Thy people: continually preserve them that are in chastity: preserve in faith those who are in marriage: fill with might them that observe continence: bring the babes to ripe age: confirm the newly-initiated: educate the catechumens, and cause them to become worthy of initiation; and bring us all together to the kingdom of heaven: through CHRIST JESUS our LORD: through Whom.

And let the Deacon say,

To God, through His CHRIST, bow down and receive the blessing.

⁽¹²⁾ I would propose to substitute for παραλκῆ, which does not seem to give any particular sense here, the word παραλῆ, which is used by Nicander, in the sense of all-healing, and which would better respond to the general sense.

And let the Bishop pray, saying,

God, the Almighty, the True and Incomparable, Who art ever existent, and all present, and existest in nothing; Thou Who art not circumscribed by places, Who art not aged by times, Who art not limited by ages, Who art not led aside by words; Who art not subject to generation, Who needest not guard, Who art superior to destruction, Who art unsusceptible of turning, Who art immutable by nature, Who inhabitest the light which no man can approach unto, Who art comprehensible to all rational natures that seek Thee with good feeling, Who art invisible by Thy nature, Who art comprehended of them that with good will seek Thee: the God of Israel, of him that truly⁽¹³⁾ seeth Thee: of Thy people that believeth in Christ: be favourable and hear me for Thy Name: and bless them that have bowed down their necks to Thee, and give to them the desires of their hearts so far as may be expedient for them; and grant that none of them may be rejected from Thy kingdom; but sanctify them, guard, shelter, assist, preserve them from the enemy, and from every adversary. Guard their houses; preserve their comings in and their goings out: for to Thee is glory, laud, magnificence, worship, adoration, and to Thy Son JESUS, Thy CHRIST, our LORD and God and King, and to the HOLY GHOST, now and ever, and to ages and ages. Amen.

And let the Deacon say, Depart in peace.

These things we, the Apostles, enjoin concerning the Mystic Service to you, the Bishops, the Priests, and the Deacons.

⁽¹³⁾ Allusion is made to the derivation of Israel—"that sees God."

OF

S. Chrysostom.

Deacon. Sir, give the blessing.

Priest. Blessed be the kingdom of the FATHER, the SON, and the HOLY GHOST, now and ever, and to ages of ages.

Choir. Amen.

Deacon. In peace let us make our supplications to the LORD.

Choir. LORD, have mercy: (and so at the end of every petition.)

Deacon. For the peace that is from above, and for the salvation of our souls, let us make our supplications to the LORD.

For the peace of the whole world, the stability of the holy Churches of God, and the union of all, let.

For this holy house, and them that in faith, piety, and the fear of God enter into it, let.

For our Archbishop N.; the venerable Presbytery, the Diaconate in CHRIST, all the Clergy and the laity, let.

For our most pious and divinely preserved kings, all their palace and their army, let.

That He would fight on their side, and subdue every enemy and adversary under their feet, let.

For this holy abode, the whole city and country, and them that inhabit it, in faith, let.

For beautifulness of air, plenty of the fruits of the earth, and peaceful times, let.

For them that voyage, that journey, that are sick, that labour, that are in bonds, and their safety, let.

That we may be preserved from all tribulation, wrath, danger, and necessity, let.

Assist, preserve, pity, and protect us, O God, by Thy grace.

Commemorating the all-holy, spotless, excellently laudable, and glorious Lady, the Mother of God and Ever-Virgin Mary, with All Saints, let us commend ourselves and each other and all our life to CHRIST our God.

Choir. To Thee, O LORD.

Priest (aloud). For all glory, worship, and honour befits Thee, FATHER, SON, and HOLY GHOST, now and ever, and to ages of ages. Amen.

The first Antiphon is sung by the Choir, and the Priest saith the Prayer of the first Antiphon. The Deacon, having made a reverence, leaves his place, and goes and stands before the Icon of the Mother of God, (2) looking towards the Icon of CHRIST, taking hold of the Orarion with three fingers of his right hand.

[First Antiphon. (2)]

Stichos. The heavens declare the glory of God: and the firmament sheweth His handywork.

By the intercession of the Mother of God.

(1) This rubric is not given in the older editions. In the Russian Church it is worded differently, but with the same meaning. "The Deacon goes and stands before the icon of CHRIST." But both directions simply place him on the north side of the holy doors, under the icon of the Panaghia, there represented.

(2) As an example of these Antiphons, I have given those for Pentecost; and shall do so in the succeeding Antiphons.

Stichos. One day telleth another: and one night certifieth another.

By the intercession of the Mother of God.

Stichos. There is neither speech nor language: but their voices are heard among them.

Prayer of the first Antiphon.

Lord our God, of boundless might, and incomprehensible glory, and measureless compassion, and ineffable love to man, look down, O Lord, according to Thy tender love, on us, and on this holy house, and shew to us, and to them that pray with us, the riches of Thy mercies and compassions.

And after the Antiphon hath been sung, the Deacon comes and stands in the accustomed place, adores and says,

Again and again in peace let us make our supplications to the Lord.

Assist, preserve, pity, and protect us, O God.

Commemorating the all-holy, undefiled, excellently laudable, glorious Lady, &c.

Exclamation. For Thine is the strength, and Thine is the kingdom, the power and the glory, FATHER, &c.

In like manner the Choir sing the second Antiphon. The Deacon doth the same as in the former Prayer.

[Second Antiphon.

Stichos. The Lord hear thee in the day of trouble: the Name of the God of Jacob defend thee.

Save us, O good PARACLETE, who chant to Thee Alleluia.

Stichos. Send thee help from the Sanctuary: and strengthen thee out of Sion.

Save us, O good PARACLETE, who chant to Thee Alleluia.

Stichos. Remember all thy offerings; and accept thy burnt sacrifice.

Save us, O good PARACLETE, who chant to Thee Alleluia.

Glory. Both now.

The Only-Begotten Son and Word of God.]

The Prayer of the Second Antiphon.

Lord our God, save Thy people, and bless Thine inheritance; guard the fulness of Thy Church: hallow them that love the beauty of Thine house. Glorify them in recompence with Thy divine power: and forsake not them that put their trust in Thee.

Deacon. Again and again, in peace, &c.

Assist, preserve, &c.

Commemorating the most holy, &c.

Exclamation. For Thou art the good God, and the lover of men, and to Thee we ascribe, &c.

The Prayer of the Third Antiphon. ()*

Thou, Who hast given us grace, at this time, with one accord, to make our common supplications unto

(*) It would be curious to trace how this prayer came into our Prayer-Book: for there is no reason to suppose the Reformers intimately acquainted with the formularies of the Eastern Church.

Thee: and dost promise that, when two or three are gathered together in Thy Name, Thou wilt grant their requests: fulfil now, O LORD, the desires and petitions of Thy servants, as may be most expedient for them: granting us in this world knowledge of Thy truth, and, in the world to come, life everlasting.

And while the Third Antiphon is being sung by the Choir, or, if it be Sunday, the Beatitudes, () when they come to the Doxology, the Priest and Deacon make three reverences before the Holy Table. Then the Priest, taking the Holy Gospel, giveth it to the Deacon: and thus going through the north portion of the Sanctuary, preceded by lamps, they make the LITTLE ENTRANCE.*

[Third Antiphon.

Stichos. The king shall rejoice in Thy strength, O LORD: exceedingly glad shall he be of thy salvation.

Blessed art Thou, CHRIST our God.

Thou hast given him his heart's desire; and hast not denied him the request of his lips.

Blessed art Thou, CHRIST our God.

Stichos. For Thou shalt prevent him with the blessings of goodness: and shalt set a crown of pure gold upon his head.

Blessed art Thou, CHRIST our God.

Stichos. He asked life of Thee, and Thou gavest him a long life: even for ever and ever.

Blessed be Thou, CHRIST our God.

(*) It is strange that Gear should not have known that our Lord's Beatitudes were here intended; or at least should not have been certain of it. "Hymni," says he, "sanctorum beatitudinis memoriam recolentes: vel potius ex beatitudines de quibus S. Matthæi v.: vel tandem ipsorum viventium vota pro defunctorum requie."

Isodicon. (*) Be Thou exalted, LORD, in Thine own strength: so will we sing and praise Thy power.

Save us, O good PARACLETE, who sing to Thee Alleluia.)

Deacon (in a low voice.) Let us make our supplications to the LORD.

Priest secretly saith the Prayer of the Entrance.

Master, LORD, and our God, Who hast disposed in heaven troops and armies of Angels and Archangels, for the ministry of Thy glory: grant that with our entrance there may be an entrance of holy Angels, ministering together with us, and with us glorifying Thy goodness.

For to Thee is due all honour, &c.

The Prayer being finished, the Deacon pointing with his right hand to the east, and holding his Orarion with three fingers, saith to the Priest.

Sir, bless the Holy Entrance.

Priest. Blessed be the entrance of Thy Saints, always, now and ever, and to ages of ages.

Then the Deacon thus goes to the Hegumen, () if any be present, who kisseth the Gospel; but if none be present, the Priest kisseth it.*

And when the Troparia are ended, the Deacon comes forth into the middle, and standing before the Priest, raiseth his hands a little, and showing the Holy Gospel, saith with a loud voice,

(*) The anthem accompanying the Little Entrance.

(*) That is, the Abbat. The rubrics of this Liturgy assume that celebration in a monastery, or in a parish church served by monks, is the rule.—L.

Wisdom, stand up. (7)

Then he himself adores, and the Priest behind him: and they both go to the holy Bema, and the Deacon puts down the Holy Gospel on the Holy Table, and the Choir sing the accustomed Troparia, and when they are singing the last, the Deacon saith,

Let us make our supplications to the Lord. (8)

Priest. For holy art Thou, our God; and we ascribe glory to Thee, FATHER, SON, and HOLY GHOST, now and for ever.

Deacon. And to ages of ages.

Choir. Amen.

The Choir sing the Trisagion.

Holy God, Holy and Mighty, Holy and Immortal, have mercy upon us. (Five times.)

In the meantime the Priest saith secretly the Prayer of the Trisagion.

God, Which art holy, and retest in the holies, Who art hymned with the voice of the Trisagion by the Seraphim, and glorified by the Cherubim, and adored by all the heavenly powers; Thou Who didst from nothing call all things into being; Who didst make man after Thine image and likeness, and didst adorn him with all Thy graces; Who givest to him that seeketh wisdom and understanding, and passest not by the sinner, but dost give repentance unto salvation; Who hast vouchsafed that we, Thy humble and unworthy servants, should stand even at this time before the glory of Thy

(7) This seems the more natural reading; but many editions read, cope, which must be interpreted to mean, "In wisdom stand up;" and thus be a warning against the sin and folly of now sitting.

(8) In the older copies this is thus given: "Sir, Bless the time of the Trisagion."

holy Altar, and should pay to Thee the worship and praise that is meet; receive, Lord, out of the mouth of sinners the hymn of the Trisagion, and visit us in Thy goodness. Forgive us every offence, voluntary and involuntary. Sanctify our souls and bodies, and grant that we may serve Thee in holiness all the days of our life; through the intercessions of the Holy Mother of God, and all the Saints who have pleased Thee since the beginning of the world. (Aloud.) For holy art Thou, our God, and to Thee.

When this Prayer is finished, the Priest also and Deacon say the Trisagion, making at the same time three reverences before the holy Table. Then the Deacon saith to the Priest, Sir, give the order. And they go towards the throne.

And the Priest saith as he goes,

Blessed is he that cometh in the Name of the Lord.

Deacon. Sir, bless the throne.

Priest. Blessed art Thou upon the throne of Thy glory, Who sittest upon the Cherubim, always, now and ever, and to ages of ages.

And when the Choir have finished the Trisagion, the Deacon, coming before the holy doors, saith,

Let us attend.

Reader. Alleluia. (9)

(9) Here, as in the Rubric at the end of the Epistle, the Greek runs thus: Alleluia, a Psalm of David. But no Psalm is here sung; and therefore the question arises, what is the reason of the insertion. Some commentators receive it as an explanation of the Alleluia; as much as to say, that this ascription of praise was of the composition of David. But this seems very harsh. Were there any trace in Greek Deacon. Wisdom.

The Reader saith the Prokimenon ⁽¹⁰⁾ of the Apostle,
e. g. on the Festival of S. Demetrius.

The righteous shall rejoice in the LORD.
Stichos. Hear, O God, my voice.
Deacon. Let us attend.

The Apostle is read.

And the Apostle being ended, the Priest saith,

(11) Peace be to thee.
Reader. Alleluia.

While the Alleluia is being sung, the Deacon goes to the Priest, and after asking for a blessing from him, censes the holy Table in a circle, and the whole sanctuary, and the Priest. And the Priest saith the Prayer before the Gospel.

O LORD and lover of men, cause the pure light of Thy Divine knowledge to shine forth in our hearts, and open the eyes of our understanding, that we may comprehend the precepts of Thy Gospel. Plant in us also the fear of Thy blessed commandments, that we, trampling upon all carnal lusts, may seek ritualists of a psalm having anciently followed, I should believe that after the rite was given up the Rubric remained. The addition is not to be found in the Slavonic.

(10) The Prokimenon, or short anthem before the Epistle, consists of a verse and response: generally, but not always, taken from the Psalms, but hardly ever consisting of consecutive phrases. According to S. Germanus, the Prokimenon signifies the previous proclamation by the Prophets of that Christ of Whom the Epistle is about to tell. And the verses are chosen with that intent, e. g. in the festival of the Expectation of the Nativity:

I. The LORD said unto Me, Thou art My Son.

II. Desire of Me, and I shall give thee the heathen for Thine inheritance.

(11) This is technically called εἰρημῶν τῶν Ἀπόστολων.

a heavenly citizenship, both saying and doing always such things as shall well please Thee. For Thou art the illumination of our souls and bodies, CHRIST our God; and to Thee we ascribe, &c.

And the Deacon drawing nigh to the Priest, and laying aside his censer, and bowing to the Priest and holding the Orarion with the Holy Gospel with the tips of his fingers, in the place of the Holy Table whereon it lies, saith, Sir, bless the preacher of the holy Apostle and Evangelist N.

And the Priest, signing him with the Cross, saith,

God, through the preaching of the holy and glorious Apostle and Evangelist, N., give the word with much power to thee who evangelizest, to the accomplishment of the Gospel of His beloved Son our LORD JESUS CHRIST.

Deacon. Amen.

And having adored with reverence the Holy Gospel, he takes it up; and going through the holy doors, preceded by tapers, he stands in the ambon, or in the appointed place. And the Priest standing before the holy Table, and looking towards the west, saith, with a loud voice,

Wisdom, stand up; let us hear the Holy Gospel
Peace to all.

Deacon. The Lection from the Holy Gospel according to N.

Priest. Let us attend.

The Gospel is read.

When it is finished, the Priest saith to the Deacon,
Peace be to thee that evangelizest.

And the Deacon going to the holy doors, returns the Holy Gospel to the Priest; and standing in the accustomed place, begins thus:

Let us all say with our whole heart and soul,

Choir. Lord, have mercy. (Thrice.)

Lord Almighty, God of our fathers, we pray Thee, hear, and have mercy upon us.

Have mercy upon us, O God, after Thy great goodness: we pray Thee hear, and have mercy upon us.

Prayer of the Ectene.

Lord our God, we pray Thee to receive this intense supplication from Thy servants, according to the multitude of Thy mercy, and send down Thy compassions upon us, and upon all Thy people, which is expecting the rich mercy that is from Thee.

Deacon. Further we pray for pious and orthodox Christians.

People. Lord, have mercy. (And so at the end of every petition.)

Further we pray for our Archbishop N.

Further we pray for our brethren, Priests, Monks, and all our brotherhood in Christ.

Further we pray for the blessed and ever memorable founders of this holy abode, and for all our fathers and brethren that have fallen asleep before us, and lie here, and the orthodox that lie everywhere.

Further we pray for mercy, life, peace, health, safety, protection, forgiveness, and remission of sins of the servants of God, the brethren of this holy habitation.

Further we pray for them that bring forth fruit and do good deeds in this holy and all-venerable temple, that labour, that sing, and for the people that stand around, and are expecting the great and rich mercy that is from Thee.

Exclamation. For Thou art the merciful God and the lover of men, and to Thee we ascribe.

Deacon. Catechumens, pray unto the Lord. Let us, the faithful, pray for the Catechumens, that the Lord may have mercy upon them, and may teach them the word of truth.

People. Lord, have mercy. And so at the end of each petition.

That He may reveal to them the Gospel of righteousness.

That He may unite them to His Holy Catholic and Apostolic Church.

Preserve, have mercy, support, and continually guard them, O God.

Catechumens, bow your heads to the Lord.

Prayer of the Catechumens before the holy Oblation.

Lord our God, Who dwellest on high, and beholdest the humble, Who didst send forth the salvation of the race of man, Thine Only-Begotten Son, our God and Lord JESUS CHRIST, look down upon Thy servants, the Catechumens, who have bowed their necks unto Thee; and make them worthy, in due season, of the laver of regeneration, of the forgiveness of sins, of the robe of immortality; unite them to Thy Holy Catholic and Apostolic Church, and number them together with Thy elect flock. (Aloud.) That they also, together with us, may glorify Thy honourable and majestic Name, FATHER, SON, and HOLY GHOST, now and ever, and to ages of ages.

Choir. Amen.

The Priest unfolds the Corporal.

EXPULSION OF THE CATECHUMENS.

Deacon. Let all the Catechumens depart; ⁽²⁾ Catechumens depart; let all the Catechumens, depart: let not any of the Catechumens —; let all the faithful;—

Again and again in peace let us make our supplications to the LORD. And he saith the short Ectene: while the Priest saith secretly

The first Prayer of the Faithful, after the unfolding of the Corporal.

We yield Thee thanks, LORD GOD of Sabaoth, Who hast thought us worthy to stand even now at Thine Altar, and to fall down before Thy mercies, for our sins and the ignorances of Thy people: receive, O God, our supplications; make us worthy to offer to Thee supplications and prayers, and unbloody sacrifices for all Thy people; and strengthen us, whom Thou hast placed in this Thy ministry, with the strength of the HOLY GHOST, that we may without offence, and without scandal, in a pure testimony of our conscience, call upon Thee in every time and place: that hearing us Thou mayest be merciful to us in the multitude of Thy goodness.

Deacon. Assist, preserve, pity.

Wisdom.

Priest. Exclamation. For to Thee belongeth all glory, honour, and worship, FATHER, SON, and HOLY GHOST, now and ever, and to ages of ages.

Deacon. Again and again in peace let us make our supplications to the LORD. And he saith the short Ectene; while the Priest saith secretly

⁽²⁾ Literally, pass forward, (προελάθεις) but used quite in the sense of depart; and so translated in the Slavonic.

The second Prayer of the Faithful.

Again and oftentimes we fall down before Thee, and beseech Thee, O good God and lover of men, that Thou wouldest look upon our prayers, purify our souls and bodies from all pollution of flesh and spirit, and grant that our standing before Thy holy Altar may be irreprehensible and unblameable. Grant, O LORD, to them who pray together with us, advance in [holy] life, wisdom, and spiritual understanding; grant taem at all times with fear and love to serve Thee irreprehensibly: and without condemnation to partake of Thy holy mysteries, and to be thought worthy of Thy heavenly kingdom.

Deacon. Assist, preserve, &c.

Wisdom.

Priest. Exclamation. That, being ever guarded by Thy might, we may ascribe glory to Thee, FATHER, SON, and HOLY GHOST, now and ever, and to ages of ages.

Choir. Amen.

The Choir sing the Cherubic Hymn.

Let us, who mystically represent the Cherubim, and sing the holy hymn to the quickening TRINITY, lay by at this time all worldly cares; that we may receive the King of Glory, invisibly attended by the angelic orders. Alleluia, Alleluia, Alleluia.

Prayer which the Priest saith secretly, while the Cherubic Hymn is being sung. ⁽²⁾

⁽²⁾ As the Cherubic hymn was composed only in the time of Justinian, it is clear that the prayer of that hymn must be an insertion. And accordingly, it is not to be found in the very ancient Barberini MS. of this Liturgy, to which Gouras so often refers.

None is worthy among them that are bound with fleshly desires and pleasures to approach Thee, nor to draw near, nor to sacrifice unto Thee, King of Glory; for to minister to Thee is great and fearful, even to the heavenly powers themselves. Yet through Thine ineffable and measureless love, Thou didst unchangeably and immutably become man, and didst ⁽¹⁴⁾ take the title of our High Priest, and didst give to us the Hierurgy of this liturgic and unbloody Sacrifice, as being Lord of all: for Thou only, O Lord our God, rulest over things in heaven and things on earth, Who sittest upon the cherubic throne, Lord of Seraphim, and King of Israel, only holy, and resting in the holies. On Thee I importunately call, ⁽¹⁵⁾ That art only good and ready to hear, look upon me, a sinner, and Thine unworthy servant, and cleanse my soul and heart from an evil conscience; and strengthen, with the might of Thy Holy Ghost, me that have been endued with the grace of the Priesthood, that I may stand by this Thy holy Altar, and sacrifice Thy holy and spotless Body and precious Blood. For Thee I approach bowing my neck, and pray of Thee, Turn not Thy face away from me, nor reject me from the number of Thy sons; but condescend that these gifts may be offered to Thee by me, a sinner and Thine unworthy servant. For Thou art He that offerest, ⁽¹⁶⁾

⁽¹⁴⁾ Ἐχημάτισας. King, less correctly, "becamest." But in the new Greek, this verb means to assume a name; so Polybius, more than once.

⁽¹⁶⁾ That offerest and art offered, and receivest and art distributed. One should have thought that no great difficulty could be found or made in these words. That offerest—and art offered, and receivest and art distributed, CHRIST our God; and to Thee we ascribe, &c.

When this prayer is finished, they also say the Cherubic Hymn. Then the Deacon, taking the censor, and putting incense on it, goes to the Priest: and after receiving a blessing from him, censures the holy Table in a circle, and all the sanctuary, and the Priest: and he saith the 51st Psalm, and other penitential Troparia, such as he will, with the Priest. And they go to the Prothesis, the Deacon preceding. And the Deacon having censured the holy things, and said to himself, God be merciful to me a sinner, saith to the Priest, Sir, lift up.

And the Priest raising the Air, ⁽¹⁷⁾ puts it on the left shoulder of the Deacon, saying,

Lift up your hands in the sanctuary, and bless the Lord.

Then, taking the holy disk, he puts it with all care and reverence on the Deacon's head, the Deacon also holding the censor with one of his fingers. And the Priest himself taking the holy chalice in his hands, they go through the north part, preceded by tapers, and make

"for this He did once, when He offered up Himself."—and art offered, in the Oblation of the Mystic Sacrifice,—That receivest that Sacrifice, and art received by them that present it. However, about the year 1155 a great dispute arose on the question. A Deacon of Constantinople taught that this could not be the meaning of the passage, because the sac. See was not offered to CHRIST, but to the FATHER and the HOLY GHOST alone. A Council met at Constantinople, January 26th, 1156, under the Patriarch, Luke Chrysoberges, to decide the question: and Soterichus Pantengenus, Patriarch elect of Antioch, who had taught the new dogma, was declared unworthy of his office.

⁽¹⁷⁾ The fine veil which lies over the paten and chalice.—L.

THE GREAT ENTRANCE, ⁽¹²⁾

both praying for all, and saying, The LORD GOD remember us all in His kingdom, always, now and ever, and to ages of ages.

And the Deacon, going within the holy doors, stands on the right hand; and when the Priest is about to enter in, he saith to him,

The LORD GOD remember thy Priesthood in His kingdom.

Priest. The LORD GOD remember thy Diaconate in His kingdom, always, now and ever, and to ages of ages.

And the Priest sets down the chalice on the holy Table, and taking the holy disk from the head of the Deacon, he places it there also, saying,

Honourable Joseph took Thy spotless Body from the cross, and wrapped it in clean linen with spices, and with funeral rites placed it in a new tomb.

In the grave bodily, in Hades spiritually, as GOD, with the thief in paradise as in a throne, wast Thou, O CHRIST, with the FATHER and the HOLY GHOST. Who art incircumscrip and fillest all things.

How life-giving, how more beautiful than paradise, and verily more splendid than any royal chamber, is Thy tomb, O CHRIST, the fountain of our resurrection.

⁽¹²⁾ It is the custom of those who are sick, or who stand in need of any especial blessing, to kneel in the path of the Great Entrance, in order to receive the virtue of the Holy Mysteries. The custom of adoring that which is, as yet, mere bread and wine, with anticipative adoration, has always cost the Orientals much trouble to defend it; and it has been abolished by the Roman Censors in Uniat rites. A treatise on the subject, by Gabriel of Philadelphia, was published at Venice in 1604.

Then, taking the coverings from the holy disk and the holy chalice, he places them on one part of the holy Table; and taking the Air from the Deacon's shoulder, and censing it, he covers with it the holy things, saying, Honourable Joseph, down to in a new tomb.

And taking the censer from the Deacon's hands, he censeth the holy things thrice, saying,

Then shall they offer young bullocks upon Thine Altar.

And putting down the censer, and letting fall his phelonion, ⁽¹³⁾ and bowing his head, he saith to the Deacon,

Remember me, brother and fellow-minister.

Deacon. The LORD GOD remember thy Priesthood, in His kingdom.

Then the Deacon also himself slightly bowing his head, and holding his Orarion with the three fingers of his right hand, saith to the Priest, Holy Sir, pray for me.

Priest. The HOLY GHOST shall come upon thee, and the power of the Highest shall overshadow thee.

Deacon. The same SPIRIT shall be fellow-minister with us, all the days of our life.

And again, Holy Sir, remember me.

Priest. The LORD GOD remember thee in His kingdom, always, now and ever, and to ages of ages.

Deacon. Amen.

And having kissed the Priest's hand, he goes out, and standing in the customary place, saith, ⁽¹³⁾ The Eastern chasuble.—L.

Let us accomplish our supplications to the LORD.

Choir. Kyrie eleison. And so to the end of each suffrage.

Deacon. For the precious gifts that have been proposed, let us make our supplications to the LORD.

That we may be delivered from all afflictions, passion, danger, and necessity, let.

Assist, preserve.

That the whole day may be perfect, holy, peaceful, without sin, let us ask from the LORD.

Choir. Grant, O LORD. And so at the end of every suffrage.

Deacon. The angel of peace, faithful guide, guardian of our souls and bodies, let.

Pardon and remission of our sins and our transgressions, let.

Things that are good and profitable for our souls, and peace to the world, let.

Christian ends of our lives, without torment, without shame, peaceful, and a good defence at the fearful tribunal, let us ask from CHRIST.

Commemorating the all-holy.

As this Ectene⁽²⁾ is being said, the Priest saith secretly the Prayer of Oblation, after the Divine Gifts are placed on the holy Table.

LORD, GOD Almighty, Only Holy, Who receivest the sacrifice of praise from them that call upon Thee with their whole heart, receive also the supplication of us sinners, and cause it to approach to Thy holy Altar, and enable us to present gifts to Thee, and spiritual sacrifices for our sins, and for the errors of the people: and cause us to find grace in Thy sight, that this our sacrifice may be acceptable unto Thee, and that the good SPIRIT of Thy grace may tabernacle upon us, and upon these gifts presented unto Thee, and upon all Thy people.

⁽²⁾ It is not worth while to notice the verbal differences of this Ectene. In no part of the Liturgy do MSS. and editions so much vary. But the variations are quite non-essential.

Priest. (Exclamation.) Through the mercies of Thine Only-Begotten SON, with Whom Thou art to be blessed, and with the all-holy, and good, and quickening SPIRIT, now and ever, and to ages of ages. Peace to all.

Deacon. Let us love one another, that we may with one mind confess.

Choir. FATHER, SON, and HOLY GHOST, the Consubstantial, and Undivided TRINITY.

And the Priest, having thrice adored, kisses the Holy Gifts, as they lie veiled, saying secretly thrice.

I will love Thee, O LORD, my strength; the LORD is my stony rock and my defence.

If there be two or more Priests, each kisses the Holy Things, and then each other on the shoulder, saying,

CHRIST is among us.

He is and will be.

In like manner also the Deacon adores thrice where he stands, and kisses his Orarion on its cross, and thus exclaims,

The doors! the doors! ⁽²⁾ Let us attend in wisdom.

⁽²⁾ The meaning of this sentence is very obscure. Some authors, as Cabasilas, explain it mystically, as an injunction to close the doors of the mind against worldly business and thoughts; others, much more naturally, take it as an injunction to the Clerks, not to allow heathens, &c., to be present at the Divine Mysteries.

People. I believe in one God, &c.

Deacon. Stand we well: stand we with fear: let us attend to offer the holy Oblation in peace.

Choir. The mercy of peace, the sacrifice of praise.

And the Deacon adores, and comes to the holy Bema; and taking the fan, fans the Oblation reverently.

And the Priest taking the Air from the Holy Gifts, lays it on one side, saying.

The grace of our LORD JESUS CHRIST, and the love of GOD the FATHER, and the fellowship of the HOLY GHOST, be with you all.

Choir. And with thy spirit.

Priest. Lift we up our hearts.

Choir. We lift them up unto the LORD.

Priest. Let us give thanks unto the LORD.

Choir. It is meet and right to worship the FATHER, and the SON, and the HOLY GHOST, the consubstantial and undivided TRINITY.

Priest. It is meet and right to hymn Thee, to bless Thee, to praise Thee, to give thanks to Thee, to worship Thee, in every part of Thy dominion. For Thou art GOD, ineffable, inconceivable, invisible, incomprehensible, the same from everlasting to everlasting; Thou and Thine Only-Begotten SON, and the HOLY GHOST. For Thou broughtest us forth to being from nothing, and when we had fallen didst raise us up again, and gavest not over until Thou hadst done every thing that Thou mightest bring us to heaven, and bestow on us Thy kingdom to come. For all these things we give thanks to Thee, and to Thine Only-Begotten SON, and Thy HOLY GHOST, for Thy benefits which we know, and which we know not, manifest and concealed, which Thou hast bestowed upon us. We give Thee thanks also for this ministry which Thou hast vouchsafed to receive at our hands: although there stand by Thee thousands of Archangels, and ten thousands of Angels, the Cherubim, and the Seraphim that have six wings, and are full of eyes, and soar aloft on their wings, singing, vociferating, shouting, and saying the triumphal hymn:

Choir. Holy, Holy, Holy, LORD of Sabaoth: heaven and earth are full of Thy glory. Hosanna in the highest: blessed is He that cometh in the Name of the LORD: Hosanna in the highest.

Then the Deacon, taking the asterisk from the holy disk, signs it with the sign of the cross, and having saluted it, replaces it.

Priest. We also with these blessed powers, LORD and Lover of men, cry and say, Holy art Thou and All-Holy, Thou and Thy Only-Begotten SON, and Thine HOLY GHOST. Holy art Thou and All-Holy, and great is the majesty of Thy glory:

Who didst so love Thy world, as to give Thine Only-Begotten SON, that whoso believeth in Him might not perish, but might have everlasting life: Who having come, and having fulfilled for us all the dispensation, in the night wherein He was betrayed, or rather surrendered Himself for the life of the world, took bread in His holy and pure and spotless hands, and gave thanks, and blessed, and hallowed, and brake, and gave to His holy Disciples and Apostles, saying, (aloud.) Take, eat: this is My Body which is broken for you for the remission of sins.

Choir. Amen.

Priest, (in a low voice,) Likewise after supper He took the cup, saying, (aloud.) Drink ye all of this:

This is My Blood of the New Testament, which is shed for you and for many for the remission of sins.

Choir. Amen.

Priest, (in a low voice,) We therefore remembering this salutary precept, and all that happened on our behalf, the Cross, the Tomb, the Resurrection on the third day, the Ascension into heaven, the Session on the right hand, the second and glorious coming again, (aloud,) in (⁂) behalf of all, and for all, we offer Thee Thine own of Thine own.

Choir. Thee we hymn, Thee we praise: to Thee we give thanks, LORD, and pray to Thee, our God.

Priest, (in a low voice,) Moreover we offer unto Thee this reasonable and unbloody sacrifice: and beseech Thee and pray and supplicate; send down Thy HOLY GHOSt upon us, and on these proposed gifts.

The Deacon lays down the veil, and goes nearer to the Priest, and they both adore thrice before the holy Table, praying secretly, saying,

God be merciful to me a sinner.

Then

LORD, Who didst send down Thy HOLY GHOSt the third hour on the Apostles, take Him not from us, O good God, but renew Him in us who pray to Thee:

Then

Make me a clean heart, O God, and renew a right spirit within me. Cast me not away from Thy presence.

Glory.

Blessed art Thou, CHRIST our God, Who didst fill the fishermen with all manner of wisdom, sending down upon them the HOLY GHOSt: and by them (⁂) κατὰ πάντα is better rendered by in relation to all, or in behalf of all, than by the usual version, in all.

hast brought the whole world into Thy net, O Lover of men: glory be to Thee.

Both now.

When the Highest came down and confounded the tongues, He divided the nations; when He distributed the tongues of fire, He called all to unity, and with one voice we praise the HOLY GHOSt.

Then the Deacon bowing his head, and pointing with his Orarion to the Holy Bread, saith in a low voice,

Sir, bless the holy bread.

The Priest standeth up, and thrice maketh the sign of the Cross on the Holy Gifts, saying,

And make this bread the precious Body of Thy CHRIST.

Deacon. Amen. Sir, bless the holy cup.

Priest. And that which is in this cup, the precious Blood of Thy CHRIST.

Deacon. Amen. And pointing with his Orarion to both the Holy Things,

Sir, bless.

Priest. Changing them by Thy HOLY GHOSt.

Deacon. Amen, Amen, Amen.

Then the Deacon bows his head to the Priest, and saith,

Holy Sir, remember me a sinner.

Then he stands in his former place, and taking the fan, fans the Oblation as before.

Priest. So that they may be to those that participate, for purification of soul, forgiveness of sins, communion of the HOLY GHOSt, fulfilment of the kingdom of heaven, boldness towards Thee, and not to judgment nor to condemnation.

And further we offer to Thee this reasonable service on behalf of those who have departed in the faith, our ancestors, Fathers, Patriarchs, Prophets, Apostles, Preachers, Evangelists, Martyrs, Confessors, Virgins, and every just spirit made perfect in the faith.

The Deacon censes the holy Table in a circle, and commemorates such of the living and dead as he will.

Priest, (aloud.) Especially the most holy, undefiled, excellently laudable, glorious Lady, the Mother of God and Ever-Virgin Mary.

Choir. In Thee, O full of grace, (as in the Liturgy of S. James.)

The Deacon reads the diptychs of the departed.

Priest. The holy John the Prophet, Forerunner, and Baptist, the holy, glorious, and all celebrated Apostles, Saint N. (the Saint of the day), whose memory we also celebrate, and all Thy Saints, through whose prayers look down upon us, O God. And remember all those that are departed in the hope of the resurrection to eternal life, and give them rest where the light of Thy countenance shines upon them. Furthermore we beseech Thee, remember, O Lord, every orthodox bishopric of those that rightly divide the word of truth, the presbytery, the diaconate in CHRIST, and for every hierarchical order. Furthermore we offer to Thee this reasonable service for the whole world: for the Holy Catholic and Apostolic Church, and for them that live in chastity and holiness of life. For our most faithful kings, beloved of CHRIST, all their court and army. Grant to them, LORD, a peaceful reign, that we, in their peace, may lead a quiet and peaceable life in all godliness and honesty. (Aloud.) Chiefly,

O LORD, remember our Archbishop N., whom preserve to Thy holy Churches in peace, in safety, in honour, in health, in length of days, and rightly dividing the word of Thy truth.

The Deacon, by the holy doors, saith,

N. the Patriarch, Metropolitan, or Bishop. (as the case may be.)

Then he commemorates the diptychs of the living.

Priest, (secretly.) Remember, LORD, the city in which we dwell, and every city and region, and the faithful that inhabit it. Remember, LORD, them that voyage, and travel, that are sick, that are labouring, that are in prison, and their safety. Remember, LORD, them that bear fruit, and do good deeds in Thy holy Churches, and that remember the poor. And send forth on us all the riches of Thy compassion, (aloud.) and grant us with one mouth and one heart to glorify and celebrate Thy glorious and majestic Name, FATHER, SON, and HOLY GHOST, now and ever, and to ages of ages. And the mercies of the great God and our SAVIOUR JESUS CHRIST shall be with all of us.

The Deacon taking his time from the Priest, and standing in the accustomed place, saith, Commemorating all Saints, again and again in peace let us make our supplications to the LORD.

Choir. LORD, have mercy. (And so at the end of each petition.)

Deacon. For the venerable gifts now offered before Him and hallowed.

That our merciful God, the Lover of mankind, Who hath received them unto His holy and heavenly and spiritual Altar, for the savour of a sweet spiritual scent, may in return send down on us His Divine grace, and the gift of the HOLY GHOST.

That we may be preserved from all affliction, wrath, &c.

The Deacon continues the Ectene down to Christian ends of life.

The Priest meanwhile saith secretly,

To Thee, O LORD and Lover of men, we commend in pledge all our life and our hope, and beseech and pray, and supplicate: make us worthy to partake of Thy heavenly and terrible mysteries of this holy and spiritual Table, with a pure conscience, for the remission of sins, forgiveness of transgressions, participation of the HOLY GHOST, inheritance of the kingdom of heaven, boldness of access to Thee: not to judgment nor to condemnation.

Deacon. Having prayed for the oneness of the faith, and the participation of the HOLY GHOST, let us commend ourselves and each other and all our life to CHRIST our GOD.

Priest, (aloud.) And make us worthy, O LORD, with boldness and without condemnation to dare to call upon Thee, our GOD and FATHER which art in heaven, and to say,

People. Our FATHER.

Priest. For Thine is the kingdom.

Priest. Peace to all.

Deacon. Let us bow our heads to the LORD.

Priest. We render thanks unto Thee, O King invisible, Who hast framed all things by Thy measureless power, and in the multitude of Thy mercy hast brought all things into being from non-existence. Look down, O LORD, from heaven, upon them that have bowed their heads unto Thee, for they bowed them not to flesh and blood, but to Thee, the fearful God. Bestow, therefore, O LORD, on all of us an equal benefit from these offerings, according to the need of each: sail with them that sail, journey with them that journey, heal the sick, Thou Who art the Physician of our souls and bodies.

(Aloud.) Through the grace, and mercy, and love to men, of Thine Only-Begotten Son, with Whom, together with the most Holy, and good, and life-giving SPIRIT, Thou art blessed, now and ever, and to ages of ages. Amen.

Hear us, O LORD JESUS CHRIST our GOD, out of Thy holy dwelling-place, and from the throne of the glory of Thy Kingdom, and come and sanctify us, Thou That sittest above with the FATHER, and art here invisibly present with us: and by Thy mighty hand make us worthy to partake of Thy spotless Body and precious Blood, and by us all Thy people.

The Priest and the Deacons adore in the place where they stand, saying secretly thrice,

God be merciful to me a sinner.

And when the Deacon sees the Priest stretching forth his hands, and touching the holy Bread, to make the holy elevation, he exclaims,

Let us attend.

And the Priest, elevating the holy Bread, exclaims,

Holy things for holy persons.

Choir. One Holy, one LORD, JESUS CHRIST, to the glory of GOD the FATHER.

And the Choir sing the Koinonicon: (83) e.g. on the festivals of Apostles.

(83) This is a stichos, deriving its name, of course, from the Communion which it precedes; and is equivalent, though not exactly answering in place, to the Mozarabic Communion.

Their sound is gone out into all lands: and their words into the ends of the world.

The Deacon then girds his Orarion crosswise, and goes into the holy Bema, and standing on the right hand, (the Priest grasping the holy Bread,) saith, Sir, break the holy Bread.

And the Priest, dividing It into four parts with care and reverence, saith,

The LAMB of God is broken and distributed; He That is broken and not divided in sunder; ever eaten and never consumed, but sanctifying the communicants.

And the Deacon, pointing with his Orarion to the holy Cup, saith, Sir, fill the holy Cup.

And the Priest taking the upper portion, (that is, the IHC,) makes with It a Cross above the holy Cup, saying, The fulness of the cup, of faith, of the HOLY GHOST: and thus puts It into the holy Cup.

Deacon. Amen.

And taking the warm water, he saith to the Priest,

Sir, bless the warm water. ⁽²¹⁾

And the Priest blesseth, saying,

⁽²¹⁾ This very strange rite, the pouring warm water into the chalice after consecration, occasioned the greatest astonishment among the Latins at the Council of Florence. Dorotheus, Bishop of Mitylene, is said to have given the Pope ample satisfaction by his explanation, which, however, is unfortunately lost. But S. Germanus tells us: "As Blood and warm Water flowed both of them from the side of CHRIST, thus hot water, poured into the chalice at the time of consecration, gives a full type of the mystery to those who draw that holy liquid from the chalice, as from the life-giving side of our LORD."

Blessed is the fervour of Thy Saints, always, now and ever, and to ages of ages. Amen.

And the Deacon pours forth a sufficiency into the holy Cup, in the form of a Cross, saying,

The fervour of faith, full of the HOLY GHOST. Amen. (Thrice.)

Then, setting down the warm water, he stands a little way off. And the Priest, taking a particle of the holy Bread, saith, ⁽²²⁾ The blessed and most holy Body of our Lord and God and SAVIOUR JESUS CHRIST, is communicated to me, N., Priest, for the remission of my sins, and for everlasting life.

I believe, LORD, and confess.

Of Thy Mystic Supper to-day.

Let not, O LORD, the communion of Thy holy mysteries be to my judgment or condemnation, but to the healing of my soul and body.

And thus he partakes of that which is in his hands with fear and all caution. Then he saith, Deacon, approach.

And the Deacon approaches, and reverently makes an obeisance, asking forgiveness. And the Priest, taking the holy Bread, gives it to the Deacon: and the Deacon, kissing the hand that gives it, saith,

Sir, make me partaker of the precious and holy Body of our LORD and God and SAVIOUR JESUS CHRIST.

Priest. N. the holy Deacon is made partaker of the precious and holy and spotless Body of our LORD and GOD and SAVIOUR JESUS CHRIST, for the remission of his sins, and for eternal life.

And the Deacon going behind the holy Table, boweth his head and prayeth, and so doth the Priest.

Then the Priest standing up, takes the holy Chalice with its covering in both hands, and drinks three times, saying, I, N., Priest, partake of the pure and holy Blood of our LORD and GOD and SAVIOUR JESUS CHRIST, for the remission of my sins, and for eternal life.

And then he wipes the holy Cup and his own lips with the covering he has in his hands, and saith, Behold, this hath touched my lips, and shall take away my transgressions, and purge my sins.

Then he calls the Deacon, saying, Deacon, approach.

The Deacon comes, and adores once, saying,

Behold, I approach the Immortal King.

I believe, Lord, and confess.

Priest. N. the Deacon and servant of God is made partaker of the precious and holy Blood of our LORD and GOD and SAVIOUR JESUS CHRIST, for the remission of sins, and for eternal life.

And when the Deacon hath communicated, the Priest saith, Behold, this hath touched thy lips.

Then the Deacon, taking the holy disk, and holding it over the holy Chalice, wipes it thoroughly with the holy sponge; and with care and reverence covers it with the veil. In like manner he covers the disk with the asterisk, and that with its veil.

The Priest saith the prayer of Thanksgiving.

We yield Thee thanks, O LORD and Lover of men.

Benefactor of our souls, that Thou hast this day thought us worthy of Thy heavenly and immortal mysteries. Rightly divide our path, confirm us all in Thy fear, guard our life, make safe our goings: through the prayers and supplications of the glorious Mother of God and Ever-Virgin Mary, and all Thy Saints.

(26) And thus they open the doors of the holy D-ema: and the Deacon, having made one adoration, takes the Chalice with reverence, and goes to the door, and raising the holy Chalice, shews it to the people, saying, Approach with the fear of God, faith and love.

They who are to communicate draw near with all reverence, and hold their arms crossed on their breast; and the Priest, as he distributes the mysteries to each, saith,

N. the servant of God is made partaker of the pure and holy Body and Blood of our LORD and GOD and SAVIOUR JESUS CHRIST, for the remission of his sins, and life everlasting.

Then the Priest blesseth the people, saying aloud,

O God, save Thy people, and bless Thine heritage.

(26) From the Communion to the end of the office, all the Liturgies, except that of S. Chrysostom and the Armenian, where we have the rubrics in full, become almost inextricably confused; but most of all that of S. James. Three different stages have, however, to be distinguished: 1. The return of the Priest to the Altar; 2. His going thence to the prothesis, which in some of the Liturgies precedes, in others follows, the dismissal; 3. His return to the Altar, the gift of the antidoron, and the disrobing, which in the Constantinopolitan family is done before the dismissal: to which S. James adds, 4. The prayer said as he final y goes to the sacristy.

The Deacon and the Priest return to the holy Table, and the Priest censeth thrice: saying secretly,

Be Thou exalted, LORD, above the heavens: and Thy glory above all the earth.

Then, taking the holy disk, he puts it upon the head of the Deacon, and the Deacon taking it with reverence, and looking out towards the door, goes in silence to the prothesis, and puts it down: and the Priest having made obeisance, takes the holy Chalice, and turns towards the doors, saying secretly, Blessed be our God: (then aloud,) always, now and ever, and to ages of ages.

And the Deacon having come out, and standing in the accustomed place, saith, Standing upright, and having partaken of the divine, holy, spotless, immortal, heavenly, life-giving, and terrible mysteries of CHRIST, let us worthily give thanks to the LORD.

Assist, preserve.

That we may pass this whole day.

Exclamation. For Thou art our sanctification, and to Thee we ascribe glory, FATHER, SON, and HOLY GHOST, now and ever, and to ages of ages.

Choir. Amen.

Priest. Let us go on in peace.

Deacon. Let us make our supplications to the LORD.

Prayer behind the ambon, () said aloud by the Priest without the bema.*

LORD, Who blessest them that bless Thee, and sanctifiest them that put their trust in Thee, save

(*) This means behind the ambon as respects the bema: that is, before it as regards the people.

Thy people, and bless Thine inheritance: guard with care the fulness of Thy Church: hallow those that love the beauty of Thine house. Glorify them in return by Thy divine might, and forsake not them that put their trust in Thee; give Thy peace to Thy world, to Thy Churches, to our Priests and Kings: to the army, and to all Thy people; because every good gift and every perfect gift is from above, and cometh down from Thee, the Father of lights: and to Thee we ascribe.

This being ended, the Priest goes through the holy doors, and departs into the prothesis, and saith this Prayer.

Thou, O CHRIST our God, Who art Thyself the fulness of the Law and of the Prophets, Who didst accomplish all the dispensation of Thy Father, fill our hearts with joy and gladness always, now and ever, and to ages of ages. Amen.

Deacon. Let us make our supplication to the LORD.

Priest. The blessing of the LORD upon you. Then, Glory to Thee, our God: Glory to Thee.

People. Glory. Both now.

Then the Deacon, also going through the north part, gathers together the Holy Things, with fear and all safety: so that not the very smallest particle should fall out, or be left: and he washes his hands in the accustomed place. And the Priest goes forth, and gives the Antidoron () to the people. Then he goes into the holy

() The Antidoron is the bread which has been offered for the service of the Altar, but which has not been required for consecration: it in some respects resembles the pain léni of most of the French rites. It is not so very unusual a thing in Russia that those monks who practise the most regular asceticism, should take no other food during Lent, except the Antidoron.

bema, and puts off his priestly vestments, saying, Nunc dimittis, the Trisagion, and the other things. Then he saith the dismissory prayer of S. Chrysostom.

The grace of Thy lips, shining forth like a torch, illuminated the world, enriched the universe with the treasures of liberality, and manifested to us the height of humility: but do thou, our instructor by thy words, Father John Chrysostom, intercede to the WORD, CHRIST our God, that our souls may be saved.

LORD, have merc^y, (twelve times.)

Glory. Both now.

Thee, the more honourable than the Cherubim.

And he makes the dismissal: and having adored, and given thanks to God for all things, (20) he departs.

(20) This expression is taken from the favourite exclamation of S. John Chrysostom—the last words which he spoke—“Glory be to God for all things.”

THE DIVINE LITURGY

OF OUR FATHER AMONG THE SAINTS.

Basil the Great.

Prayer for the Catechumens before the Holy Eucharist, which the Priest utters secretly.

O LORD our God, Who dwellest in the highest, and lookest upon all Thy works; look upon Thy servants the Catechumens, who have bowed down their necks before Thee, and grant them the easy yoke: make them worthy members of Thy holy Church, and fit them for the laver of regeneration, the forgiveness of sins, and the garment of incorruption, unto the knowledge of Thee, our Very God.

Exclamation.

That they with us may glorify, etc., as in Liturgy of S. Chrysostom.

First Prayer of the Faithful after the Corporal is unfolded, which the Priest utters secretly.

Thou, O LORD, hast disclosed to us the great mystery of salvation; Thou hast counted us. Thy humble and unworthy servants, worthy to be ministers of Thy holy Altar, do Thou make us, by the power of the HOLY GHOST, fit for this office, that standing uncondemned before Thy holy glory, we may present unto Thee the sacrifice of praise. For Thou art He that workest all things in all men; grant, O LORD, that our sacrifice may be acceptable and well-pleasing in Thy sight, for our own sins, and for the ignorances of Thy people.

When the Priest has said the prayer, the Deacon recites the petition for Peace, if appointed, outside the holy Bema.

Again and again. Assist, preserve. Making mention of the all-holy, immaculate.

Deacon.—Wisdom.

*The Priest (aloud).—*For thee befits all glory, honour, and adoration, the FATHER, the SON, and the HOLY GHOST, now and ever, and to all ages of ages. Amen.

Second Prayer of the Faithful, which the Priest utters secretly.

O GOD, Who lookest in pity and compassion on our lowliness, Who hast set us, Thy lowly and sinful and unworthy servants, before Thy holy glory, to minister at Thy holy Altar, do Thou strengthen us by the might of Thy HOLY SPIRIT for this office, and give us a word in the opening of our mouth, to invoke the grace of Thy HOLY SPIRIT upon the gifts about to be set before Thee.

Prayer of the Offertory, after the deposition of the divine Gifts upon the Holy Table, which the Priest utters secretly.

O LORD our God, Who hast created us, and brought us into this life, Who hast shewn us ways unto salvation, Who hast graciously bestowed on us the revelation of heavenly mysteries; Thou art He Who hath appointed us unto this office, in the power of Thy HOLY SPIRIT. Vouchsafe then, O LORD, that we may be ministers of Thy New Testament, celebrants of Thy holy Mysteries: receive us, according to the multitude of Thy mercy, drawing near to Thy holy Altar, that we may be worthy to offer Thee this reasonable and unbloody sacrifice, for our own sins, and for the ignorances of the people: receiving which at Thy holy and spiritual altar, for a sweet-smelling savour, send down on us in return the grace of Thy HOLY SPIRIT. Regard us, O GOD, and look upon this our service, and accept it, as Thou didst accept the gifts of Abel, the sacrifices of Noah, the whole burnt-offerings of Abraham, the priestly ministrations of Moses and Aaron, the peace-offerings of Samuel, as Thou didst accept this true service from Thy holy Apostles, so accept these Gifts in Thy goodness, O LORD, from the hands of us sinners, that, counted worthy to minister blamelessly at Thy holy Altar, we may find the reward of faithful and wise stewards, in the dreadful day of Thy just retribution.

The Priest aloud.

The grace of our LORD JESUS CHRIST, and the love of GOD the FATHER, and the fellowship of the HOLY GHOST, be with you all.

Choir. And with thy spirit.

Priest. Let us lift up our hearts.

Choir. We lift them up unto the LORD.

Priest. Let us give thanks unto the LORD.

Choir. It is meet and right to worship the FATHER, SON, and HOLY GHOST, consubstantial and undivided Trinity.

The Priest, bending down, prays secretly.

JEHOVAH, MASTER, LORD, GOD, FATHER ALMIGHTY, adored: it is truly meet, and right, and befitting the majesty of Thy holiness, to praise Thee, hymn Thee, bless Thee, worship Thee, give thanks to Thee, glorify Thee, the one only God, and to offer Thee this our reasonable service in a contrite heart and a spirit of lowliness: for Thou art He Who hath vouchsafed unto us the knowledge of Thy truth. And who is sufficient to express Thy noble acts, or make all Thy praises to be heard, or to tell of all Thy wondrous works at every time? Master of all things, Lord of heaven and earth, and of every creature visible and invisible, Who sittest upon the throne of glory, and beholdest the abysses, unbeginning, invisible, incomprehensible, uncircumscribed, unchangeable FATHER of our LORD JESUS CHRIST the great God and Saviour of our hope, Who is the image of Thy goodness, seal of equal type, manifesting in Himself Thee the FATHER, Living Word, Very God before the worlds, Wisdom, Life, Sanctification, Power, Very Light, by Whom the HOLY GHOST was disclosed, the Spirit of truth, the grace of adoption, the earnest of future inheritance, the first-fruits of eternal blessings, the quickening might, the fount of sanctification, by Whom every reasonable and spiritual creature empowered serveth Thee and sends up to Thee the everlasting doxology, for all things are Thy servants. For the angels, arch-angels, thrones, principalities, powers, dominations, virtues, and many-eyed cherubim praise Thee, and the seraphim stand around Thee, the one having six wings, and the other having six wings, and with two cover their faces and with two their feet, with two they do fly, and shout one to the other with unceasing mouths, with unsilenced doxologies,

The Priest, aloud.

Singing, crying, shouting, and saying the triumphal hymn:

Choir. Holy, holy, holy, LORD God of Hosts, Heaven and earth are full of Thy glory. Hosanna in the highest. Blessed is He that cometh in the Name of the LORD. Hosanna in the highest.

Then the Deacon does the same as is set down in the Liturgy of Chrysostom, and the Priest prays secretly:

With the blessed Powers, O loving Master, we also cry and say, Holy art Thou, of a truth, and All-holy, and there is no measure for the majesty of Thy holiness, and Thou art sacred in all Thy works. Because in righteousness of true judgment Thou hast done all things unto us; for having ~~found~~ man, taking clay from the earth, and honouring him, O God, with Thine own image, Thou didst place him in the Paradise of pleasure, promising him immortality of life and enjoyment of eternal blessings in the keeping of Thy commandments. But when he disobeyed Thee the Very God, his Creator, and was led away by the guile of the serpent, and died in his own transgressions, Thou didst drive him forth in Thy righteous judgment, O God, from Paradise into this world, and madest him return to the earth whence he was taken, providing for him the salvation which is of regeneration, which is in Him Thine Anointed. For Thou didst not turn away utterly from Thy creature which Thou madest, O Good One, nor didst forget the work of Thy hands, but didst visit it in many ways through the bowels of Thy mercy. Thou didst send out prophets; Thou wroughtest mighty things through Thy Saints who pleased Thee in each generation. Thou spakest unto us by the mouth of Thy servants the Prophets, foretelling us the future salvation; Thou gavest the Law for an help; Thou appointedst Angels as guardians. And when the fulness of the times was come, Thou spakest unto us in Thy SON Himself, by Whom Thou madest the worlds. Who being the brightness of Thy glory, and the express image of Thy Person, and upholding all things by the word of His power, thought it not robbery to be equal to Thee, His God and FATHER, but being God before the worlds, was seen upon earth, and mingled with men, and incarnate of a holy Virgin, emptied Himself, taking the form of a servant, made like to the body of our humility, that He might make us like unto the image of His glory. For whereas sin entered into the world by man, and death by sin, Thine Only-Begotten Son, Who is in the bosom of Thee, God and FATHER, born of a woman, the holy Mother of God and ever-Virgin Mary, born under the Law, was pleased to condemn sin in His Flesh; that they who died in Adam might be made alive in Him Thy CHRIST, and dwelling as a citizen in this world, giving us statutes of salvation, and withdrawing us from the error of idolatry, He brought us unto the knowledge of Thee, Very God and FATHER, having acquired us for Himself a peculiar people, a royal priesthood, a holy nation, and having cleansed us in water, and hallowed us with the HOLY GHOST, He gave Himself a ransom unto death, wherein we were held, sold under sin, and passing by the Cross into Hades, that He might fill all things with Himself, He loosed the pains of death, and arising the third day, and having made with His flesh a way for the resurrection of the dead, because it was not possible that the Prince of Life should be overcome of corruption, He became the first-fruits of them that slept, the first-born from the dead, that He might have the pre-eminence in all things over all men, and ascending to the Heavens, he sat down on the right hand of Thy Majesty in the highest. And He shall come again to reward every man according to his works, and

He hath left us as a memorial of His saving Passion these things, which we have presented according to His commandments; for when He was about to go to His voluntary, and famous, and quickening death, in the night when He gave up Himself for the life of the world, taking bread into His holy and spotless hands, having shewn it to Thee, His God and FATHER, having given thanks, blessed, hallowed, broken it,

The Priest, lifting the holy Paten with his right hand, shews it, saying aloud,

He gave it to His holy Disciples and Apostles, saying: Take, eat: this is My Body which is broken for you, for the remission of sins.

The Choir chants. Amen.

Then the Priest and the Deacon do exactly as in the Liturgy of Chrysostom.

The Priest, secretly.

Likewise taking the Chalice of the fruit of the vine, having mingled, given thanks, blessed, hallowed it,

And lifting the holy Chalice in like manner reverently with his right hand, he shews it, saying aloud,

He gave it to His holy Disciples and Apostles, saying, Drink ye all of it, for this is My Blood of the New Testament, which is shed for you and for many, for the remission of sins.

The Choir chants. Amen.

The Priest, bowing his head, prays secretly:

Do this in remembrance of Me. For as often as ye shall eat this Bread, and drink this Cup, ye declare My Death, and confess My Resurrection. Therefore, we also, O Master, remembering this saving Passion, the quickening Cross, the three days' Burial, the Resurrection from the dead, the Ascension to the heavens, the Session on Thy Right Hand, GOD and FATHER, and His glorious and terrible second Coming,

The Priest, aloud.

Offer Thee Thine own of Thine own, according to all, and through all. (1)

The Choir chants. We hymn Thee, we bless Thee, we give thanks to Thee, O LORD, and beseech Thee, our God.

The Priest bowing his head, prays secretly.

Therefore, All-holy Master, we also, Thy sinful and unworthy servants, who have been counted worthy to minister at Thy holy Altar, not through our own righteousness, (for we have done no good thing upon the earth) but through Thy mercies and compassions, which Thou hast richly poured upon us, have courage to draw near to Thy holy Altar, and presenting the antitypes of the holy Body and Blood of Thy CHRIST, we beseech Thee, and invoke Thee, Holy of Holies, through the good-will of Thy

(1) Κατὰ πάντα, καὶ διὰ πάντα. This is obscure, but from the immediate sequence of the hymn of the Choir, I think the words belong to it, rather than to the words of oblation, and that we may supply χρόνον to the first πάντα, and χώρα to the second. The whole will then run thus: Priest. At all times and in all places. Choir. We hymn Thee, &c. L.

(2) This word is not peculiar to S. Basil. It is found in this same sense, applied to the visible species of Bread and Wine, in S. Macarius, Hom. xviii., S. Greg. Nazianz. Orat. xi., Germanus, Theor. Eccles.; Theodoret, Dialog. ii., and in the Apostolical Constitutions, v. 13. S. John Damascene and Mark of Ephesus both agree that the phrase is used only before consecration, just as Westerns similarly use the word elements, but not afterwards. But this is hardly borne out by bounty, that Thy HOLY GHOST may come upon us, and on these Gifts lying before Thee, and bless, and hallow, and shew. (2)

The Deacon lays aside the fan which he was holding, or the veil, and comes nearer to the Priest, and both adore thrice before the holy Table, praying moreover to themselves.

God be merciful to me a sinner. They say it secretly thrice.

Then,

O LORD, Who at the third hour didst send down Thine All-holy SPIRIT on the Apostles, take Him not, O good One, away from us.

Versicle. Make me a clean heart, O God, and renew a right spirit within me. Glory, &c.

the language of the Fathers generally, as for example, Tertullian and S. Augustine, who use the term figura of the consecrated species. The true explanation seems to be that the visible Body and Blood of CHRIST is called the τύπος, or seal, bearing the Image of God, and the consecrated species the ἀντίτυπος, impressed by the power of that seal, brought upon them by the HOLY GHOST, and yet not locally nor numerically commensurate (as S. Thomas Aquinas points out) with CHRIST's visible human form, though mystically identical with it.—L.

(3) ἀναδεικνῆαι. The Latin copies add here directly, "this Bread to be the precious Body of our LORD and GOD and SAVIOUR JESUS CHRIST, and that which is in this Chalice the very Blood of our LORD GOD and SAVIOUR JESUS CHRIST, which was shed for the life of the world." And as Mark of Ephesus actually cites these words in Greek as found in S. Basil, it seems that they have either dropped out here through the carelessness of copyists, or, as is more probable, that the passages which precede them are later interpolations. The verb ἀναδεικνῆαι does not merely mean to shew, but to make or constitute something, giving it a character which it had not before, and is so used more than once by the LXX.—L.

Blessed art Thou, CHRIST our God, &c., (as in S. Chrysostom, p. 96.)

Now and ever, &c. When the Highest, descending, &c.

Then the Deacon, bowing his head, points to the holy Bread with his stole, and says secretly,

Sir, bless the holy Bread.

And the Priest, standing up, signs the holy Gifts, saying secretly,

This bread to be the precious Body Itself of our LORD, and GOD, and SAVIOUR JESUS CHRIST.

Deacon. Amen. And then again, Sir, bless the holy Chalice.

And the Priest, blessing, says,

And this Chalice the Precious Blood Itself of our LORD, and GOD, and SAVIOUR JESUS CHRIST.

Deacon. Amen.

Priest. Which was shed for the life of the world.

Deacon. Amen. And again, pointing with his stole to both the Holy Things, he says, Sir, bless both.

And the Priest, blessing with the Holy Things with his hand, says, Changing them by Thy HOLY SPIRIT.

Deacon. Amen, Amen, Amen.

And the Deacon, bowing his head to the Priest, and saying, Remember, O Holy Master, me a sinner, shifts to his former position, taking up the fan again, as before.

Priest. That Thou wouldst unite all of us, who are partakers of the One Bread, and of the Chalice, to one another unto the fellowship of one HOLY SPIRIT, and not cause any of us to partake of the holy Body and Blood of Thy CHRIST unto judgment or condemnation, but that we may find mercy and grace with all Thy Saints, who have pleased Thee from [the beginning of] the world. Forefathers, Fathers, Patriarchs, Prophets, Apostles, Heralds, Evangelists, Martyrs, Confessors, Teachers, and every just spirit, perfected in faith. (Aloud.) Especially of our all-holy, immaculate, supremely blessed, glorious Lady, the Mother of God, and ever-Virgin Mary.

The Choir chants. The whole creation [as in Liturgy of S. James, p. 54.] But if it be Maundy Thursday, they chant, to the second oblique tone, (*)

O SON OF GOD, receive me to-day as a guest at Thy mystic Supper, for I will not disclose Thy mystery to Thy foes. I will not give Thee a kiss, like Judas, but like the thief. I confess to Thee. Remember me, O LORD, in Thy Kingdom.

If it be Holy Saturday, they sing the troparion to the first oblique tone. (†)

Let all mortal flesh be silent, &c., (as in Liturgy of S. James, p. 38.)

The Deacon censes the Holy Table round about, and commemorates the Diptychs of both the living and the sleeping, whomsoever he will.

The Priest prays secretly. [Commemorating] Saint John, Forerunner and Baptist, the holy and all-celebrated Apostles, Saint N. whose memorial we observe, and all Thy Saints, through whose intercession look upon us, O God. And remember all who have fallen asleep in the hope of resurrection unto life eternal.

Then the Priest commemorates whom he will, living and dead. And for the living he saith,

For salvation, visitation, remission of sins of the servant of God, N.

And for the dead, he saith,

For repose, and remission of the soul of Thy servant N. in a place of light, where sorrow and sighing are put away. Give him rest, O our God.

Then this prayer, secretly.

And give them rest, where the light of Thy countenance looketh upon them. Further we beseech Thee, O LORD, remember Thy holy Catholic and Apostolic Church, from one end of the world unto the other, and give peace unto it, which Thou hast purchased with the precious Blood of Thy CHRIST, and strengthen this holy House until the consummation of the world. Remember O LORD, them who have offered their holy gifts unto Thee, and them for whom, and through whom, or for what ends they have offered them. Remember, O LORD, them who bring forth fruit, and do good works in Thy holy Churches, and who remember the poor. Recompense them with Thy rich and heavenly graces. Vouchsafe them things heavenly for things earthly, eternal for temporal, incorruptible for corruptible things. Remember, O LORD, those in deserts, and mountains, and dens, and caves of the earth. Remember, O LORD, them who live in virginity, and piety, and discipline, and holy conversation. Remember, O LORD, our most pious and faithful Sovereigns, whom Thou hast given the right to reign over the earth. Crown them with the shield of truth, the shield of good will, (*) overshadow their head in the day of battle, strengthen their arm; uplift their right hand, stablish their kingdom; put all barbarous nations, which desire war, under them, vouchsafe them profound and inviolate peace; speak good things unto their heart for Thy Church and all Thy people, that we may spend during their calm time, a quiet and tranquil life in all piety and holiness. Remember, O LORD, every magistracy and authority, and our brethren in the palace, and all the army. Preserve the good in Thy goodness, and make the evil good in Thy bounty. Remember, O LORD, the people which stand around, and those who are absent for reasonable causes, and have mercy on them and us, according to the multitude of Thy mercy. Fill their stores with every good thing, keep their unions in peace and concord, rear up the infants, guide the youth, strengthen the old, comfort the timid, collect the scattered, bring back the erring, and unite them to Thy holy Catholic and Apostolic Church. Free those troubled by unclean spirits; sail together with them that sail; journey with travellers, stand before the widows, shield the orphans, deliver the captives, heal the sick. Remember, O God, them that are in trials, and banishments, and all tribulation, and necessity, and distress, and all them that need Thy great loving-kindness, and them which love us, and which hate us, and those who have enjoined us, unworthy as we are, to pray for them. And, O LORD our God, remember all Thy people, and pour out on all men Thy rich mercy, granting to all their petitions unto salvation. And them whom we, through ignorance, or forgetfulness, or the number of names, have not remembered, do Thou, O God, remember them, Who knowest the age and the name of each one, Who knowest each from his mother's womb. For Thou, O God, art the Help of the helpless, the Hope of the hopeless, the Saviour of the tempest-tost, the Harbour of mariners, the Physician of the sick. Be Thou Thyself all things to all men, Who knowest each, and his petition, his dwelling, and his need. Deliver, O Lord, this city, and every city and country, from famine, pestilence, earthquake, inundation, fire, sword, incursion of foreigners, and from civil war. (Aloud.) In the first place, remember, O Lord, our Archbishop N., whom vouchsafe to Thy holy Churches in peace, safe, honoured, healthful, long-lived, and rightly dividing the word of truth.

And the Deacon, standing by the door, saith,

For the most sacred Metropolitan, or Bishop, N., and for him who presents these holy gifts, etc., as far as And of all Thy servants and handmaids.

The Choir chants. And of all Thy servants and handmaids.

Priest, (secretly.) Remember, O Lord, every see of the orthodox, who rightly divide the word of Thy truth. Remember, O Lord, according to the multitude of Thy compassions and of my unworthiness; forgive me every offence voluntary and involuntary, and withdraw not the grace of Thy Holy Spirit from the Gifts lying before Thee, because of my sins. Remember, O Lord, the Presbytery, the Diaconate in Christ, and every priestly order, and make none of us ashamed who compass Thy holy Altar. Visit us in Thy bounty, O Lord, be manifest unto us in Thy rich compassions, vouchsafe us temperate and wholesome weather, bestow showers on the earth for the produce of fruit, bless the crown of the year of Thy goodness, quiet the schisms of the Churches, quench the boastings of the nations, quickly destroy the uprisings of heresies, by the power of Thy Holy Spirit; receiving us all into Thy kingdom, making us children of light, and children of the day. Vouchsafe us Thy peace and Thy love, O Lord our God, for Thou hast given us all things. (Aloud.) And grant us with one mouth and one heart to glorify and praise Thine all-honoured and majestic Name, of the FATHER, and of the SON, and of the HOLY GHOST, now and ever, and to ages of ages.

The Priest turns to the door, and blessing, saith aloud,

And the mercies of the great God and our Saviour JESUS CHRIST, shall be with us all.

And the Deacon (if he be present, otherwise, the Priest) goes forth, and standing in the usual place, saith, Making mention of all the Saints. Again and again in peace, let us beseech the Lord.

Choir. Lord, have mercy.

And so on, as in the Liturgy of Chrysostom.

For the precious Gifts offered and hallowed.
That our loving God.
That we may be delivered.

Priest, (secretly.) O our God, God of salvation, teach us Thyself to give Thee worthy thanks for Thy benefits, which Thou hast done, and still dost amongst us. Do Thou, our God, Who acceptest these Gifts, purify us from every pollution of flesh and spirit, and teach us to maintain perfect holiness in Thy fear, that receiving in the pure witness of our conscience the portion of Thy hallowed things, we may be united to the holy Body and Blood of Thy CHRIST, and receiving them worthily, we may have CHRIST dwelling in our hearts, and become the temple of Thy HOLY SPIRIT. Yea, O our God, and make none of us guilty of these awful and heavenly mysteries, nor weak in soul and body from partaking of them unworthily; but grant us unto our last breath worthily to receive the portion of Thy hallowed things, as the viaticum of life everlasting, as an acceptable plea at the terrible Judgment-seat of Thy CHRIST, that we also, with all Thy Saints, who have pleased Thee from [the beginning of] the world, may become partakers of Thine everlasting good things, which Thou hast prepared, O LORD, for them that love Thee.

Deacon.

Assist, save, have mercy, &c.

That we may pass all this day.

The angel of peace, a faithful guide.

Pardon and remission.

What are good and profitable to our souls.

That we may pass the remainder of our time.

That the ends of our life may be Christian.

Asking for the unity of the Faith, and the fellowship of the HOLY SPIRIT, let us present ourselves and one another, and all our life to CHRIST our LORD.

Priest, (aloud.) And count us worthy, O Master, boldly to venture, uncondemned, to call on Thee our heavenly God and FATHER, and to say,

People. Our FATHER, &c.

Priest. For Thine is the Kingdom, &c. Then. Peace to all.

Deacon. Let us bow down our heads unto the LORD.

Priest. MASTER, LORD, FATHER of compassions, and GOD of all consolation, bless, hallow, strengthen, stablish them who have bowed down their heads unto Thee, withdraw them from every evil deed, unite them to every good deed, and make them worthy to partake uncondemned of these Thy spotless and quickening mysteries, for the remission of sins, for the fellowship of the HOLY GHOST. (Aloud.) Through the grace, and compassion, and loving-kindness of Thine Only-Begotten SON, with Whom Thou art blessed, together with Thine all-holy, and good, and quickening SPIRIT, now and ever, and to ages of ages. Amen.

Priest. Advance, O LORD JESUS CHRIST, our GOD, from Thy holy dwelling-place, and from the throne of the glory of Thy kingdom, and come to hallow us, Who sittest on high with the FATHER, and art here invisibly present with us, and deign with Thy mighty Hand to give us a share in Thy spotless Body and Precious Blood, and by us to all the people. (Aloud.)

Deacon. Let us attend.

Priest. HOLY THINGS FOR HOLY PERSONS.

When the Communion is ended, and the holy Mysteries have been taken from the sacred Table, the Priest prays.

We give thanks to Thee, O LORD our God, for the reception of Thy holy, spotless, immortal, and heavenly mysteries, which Thou hast given us for the benefit and sanctification and healing of our souls and bodies. Thyself, O Master of all things, grant that the Communion of the holy Body and Blood of Thy CHRIST may be to us unto faith that maketh not ashamed, unto love unfeigned unto fulness of wisdom, unto healing of soul and body, unto defeat of every foe, unto fulfilment of Thy commandments, unto an acceptable plea at the terrible judgment-seat of Thy CHRIST.

Deacon. Rightly partaking of the divine, holy, spotless, immortal, heavenly, and quickening mysteries.

Assist, preserve, have mercy. &c.

Priest, (aloud.) For Thou art our sanctification, and unto Thee we ascribe the glory. FATHER, SON, and HOLY GHOST, now and ever, and to ages of ages. Amen.

Priest. Let us go forth in peace.

Deacon. Let us beseech the LORD

Prayer behind the Ambon, pronounced by the Priest.

O LORD, Who blessest them that bless Thee, and hallowest them that trust in Thee, save Thy people and bless Thine inheritance; guard the fulness of Thy Church, hallow them that love the beauty of Thine house; give them a glorious reward through Thy divine power, and leave us not, who hope in Thee. Grant peace unto Thy world, to Thy Churches, to the Priests, to our sovereigns, to the army, and to all Thy people, because every good gift, and every perfect gift is from above, coming down from Thee, the FATHER of lights; and to Thee we ascribe the glory, and thanksgiving, and adoration, FATHER, SON, and HOLY GHOST, now and ever, and to ages of ages.

Prayer while the Holy Things are put away.

The Mystery of Thy dispensation, O CHRIST our God, is accomplished and perfected, so far as lies in our power. For we have the memorial of Thy death, we have seen the figure of Thy resurrection, we have been filled with Thine unending life. We have enjoyed Thine inexhaustible pleasure, of which vouchsafe to count us all worthy in the world to come. Through the grace of Thine unbeginning FATHER, and Thy holy, and good, and quickening SPIRIT, now and ever, and to ages of ages. Amen.

Malabar.The Priest advances with the Deacon to the Altar.Priest. Glory to God in the highest.Deacon. Amen.Priest. Glory to God in the highest.Deacon. Amen.

Priest and Deacon. And on earth peace, and a good hope to men. Our FATHER, Which art in heaven, hallowed be Thy Name: Holy, Holy, Holy: Our FATHER, Which art in heaven, heaven and earth are full of the majesty of Thy glory, and Angels and men exclaim to Thee, Holy, Holy, Holy. Our FATHER, Which art in heaven, hallowed be Thy Name: Thy kingdom come: Thy will be done in earth as it is in heaven: Give us this day the bread of our necessity: And forgive us our sins, as we also forgive our debtors: And lead us not into temptation, but deliver us from evil: for Thine is the kingdom, and the power and the glory, for ever and ever. Amen.

Priest. Strengthen, O LORD God, our infirmity by Thy mercy, that we may minister in Thy holy Sacraments, given for the salvation and renewal of our nature, through the love of Thy most dearly beloved SON, O LORD of all things, FATHER, SON, and HOLY GHOST.

Deacon. Amen.

Priest. Adored and glorified, honoured and exalted, landed and blessed in heaven and in earth, be the glorious Name of Thy most resplendent TRINITY, at all times, O LORD of all things, FATHER, SON, and HOLY GHOST.

Deacon. Amen.

The Priest and Deacon say alternately Psalms 15, 150, and 117.

Priest. Glory be to the FATHER, and to the SON, and to the HOLY GHOST, from ages to ages. Amen and Amen.

Deacon. Set me, O LORD, with pure thoughts before Thy altar.

Priest. LORD, who shall dwell in Thy tabernacle, and who shall rest upon Thy holy hill? How glorious and lovely is Thy sanctuary, God, the Sanctifier of all things.

Deacon. Peace be with us.

Priest. Before the exceeding glorious throne of Thy Majesty, my LORD, and the lofty and supreme seat of Thy domination, and the Altar of expiation, which Thy will hath fixed in the place of the habitation of Thy glory, we Thy people, and the sheep of Thy pasture, with the thousands of Seraphim that praise Thee, and the ten thousands of Angels and Archangels that minister to Thee, bend our knees before Thee, and ever adore and glorify FATHER, SON, and HOLY GHOST, to ages of ages.

To the Name of Thy ever-glorious TRINITY, great, formidable, holy, laudable and incomprehensible; also to Thy mercy, which Thou hast manifested towards our race, we are bound to return continual thanks, and to attribute unto THEE adoration; O LORD of all things, FATHER, SON, and HOLY GHOST.

R. Amen.Priest. Thee, the LORD of all things, we praise:

Thee, JESUS CHRIST, we glorify; because Thou art the raiser up of our bodies, and the most holy Saviour of our souls; I have washed my hands in innocency, O LORD, and have compassed Thine altar.

Deacon. Thee, the LORD of all things. (As the Priest, who then repeats it again.)

Deacon. Peace be with us all.

Priest. Thou art truly my LORD, and the raiser up of our bodies, and the good Saviour of our souls, and the constant Keeper of our life: and it is meet that we should laud and glorify Thee at all times, FATHER, SON, and HOLY GHOST.

Deacon. Amen.

Priest. LORD, our God, when the most sweet odour of Thy goodness and love shall breathe upon us, and when our souls shall have been enlightened with the splendour of Thy truth, then we shall meet Thy most beloved SON Who shall be revealed from heaven, and in Thy Church, already honoured with the crown, shall praise Thee incessantly, for Thou art the LORD and Creator of all things, FATHER, SON, and HOLY GHOST.

Deacon. Amen. Bring your voices, and praise, O all ye people, the Living God.

Priest. Holy God, Holy and Mighty, Holy and Immortal, have mercy upon us. Glory be to the FATHER, and to the SON, and to the HOLY GHOST.

Deacon. Holy God, Holy and Mighty, Holy and Immortal, have mercy upon us.

Priest. From everlasting to everlasting. Amen and Amen.

Deacon. Holy God, &c.

Priest, turning to the people. Let us all stand in order, and with joy and gladness let us seek and say,

People. O our LORD, have mercy upon us. (And so at the end of every petition.)⁽¹⁾

Deacon. FATHER of mercies and GOD of all Consolation, we beseech Thee.

Our Saviour, the Dispenser of our salvation, and the Captain of all things, we, &c.

For the peace and unity and well-being of the whole world, and of all Churches:

For our healthfulness of the air, the richness of year and its provisions, and the beauty of the whole world:

For our holy Fathers, our Patriarch, the universal Pastor of the whole Catholic Church; and our Bishop, that they may enjoy good health:

The merciful GOD Who governeth all things by His love:

Him That is rich in mercy and Whose loving-kindness is shed abroad:

Him That is good in His Essence, and the Giver of all gifts:

Him that is glorious in heaven, and exceeding laudable upon earth:

The Immortal Nature That inhabits that most glorious light, we beseech:

Save us all, O CHRIST, our LORD and GOD, by Thy grace, and multiply in us peace and love, and have mercy upon us.

Let us pray and beseech the LORD, the GOD of all, that He may hear the voice of our prayers, and listen to our supplications, and have mercy upon us.

Let us pray also for the holy Catholic Church, which is spread over the whole orb of the world, that the peace which is from God may remain in it till the consummation of all things :

(1) This manifestly answers to the first Ectene in the preceding Liturgies, although the form differs considerably.

Let us pray also for the holy Fathers, our Bishops, that without blemish and complaint they may remain all the days of their life in the government of their Churches : but chiefly we are bound to pray for the safety of the Lord Patriarch, the Pastor of the whole Church, and the Lord Bishop of this Metropolis : let us pray that the Lord may keep them and preserve them at the head of their flocks, that they may feed and govern and prepare for the Lord a perfect people, zealous of all good works.

Let us pray also for the Presbyters and Deacons who are occupied in the ministry of the truth ; that with a good heart and a pure conscience they may accomplish their ministry before God.

Let us pray also for every holy and sober congregation of the sons of the holy Catholic Church, that they may accomplish the most excellent course of sanctity, and may receive the hope and promise of the Lord in the land of the Living.

Let us commemorate the most blessed Virgin Mary, the Mother (*) of Christ and our Saviour.

Let us pray that the Holy Ghost, Who dwelt in her, may sanctify us by His grace, and accomplish His will in us, and sign His truth in us, all the days of our life.

Let us venerate the memory of Prophets, Apostles, Martyrs, and Confessors : let us pray that by their prayers and the passions which they endured, God may give to us with them a good hope and salvation ; and that we may be made worthy of their blessed commemoration, and their living and true promises in the kingdom of heaven. Let us commemorate also our fathers and the doctors of truth, S. Nestorius, (*) S. Diodorus, S. Theodore, S. Ephraim, S. Abraham, S. Narcissus, and all Doctors and Presbyters, followers after truth. Let us pray that by their prayers, the pure truth and the sincere doctrine which they taught may be preserved in the holy Church till the consummation of the world.

(*) Mother of Christ. Notice here the Nestorian heresy—Mother of Christ, instead of Mother of God. This is one of the few expressions which was rightly altered at the Synod of Diamper.

Let us remember also our fathers and our brethren who have departed out of this world in the orthodox faith ; let us pray, I say, to the Lord that He may absolve them, and may forgive them their offences, and may vouchsafe that they, with all just and righteous men who have obeyed the Divine will, may rejoice for ever and ever.

Also for this province and city, and for them that dwell therein, especially for this congregation ; let us pray that the Lord by His grace may turn away from us sword, captivity, rapine, earthquake, famine, pestilence, and other things which are injurious to the soul and the body.

For those also that have departed from the true faith, and are held in captivity by the net of Satan : let us pray that the Lord God may convert their hearts, and that they may verily acknowledge God the true FATHER, and His Son, Jesus Christ, our Lord.

Let us pray also for the sick : and especially for them who are vexed with cruel diseases, and are tried by most evil spirits : we pray that the Lord our God may send to them His holy Angel of love and salvation, and may visit and heal and help them, through the greatness of His grace and mercy.

Also for the poor, orphans, widows, and afflicted; and them that suffer persecution: let us pray that the LORD may govern them by His grace, and nourish; and console them by His pity, and by His loving-kindness set them free from them that do violence to them.

Pray and beseech the love of the God of all, that we may be to Him a kingdom, a priesthood, and a holy people. Cry to the LORD, the mighty God, with all your heart, and all your soul, for God is a tender FATHER, and merciful and clement, and willet not that His handywork should perish, but rather should be converted and live. But above all things it is fit and meet that we should pray to, laud and adore, glory and adore, glory and honour, and exalt the One God, the FATHER, the LORD of all, most worthy of adoration, Who by CHRIST hath made to us a good hope and salvation for our souls, that He may accomplish His grace and love in us even to the end.

While the Deacon saith these things, the Priest, standing in the middle of the Altar, taketh the Paten; and the Deacon giving incense, and holding the Thurible with both hands, he censeth it in the form of a Cross, saying,

LORD, our GOD, cause this paten to have a sweet-smelling savour, after the pattern of Aaron, the most illustrious Priest in the tabernacle of testimony, Thou That art the Creator and the LORD of the roots and spices that breathe a sweet odour, in the Name of the FATHER, and of the SON, and of the HOLY GHOST. Amen.

Then he censeth the Veil of the Chalice, and saith:

LORD, our GOD, cause this veil to have a sweet savour, after the fashion of the mantle wherewith Elias, the prophet of truth, clothed himself; in the Name.

Then he censeth the Chalice, and saith.

LORD, our GOD, cause this chalice to send forth a sweet smell, after the fashion of Aaron the Priest in the tabernacle of witness, Thou Who art the Creator of roots and spices that breathe forth a sweet odour, in the Name.

Then he poureth wine into the Chalice, and saith:

Let the precious Blood of our LORD JESUS CHRIST be mingled in the chalice. (*)

He poureth in water, and saith:

One of the soldiers came, and with a spear pierced the side of our LORD JESUS CHRIST, and forthwith came thereout Blood and Water, and he that saw it bare record, and his record is true.

Again pouring in wine, he saith:

Let water be mingled with wine and wine with water, in the Name of the FATHER, and of the SON, and of the HOLY GHOST. (2) Then he saith: Expecting I expected the LORD, the Body of CHRIST, and

(*) This anticipative calling that which is simple wine, "the Blood of Christ," is on a par with the anticipative adoration of the Holy Mysteries at the Great Entrance, common through all the Eastern Church.

(2) Here follows, in the modern edition, a long rubric, of the insertion of which no notice is given, but which is evidently taken from the Roman Missal.

His precious Blood on the holy Altar. Let us all offer it with fear and honour, and with the Angels let us exclaim, Holy, Holy, Holy, is our Lord God.

Deacon. The poor shall eat and be satisfied with the Body of CHRIST and His precious Blood upon the holy Altar: let us all offer it with fear and honour, and with Angels let us exclaim, Holy, Holy, Holy, is our Lord God.

Let us pray. Peace be with us.

Priest (secretly). Let glory be offered and immolated to Thy ever-glorious TRINITY, for ages of ages: and may CHRIST Who was offered as an oblation for our salvation, and has commanded us that we should sacrifice in memory of His Passion, Death, Sepulture, and Resurrection, receive this sacrifice from our hands, through His grace and His love, for ever and ever.

He puts the Holy Gifts on the Altar.

Let these exceeding glorious, holy, and life-giving mysteries be constituted and ordained upon the holy Altar of CHRIST, until the glorious Advent from heaven of the Same, to Whom is laud, glory, and adoration now and at all times, and to ages of ages.

(Aloud.) Glory be to the FATHER, and to the SON, and to the HOLY GHOST. Be there a commemoration upon the holy Altar of the Virgin Mary, the Mother of CHRIST.

Deacon. From everlasting to everlasting. Amen and Amen. Apostles of the very SON, friends of the Only-Begotten, pray ye that there may be peace in the creation.

Priest. Let all the people say Amen and Amen. Be Thy commemoration, Apostle Thomas, our holy father, upon the holy Altar, together with the just who have conquered, and the martyrs who have received the crown.

Deacon. The Mighty God is with us, our FATHER is with us, our Angel, and our Helper, the God of Jacob.

Priest. The little ones, with the elders, behold all the faithful who have fallen on sleep in a good hope, who have paid the debt of humanity. By Thy exceeding glorious resurrection, Thou shalt raise them up to Thy glory. (*)

Deacon. Pour forth before him your hearts in prayer, fasting and penitence. They have made propitiation to CHRIST, the FATHER, and His SPIRIT.

The Priest saith, while he covereth the Oblations,

Thou coverest Thyself with light as with a garment, and stretchest out the heavens like a curtain, now and ever, and to ages of ages.

While the Priest washeth his hands the Deacon saith:

By the prayer and supplication of the Angels of peace and of love, we ask,

People. FROM THEE, O LORD.

Deacon. Night and day, and all the days of our life, we ask for eternal peace to Thy Church, and a life without sins.

People. FROM THEE, O LORD.

Deacon. Remission of sins, and that which may be profitable to our life, and may appease His Divinity, we ask,

(*) If we compare these verses and responses with the "God is with us," in the Great Apodeipnon of the Constantinopolitan rite, (which we know to be, at the very latest, of the beginning of the fourth century,) we may conclude them in like manner to be of the most remote antiquity.

People. From Thee, O LORD.

Deacon. The mercies of the LORD, and His benignity, ever and at all times we ask,

Deacon. Ourselves and our souls let us commend to the FATHER, the SON, and the HOLY GHOST.

People. To Thee, O LORD GOD.

Priest. We pray and beseech Thee, LORD GOD, the Mighty, perfect in us Thy grace, and by our hands pour forth Thy gifts and love, and the tender mercy of Thy Divinity; and let them be for the propitiation of the debts of Thy people, and for the remission of all the sins of the sheep of Thy pasture, which, by grace and Thy love, Thou hast chosen to Thyself: of all, O LORD, FATHER, SON, and HOLY GHOST.

Deacon. Amen. Bow down your heads for the imposition of hands, and receive the blessing.

Priest (secretly). LORD, Mighty GOD, Thine is the holy Catholic Church, purchased by the wonderful Passion of Thy CHRIST: on the sheep of Thy flock, by the grace of the HOLY GHOST, Who is equal to Thee in most glorious Deity, the orders of true priesthood are conferred. Thou, my LORD, by Thy clemency, hast vouchsafed to the exiguity of the nature of our misery, that we men should become glorious members of that mighty body which is the Catholic Church, and by Thy ministry may confer on believing souls, spiritual helps. Do Thou therefore, my LORD, accomplish in us Thy grace, and pour forth by our hands, Thy gifts: let also Thy love be upon us, and the piety of Thy Deity upon this people which Thou hast chosen to Thyself. (Aloud.) Grant also, my LORD, through Thy mercy, that we all, in all the days of our life, may equally please Thy Deity by the best works of righteousness, which render us acceptable to the glorious will of Thy Majesty; and that in this manner we may be made worthy of the assistance of Thy grace, that we may ever offer to Thee hymns, honour, laud, and adoration, LORD of all, FATHER, SON, and HOLY GHOST.

The Nicene Creed is recited as at page 12.

Deacon. Let us pray. Peace be with us. Pray, bearing in memory our fathers, the Catholics, (10) and all Presbyters and Deacons, youths and virgins, and all the faithful who have departed from the living and are dead in the true faith. And all our fathers and brethren, and sons and daughters: also faithful kings beloved of CHRIST, and all Prophets, Apostles, and Martyrs: let us pray, I say, that, in the resurrection from the dead they may be rewarded by God with the crown, with a good hope, and the inheritance of the life of the kingdom of heaven: furthermore, that this oblation may be confidently received, that by the (11) Word of God and the HOLY GHOST it may be consecrated, that it may be to us for help and salvation and eternal life in the kingdom of heaven, through the grace of CHRIST.

In the meanwhile the Priest saith secretly: Glory be to Thee, Finder of them that were lost: glory be to Thee, Collector of them that are dispersed, and Bringer-back of them that are afar off: glory to Thee Who convertest the erring to the knowledge of the truth. Glory to Thee, my LORD, Who hast

(10) The original petition referred of course to the Catholic of Babylon or Mosul, the spiritual head of the Church of Malabar. But it was left by the Roman Censors, as it stood, they intending to receive it in the sense of "our Catholic Fathers."

(11) The reference is 1 Timothy iv. 5, as alluding to the words of institution, and prayer for the Descent of the HOLY GHOST, as both necessary, according to the teaching of the Eastern Church, to a valid Eucharist.

called wretched me by Thy mercy and grace to approach to Thee, and hast made me, as it were, an illustrious member in the mighty body of the Holy Church, that I may offer to Thee this one, holy, and acceptable Sacrifice, which is the memorial of the Passion and Death, Burial and Resurrection of our Lord and Saviour Jesus CHRIST, through Whom it pleased Thee to forgive the sins of all men.

The Priest censeth those who are on the right of the Altar, and saith to them :

Bless, my lords, and pray for me, my fathers, and my brethren, and my masters, that this oblation may be consecrated by my hands.

They reply with the Deacon :

May CHRIST hear thy prayers and receive thy oblation, and cause thy priesthood to shine before Him ; and may He be well-pleased with this sacrifice which thou offerest for thyself, for us, and for all the world, from the least to the greatest, through Thy grace and love for ever and ever. Amen.

The Priest adores, bowing before the Altar.

Yea, O LORD our GOD, look not upon the multitude, nor let Thy domination be angry at the weight of my sins ; but by Thy ineffable grace consecrate this great sacrifice, and bestow it in virtue and power, that it may abolish our many sins : and when at the latter day Thou appearest in the human body which Thou didst assume of our race, we may find before Thee grace and love, and may be made worthy to praise Thee with the multitude of angels.

Rising, he saith :

We confess and praise, LORD our GOD, the riches of Thy grace shed abroad over us ; for when we were sinners and weak, Thou nevertheless, through the multitude of Thy mercy, didst make us worthy of the dispensation of the holy sacrament of the Body and Blood of CHRIST : we beseech therefore Thy help, the Strength of our souls, that with perfect love and true faith, we may administer Thy gift which we have, and may offer to Thee hymns, honour, laud and adoration, now and for ever.

Deacon. Amen.

Priest. Peace be with all.

Deacon. With thee and with thy spirit.

Priest. Give the peace to each other.

And for Patriarchs, Bishops, Presbyters and Deacons, and for those who having accomplished this life, have departed out of this congregation of the Church ; and for the peace of the world and the crown of the year, that it may be blessed and filled with Thy mercy : and for all Thy servants, and for us all, that this oblation be accepted for ever and ever.

Deacon. ⁽²⁾ Let us confess, and let us all of us beseech the LORD with the voice of choral melody ; stand rightly and attend to these things which are done in the tremendous mysteries which are consecrated : the Priest is praying that by his intercession peace may be multiplied in you : cast your eyes down to the ground, and vigilantly take care to raise your mind to heaven ; seek and petition at this time, and let no one venture to speak ; and he that prayeth, let him pray mentally, while he remaineth in silence and fear. Peace be with us.

In the meanwhile the Priest saith :

Lord, Mighty God, strengthen my weakness by Thy mercy, and make me worthy of the assistance of Thy grace, that I may offer to Thee an oblation for the benefit of all men, and to the praise of Thy exceeding glorious TRINITY, FATHER, SON, and HOLY GHOST, for ever.

He unveils the mysteries and blesses incense, and puts it in the censer and saith :

[BEGINNING THE ANAPHORA.]

The grace of our Lord Jesus Christ, and the love of God the FATHER, and the communion of the HOLY GHOST, be with us all, now and for ever.

Deacon. Amen.

Priest. Lift up your hearts.

Choir. To Thee, God of Abraham, Isaac, and Israel, the exceeding glorious King. (2)

(2) This sentence is precisely the same as that in the Liturgy of the Apostles, which is the Nestorian norm. In the Liturgies of Nestorius and Theodore the Interpreter, themselves apparently of the fifth century, it is very much amplified, as thus in the former:

Priest. Up in the sublime heights, in the fearful and glorious region, where the Cherubin cease not to agitate their wings, and there is no end to the hymns and the sweet sounds of the sanctification of the Seraphim, there be your minds.

Choir. They are lifted up to Thee, God of Abraham, Isaac, and Israel, King of Glory.

Hence I gather the extreme antiquity of the Malabar Anaphora, clearly a much earlier form.

Priest. The oblation is offered to the Lord, the God of all.

Choir. It is meet and right. Peace be with us.

Priest. Lord, Mighty God, give us boldness before Thee, that we may confidently perform this quickening and holy ministry with consciences pure, and free from all malice, simulation, and guilt, and bitterness, and sow in us, my Lord, charity and mutual unity of soul; and guard Thy holy Catholic Church here and everywhere, from everything noxious, from all fault and perturbation, by Thy grace and love for ever.

Choir. Bless, my Lord.

Priest. By the mouth of all be it glorified, by the tongue of all be it praised, by all creatures be it worshipped and exalted, the adorable and exceeding glorious Name of the most illustrious TRINITY, FATHER, SON, and HOLY GHOST, Who created the world and all that dwell therein by His goodness, and hath saved the sons of men by His loving-kindness, and hath shown great mercy to mortals. Thy Majesty, my Lord, is adored and venerated by thousand thousands of heavenly beings, and ten thousand times ten thousand of holy Angels; and the hosts of the Spirits of fire glorify Thy Name. And with holy Cherubim and Seraphim, they offer adoration to Thy greatness, they cry, they glorify without intermission, and say one to another:

Choir. Holy, Holy, Holy, Lord, mighty God: heaven and earth are full of His songs: Hosanna in the highest: Hosanna to the Son of David: blessed is He That cometh and shall come in the Name of the Lord: Hosanna in the highest.

Priest. Holy, Holy, Holy, Lord, mighty God: [1.] full are the heavens and the earth of His songs, and of the essence of His substance, and the splendour of His exceeding glorious beauty, so that — Do I not fill heaven and earth, saith the LORD? Holy art Thou, God, the FATHER of Truth, from Whom all paternity in heaven and in earth is named: holy also is Thine Only-Begotten Son, our LORD JESUS CHRIST, by Whom all things were made: holy also is the SPIRIT, the cause of all truth, by Whom all are sanctified. Woe is me, woe is me; for I am astonished; because I am a man of polluted lips, and I dwell in the midst of a people of polluted lips, and mine eyes have seen the King, the LORD of Hosts. How terrible is this place to-day, in which face to face the LORD is seen! And now, O LORD, let Thy mercy be upon us, and purify our filth, and sanctify our lips, and commingle the voices of our imbecility with the praises of Seraphim and Archangels, who sing glory to Thy love: for corporeal men Thou hast associated with spirits. With these celestial hosts then, we also, Thy miserable servants, weak and useless, praise Thee, my LORD, because Thou hast shewn great mercy to us, for which we cannot return equal thanks. For Thou didst take upon Thyself our humanity, that Thou mightest quicken us with Thy divinity; Thou didst exalt our humanity, and set up our fall, and forgive our sins, and justify us by wiping out our offences, and didst illuminate our understandings, and didst prove, O LORD our God, our enemies to be guilty, and because of the love of Thy grace shed abroad over us, didst bestow the victory on the weak exigency of our nature. For all helps, therefore, and mercies bestowed on us, let us offer to Thee a song, laud and honour, and adoration, now and ever, and to ages of ages.

Deacon. Amen. Pray in your hearts. Peace be with us.

He kisseth the Altar thrice, and saith: Glory to Thy Holy Name, and adoration to Thy Divinity. [7.] at all times, LORD JESUS CHRIST, Living Bread, giving life, Who didst descend from heaven, and quickenest the whole world, and they that eat this Bread shall never die, and they that receive it in truth are freed and sanctified by it, and are cleansed and live for ever.

Our LORD JESUS CHRIST ⁽¹⁴⁾ in the same night wherein He was betrayed, took the holy bread into His pure and loving hands, and lifted up His eyes to heaven, and gave thanks to GOD the FATHER, the Creator of all things, and blessed and brake, and gave to His Disciples and said,—Take and eat of this bread all of you: for this is My Body. In like manner after He had supped, He took the Chalice into His pure hands, and gave thanks, and blessed, and gave to His Disciples, saying, Take and drink ye all of this Chalice: for as often as ye ⁽¹⁴⁾ I have ventured to make a considerable alteration in the order of the above prayers. As we have the Malabar Liturgy from the Portuguese revisers, the sequence of the Collects is that which is given by bracketed numerals in the margin. Here the Invocation of the HOLY GHOST, contrary to the use of every other Oriental Liturgy, preceded the words of Institution. This, in itself, would be a sufficient proof that an alteration had been made; though very carelessly, if not malâ fide, no notice is given of it. But fortunately the Nestorian Liturgy of Theodore the Interpreter bears a sufficient resemblance to this to shew what was the original order: I have therefore arranged the prayers according to that. The Liturgy of All Apostles, the Nestorian norm, bears as would be natural, a closer resemblance still to the Malabar; but as All Apostles, from whatever cause, has not the words of Institution at all, it is not so useful in shewing how the Malabar was arranged. Renaudot has a note on the Malabar, (vol. ii. p. 599. edit. Leslie), but he manifestly refers to a very different edition of it from that which we are employing.

eat this Bread, and drink this Cup, ye shew forth My remembrance: for this is the Chalice of My Blood, of the New Testament, which for you and for many shall be poured forth for the remission of sins: this shall be My pledge even to the consummation of all things.

Glory to Thee, my LORD: glory to Thee, my LORD: glory to Thee my LORD, for Thine ineffable gift.

The Priest signs the Oblations, and saith:

LORD God of Hosts, hear the voice of my cry, [2.] and listen, my LORD, and give ear to my groans and my sighs, and receive the prayers of me, a sinner: for in this hour in which the Sacrifice is offered to Thy FATHER, I beseech Thy grace to have mercy upon all creatures; to forgive the offenders, to bring back the wanderers, to console the afflicted, to give peace to the disturbed, to heal the infirm, to hear them that are troubled in spirit, and to impart tranquillity to them; to accomplish the almsdeeds of them that work righteousness, and for Thy holy Name's sake to be propitious ever to me, a sinner, through Thy grace.

Thanks be to Thee, LORD God of Hosts: let this [3.] oblation be received for the whole Catholic Church, and for priests and princes; for the poor also that are oppressed in sorrow and misery, and for the faithful departed, and for all them who desire the prayer of my weakness, and for my sins. Yea, O LORD, my God, visit Thy people, and my unhappiness, according to Thy love, and the multitude of Thy mercy, and not according to my sins and iniquities: but grant that we may be made worthy of the remission of our sins by the Holy Body which we shall in faith receive, through grace which is from Thee. Amen.

Prostrating himself, he continues: Thou, my LORD, according to Thy exceeding love, receive this best [4.] and acceptable commemoration of the fathers who are just and upright, and please Thee,—the remembrance of the Body and Blood of Thy CHRIST, which we shall offer to Thee upon the pure and holy altar, as Thou hast taught us, and give peace to us and tranquillity all the days of our life. Yea, O LORD, give us peace, that all the inhabitants of the earth may know that Thou art God, the only FATHER of truth. Thou didst send Thy most beloved Son, and He the LORD our God came and taught us, all the holiness and purity of Prophets and Apostles, Martyrs and Confessors, Bishops and Doctors, Priests and Deacons, and all the sons of the holy Catholic Church, who have been sealed with holy baptism. We, therefore, my LORD, Thy weak and unprofitable servants, who are gathered together in Thy Name, and at this time stand before Thee, and by holy tradition have received a pattern from Thee, with exultation and joy, glorify, exalt and venerate this memorial, and sacrifice this Mystery, great, terrible, holy and divine, of the Passion and Death, Burial and Resurrection of our LORD and Saviour JESUS CHRIST.

And the Priest stretcheth forth, purely, his hands to heaven and consecrateth the Body and Blood of [9.] Christ.

Send then, my LORD, Thy Holy SPIRIT, and let Him rest upon this oblation of Thy servants and sanctify it, that it may be to us, my LORD, for [4.] the payment of our debts and the remission of our sins, and the great hope of resurrection from the dead, and a new life in the heavenly kingdom, with all who have pleased Thee. Moreover, for all Thy continued.

admirable dispensation carried on towards us, we praise and glorify Thee without ceasing in the Church, which hath been redeemed by the Blood of Thy Son, and with open mouth and unveiled countenance, we will offer unto Thee a song and honour laud and adoration, to Thy living, holy, and quickening Name, now and ever and to ages of ages: Amen.

The Priest saith Psalm li. 1—19; and Psalm cxliii.

1—3. Then: Stretch forth Thy hand, and let [5.] Thy right hand save me, O LORD; let Thy love remain over me for ever, and despise not the works of Thy hands.

He riseth and saith: CHRIST, the peace of things that are on high, and the great rest of those that are [6.] below, stablish, O LORD, in Thy peace and rest, the four regions of the world, but principally Thy holy Catholic Church, and destroy wars and battles from the ends of the earth, and disperse the people that delight in war, and pacify by the mercy of Thy Divinity, the Priesthood, and the kingdom, that we may have a secure habitation with all sobriety and piety, and forgive the debts and sins of them that have departed this life, through Thy mercy and love for ever.

The Priest blesses Incense, and puts it in the thurible, saying:

Let us offer a hymn to Thy most glorious TRINITY, at all times and for ever. O LORD our GOD, cause the savour of our souls to be pleasant to Thee, through the sweet savour of the mercy of Thy love, and cleanse us by it from the defilements of sin.

He censeth the Oblations therewith, and saith thrice:

The LORD our GOD give us access by the clemency of His mercy to these sacraments, most glorious, holy, quickening, and divine. For in truth we are not worthy.

Deacon. I am the Living Bread Which came down from heaven: I am the Bread Which descended from on high, said the SAVIOUR in a Mystery to [8.] His Disciples: whosoever approacheth in love, and receiveth Me, shall live in me for ever, and shall by heritage acquire the kingdom.

Choir. The ministers, who do His will, Cherubim and Seraphim, and Archangels, stand with fear and trembling before the Altar, and behold the Priest, when he breaks and divides the Body of CHRIST for the propitiation of sin.

Deacon. Open to me the gates of righteousness. O Thou Merciful One, Whose door is open to penitents, and Who invitest sinners to draw near to Thee; open to us, my LORD, the gate of Thy loves, that we may enter in, and sing praise to Thee day and night.

Choir. Set, O LORD, a watch before my mouth. Glory be to the FATHER, SON, and HOLY GHOST.

Deacon. O Merciful One, have pity on us, and show mercy to us; and despise us not in the time of [10.] affliction, for night and day we hope in Thee: and they that trust in Thee shall not be confounded.

Choir. Let all the people say, Amen and Amen. Isaiah kissed the fire in the kindled coal, and his lips were not burnt, but his iniquity was pardoned: mortals in this very bread receive fire, and it guards their bodies and burns out their sins.

Deacon. From everlasting to everlasting: the Altar is fire in fire: fire surrounds it: let Priests beware of the terrible and tremendous fire, lest they fall into it, and be burnt for ever.

The Priest breaks the Host, and saith :

We draw near, my LORD, in the faith of Thy Name to these Holy Mysteries, and in Thy love we break, and in Thy pity we sign the Body and Blood of our SAVIOUR JESUS CHRIST, in the Name of the FATHER, and of the SON, and of the HOLY GHOST.

The Priest layeth that part of the Oblation which he holdeth in his left hand, on the paten : he dips the other in the Blood, up to the midst.

Let the Precious Blood be signed with the Holy Body of our LORD JESUS CHRIST, in the Name of the FATHER, and of the SON, and of the HOLY GHOST.

Let the Holy Body be signed with the Blood of Propitiation of our LORD JESUS CHRIST, in the Name of the FATHER, and of the SON, and of the Holy GHOST.

Then joining the two together, he says :

These predestinated Mysteries, exceeding glorious, holy, and quickening, and divine, are consecrated, perfected, completed, and united together in the venerable and illustrious Name of the glorious TRINITY ; that they may be to us, O LORD, for the propitiation of our sins, and a great hope of resurrection from the dead ; and the renewal of life in the kingdom of heaven.

Glory to Thee, my LORD, because Thou didst create me by Thy grace : glory to Thee, my LORD, because Thou didst call me by Thy mercy : glory to Thee, my LORD, because Thou hast made me the mediator of Thy gifts ; and for all the dispensation which Thou hast carried out towards my weakness, let praise, laud, honour and adoration ascend to Thee, now, and to ages of ages.

The grace of our LORD JESUS CHRIST, and the love of God the FATHER, and the communion of the HOLY GHOST be with us all, now and ever, and to ages of ages.

Deacon. Let us all with fear and reverence approach the mystery of the Body and precious Blood of our SAVIOUR : and with pure heart and true faith let us call to memory His Passion and Resurrection, and understand it plainly : for our sakes the Only-Begotten took on Himself a mortal body, and spiritual reason and immortal soul : and in His precepts, which confer life, and in His holy law, has brought us back from error to the acknowledgement of the truth : and after all the dispensations which He wrought for us, He offered the first-fruits of our nature as a sacrifice on the Cross, and bestowed on us this Holy Sacrament, by means of which we might remember all the grace which He manifested to us. Let us then with overflowing charity, and durable will, receive the gift of eternal life, and with pure prayer, and earnest grief for our sins, be made partakers of the Holy Mysteries of the Church, and be, by the hope of penitence, converted from our iniquities, and grieve for our transgressions : let us furthermore ask for love and mercy, and let us call on God the LORD of all, and let us forgive the debts of our fellow servants.

People. LORD, have mercy on the sins and iniquities of Thy servants. [And so on at the end of each clause.]

Deacon. Let us cleanse our consciences from division and contention ;

Let our souls be thoroughly perfect, both from all hatred and malice to others.

Let us receive, sanctity, and be inflamed by the HOLY GHOST.

Let us receive the fellowship of the Divine Mysteries in unanimity of mind and mutual peace.

And may it be, O LORD, to us for the resurrection of our bodies, and the salvation of our souls, and the life that is to ages of ages. Amen.

Meanwhile the Priest saith: Blessed art Thou, LORD God of our fathers, and highly exalted and excellently laudable is Thy Name for ever : in that Thou hast not dealt with us after our sins, neither rewarded us according to our iniquities, but according to the multitude of Thy love hast delivered us from the power of darkness, and hast called us to the kingdom of Thy most dearly beloved Son our LORD JESUS CHRIST, by Whom Thou hast made bare, and hast brought to nought, the power of darkness, and hast bestowed on us life incorruptible. And now, O LORD, Thou Who hast vouchsafed that I should stand before this Thy pure and holy Altar, to offer unto Thee this loving and holy sacrifice, make us also worthy, by Thy love, that in all pureness and holiness we may receive the Gift : and that it may not be unto us for judgment or vengeance, but for love and piety and the remission of sins, and resurrection from the dead, and eternal life : so that we may all be the fullest witnesses of Thy glory, and the habitation of a holy shrine : that after we have been incorporated into the Body and Blood of Thy CARIST with all Thy Saints, we may shine with light, in His ever-glorious and lofty revelation : for to Thee and to Thine with the HOLY GHOST, is glory and honour and laud and adoration, now and ever, and to ages of ages.

Blot out, O LORD, the sins and transgressions of Thy servants, and sanctify our life by the songs of the HOLY GHOST, to the end that we, with all Thy Saints, may offer to Thy most High Divinity the fruits of glory and praise ; and make us worthy, O LORD, to stand in Thy Presence ever with pure heart and open countenance ; and that with the confidence which by Thy love is conferred on us, we may all of us together invoke Thee, and thus say :

OUR FATHER.

Priest. Yea, O LORD, (¹⁶) GOD of Hosts, O our most glorious God, and our merciful FATHER, we earnestly ask, beseech and implore the clemency of Thy goodness : lead us not, my LORD, into temptation, but save and deliver us from the evil one, and from his host ; for Thine is the kingdom and the strength, the glory and the power, the empire and the might, in heaven and in earth, now and to ages of ages.

Deacon. Amen.

Priest. Peace be with you.

Deacon. And with thee and with thy spirit.

(¹⁶) The Embolismus : as in S. Mark, p. 25 ; S. James, p. 57 ; S. Basil, p. 143.

Priest. That which is holy befits the holy, my LORD, to be received.

Deacon. One holy FATHER, one holy SON, one HOLY GHOST. Glory be to the FATHER, and to the SON, and to the HOLY GHOST, to ages of ages. Amen.

The Deacon goes to the Altar: the Priest takes his right hand and puts it into the Paten.

Deacon. The glory of our LORD.

Priest. Be with them and with us, in the heavenly kingdom: glory be to the Living God.

Deacon. Glorify the Living God.

People. Glory to Him and to Thy Church: His love and His pity. Amen.

Priest. LORD, my God, I am not worthy, nor is it indeed meet that I should receive Thy Body and the Blood of propitiation, nor that I should touch them; but let Thy words sanctify my soul, and heal my body, in the Name of the FATHER, and of the SON, and of the HOLY GHOST.

And he receives the Body of our LORD. In the meantime the Deacon sings:

Let this oblation be received above in the heavenly places, together with that which Abel, Noah, and Abraham offered to the heavenly kingdom.

Priest. Let the gift of the grace of our Saviour Himself, JESUS CHRIST, be accomplished through love in all of us.

Deacon. To ages of ages. Amen.

The Priest receives the Chalice, and then saith:

The Blood of the propitiation of our LORD JESUS CHRIST nourish my soul and body in this life, and in the life to come.

Deacon. My brethren, receive the Body of the SON Himself, saith the Church, and drink His Blood.

And while the people communicate, the Deacon saith:

Strengthen, O LORD, the hands which are stretched out to receive the Holy Thing: vouchsafe that they may duly bring forth fruit to Thy Divinity; that they may be worthy of all things which they have sung to Thy praise within Thy sanctuary, and may ever laud Thee.⁽¹⁷⁾ Grant, moreover, My LORD, that the ears which have heard the voice of Thy songs, may never hear the voice of clamour and dispute. Grant also that the eyes which have seen Thy great love, may also behold Thy Blessed hope; ⁽¹⁸⁾ that the tongues which have sung the Sanctus may speak the truth. Grant that the feet which have walked in the church may walk in the region of light: that the bodies which have tasted Thy living Body may be restored in newness of life. On this congregation also, which adores Thy Divinity, let Thy aids be multiplied, and let Thy great love remain with us; and by Thee may we abound in the manifestation of Thy glory, and open a door to the prayers of all of us. We all then, who have drawn near by the gift of the grace of the HOLY GHOST, and to whom it has been vouchsafed to become fellow participators in the reception of these mysteries, most excellent, holy, divine, and quickening, let us all praise and exult in God, the Giver of them.

⁽¹⁸⁾ Notice this remarkable prayer, which has no parallel that I am aware of in any Eastern rite: there is nothing like it in the kindred Nestorian Liturgies, nor in the mongrel Nestorian service of John of Bassora. It appears to me of the most remote antiquity.

Priest. Glory be to Him for His unspeakable gift. It is meet, just, and right, O Lord, that at all times, and days, and hours, we should laud, adore, and glorify the terrible Name of Thy Majesty; since by Thy grace and Thy love, my Lord, Thou hast vouchsafed to the weak nature of the mortal sons of men, to hallow Thy Name with blessed spirits, and hast given us to be partakers of the gift of Thy mysteries, and to be delighted with the sweetness of Thy words which give life and are divine, and always to offer praise to Thy Divinity, FATHER, SON, and HOLY GHOST. ⁽¹⁹⁾

Then all say, Our FATHER.

The Priest turneth to the people, and blesseth them, saying,

He Who blesseth us with all benediction in heaven, by the Son of humanity, ⁽²⁰⁾ and hath invited to His kingdom and eternal sweetness:

And Who hath given His promise to the apostolic congregation, and also in verity hath signed His word, that there should be no doubt in it:

Ye shall say, Verily, verily, I say, and in verity I sign My words: every one that eateth My quickening Body, and drinketh my Blood of the salutary Chalice,

I forgive him all his debts, and I blot out all his sins, and I call him to the kingdom; and let it same relation to the Church of India that St. Antony does to Italy, St. Basilus to Palestine, or Teilo-Barnaboth to

In the original there follow three alternative benedic-tions. The first is the same as I take to be the lesser festival.
The second is the same as the highest feast: 2. For festival day

THE OFFICE OF THE PROTHESIS.

THE ORDER OF THE HOLY PROTHESIS, AS PER-FORMED IN THE GREAT CHURCH, AND THE HOLY MOUNTAIN.

The Priest and Deacon go to the prothesis, (1) and wash their hands, (2) saying, (3)

I will wash my hands in innocency, O LORD, and so will I go to Thine Altar, to the end of the Psalm.

and each saith,*

God be merciful to me a sinner, and have pity upon me.

(1) i.e. into the chapel of Προthesis: the name, being the same for both it and the credence, may create confusion.

(2) In most churches, there is a lavatory for this purpose near to the credence.

(3) The antiquity of this rite in the Eastern Church is shown by St. Cyril, (Catech. Myst. 5.) "Ye have seen the Deacon giving water to the Priest to wash his hands, and to the Presbyters, who surrounded the Altar of God. Did he give it them to the end that the filth of the body might be purged away? I trow not: for we use not to enter the Church polluted with filth. But that cleansing of the hands is a symbol, that we must be made clean from all our sins and iniquities." And of old the custom was, that all who intended to be communicants should wash their hands. S. Maximus:
"All men who propose to communicate first wash their hands."

Thou hast redeemed us from the curse of the law, by Thy precious Blood, being nailed to the Cross, and wounded with the lance, and didst pour forth streams of immortality to men: glory be to Thee, our SAVIOUR.

Deacon. Sir, give the blessing.

Priest. Blessed be our God always, now and ever, and to ages of ages. Amen.

Then the Priest takes in his left hand the Oblations ⁽⁴⁾ and in his right the holy spear.

In remembrance of our LORD and GOD and SAVIOUR JESUS CHRIST. (This he saith thrice.)

He then thrusts the spear into the right ⁽⁵⁾ side of the ⁽⁶⁾ seal, and saith, as he cuts,

⁽⁴⁾ Five small loaves, of the form indicated in the text, are provided in the prothesis. They are round, symbolically representing, under the shape of a piece of money, the price of our redemption, (Durandus, 4, 41;) but each has a square projection rising from it, usually called the Holy Lamb, but sometimes simply the Holy Bread. This, in the Greek Church, is stamped with the words, IC XC NIKA. JESUS CHRIST conquers.

⁽⁶⁾ The seal (σφραγίς) is, properly speaking, the Cross

He was led as a sheep to the slaughter.

Into the left, saying,

And as a blameless lamb dumb before His shearers, so He opened not His mouth.

Into the upper part, saying,

In His humiliation His judgment was taken away.

Into the lower, saying,

And who shall declare His generation?

The Deacon, looking devoutly on this rite, saith, at each incision,

Let us make our supplications to the LORD: holding his oration in his hand.⁽⁷⁾

After these things, ⁽⁸⁾ he saith, impressed on the Holy Lamb, and is so to be taken here; but is sometimes used for the thing thus sealed, namely, the Holy Lamb itself, as in wt at follows.

Sir, take up.

⁽⁷⁾ The posture, which continually occurs in the Liturgy, can scarcely be understood except from actual sight. The Deacon is now, like S. John the Baptist, preaching the Lamb of God; or, according to the before-named system of S. Germauns, he represents the Angel saluting the Blessed Virgin at her Annunciation, τὸν ἄγγελον μιλῆται τὸ χαῖρε τῇ Παρθένῳ προσφθεγγόμενον. In the same way, the separation of the Lamb from the Oblation sets forth, so to speak, the separation of our LORD from His Mother at His birth: ἡ προσφορά . . . εἰς τὸν αἰὸν τῆς ἀειπαρθένου λαμβάνεται τὸ Κυριακὸν Σάμα, ὡς ἐκ τοῦδ' αὐτῆς . . . τοῦ ὕλου ἄρτου, φημι, διατίθεται.

⁽⁸⁾ The Holy Lamb being now entirely separated from the Oblation.

And the Priest, thrusting the holy spear obliquely into the right side of the Oblation, raises up the holy bread, ⁽⁹⁾ saying,

For His life is taken away from the earth; [always, now and ever, and to ages of ages.]

And layeth it, cross downwards, ⁽¹⁰⁾ in the holy disk.

The Deacon saith, Sir, sacrifice.

The Priest saith, while he cuts it crosswise,

The Lamb of God is sacrificed, Which taketh away the sin of the world, for the life and salvation of the world.

Then he turns it cross upwards, ⁽¹¹⁾ and the Deacon saith, Sir, stab.

And the Priest, piercing the right side ⁽¹²⁾ with the holy spear, saith,

One of the soldiers with a spear pierced His side, and forthwith came thereout Blood and Water: and he that saw it bare record, and his record is true.

The Deacon then pours into the holy chalice wine and water, first saying to the Priest, Sir, bless the Holy Union. And the Priest blesses them.

⁽⁹⁾ That is, the Lamb.

⁽¹¹⁾ This is explained of CHRISST'S bearing His Cross. δ $\gamma\epsilon\rho$ $\sigma\tau\alpha\upsilon\rho\acute{\omicron}\varsigma$, says an anonymous writer quoted by Goar, $\alpha\upsilon\tau\acute{\omicron}$ $\epsilon\mu\pi\rho\sigma\theta\epsilon\upsilon$. $\delta\lambda\lambda'$ $\epsilon\pi\iota\sigma\theta\epsilon\upsilon$ $\tau\omicron\upsilon$ $\sigma\acute{\alpha}\mu\alpha\rho\omicron\varsigma$ $\tau\omicron\upsilon$ $\kappa\upsilon\rho\iota\omicron\upsilon$ $\epsilon\tau\epsilon\rho\eta$ $\tau\acute{\alpha}$ $\delta\epsilon$ $\epsilon\pi\omicron\kappa\alpha\tau\omega$ —i. e. of the Lamb— $\tau\acute{\alpha}$ $\epsilon\mu\pi\rho\sigma\theta\epsilon\upsilon$ $\tau\omicron\upsilon\tau\omicron\upsilon$ $\alpha\nu\alpha\mu\phi\iota\beta\acute{\alpha}\lambda\omega\varsigma$ $\theta\eta\lambda\omicron\iota$.

⁽¹²⁾ This shews that the Greek Church had the same tradition as the Latin, that our Lord's Wound was on His right side.

Then the Priest, taking the second ⁽¹³⁾ Oblation, saith,

In honour and memory of the most excellent and glorious Lady, the Mother of God and Ever-Virgin Mary, by whose intercessions receive, O Lord, this Sacrifice to Thy heavenly altar.

a The Holy Lamb b The portion of S. Mary.
c The nine portions of Prophets, Apostles, Martyrs, &c. d Portions for the living. e Portions for the dead.

⁽¹³⁾ According to the present use of the Eastern Church, five Oblations are originally set on the prothesis, probably in commemoration of the miracle of the five loaves. Anciently, indeed, the number of Oblations varied with the number of offerers. But, though five be the usual number, and invariable in the Russian Church, yet often in Greece one Oblation only is offered; the portions being taken from the same loaf from which the Holy Lamb has been previously cut. And this not only in small places, but even in the Patriarchal Church.

And taking a portion, (14) he places it on the right side of the holy Bread near its middle part, saying,

At Thy right hand did stand the Queen in a vesture of gold, wrought about with divers colours.

Then, taking the third Oblation, he saith,

Of the honourable and glorious Forerunner, Prophet, and Baptist John.

And taking one portion, he places it on the left side of the holy Bread, making a beginning of the first row: then he saith:

Of the holy and glorious Prophets, Moses and Aaron, Elijah, Elisha, David and Jesse, the Three Holy Children, and all holy Prophets.

And he places the second portion orderly under the first.
Then he saith:

Of the holy and glorious and all celebrated Apostles, Peter and Paul, the Twelve, and the Seventy, and all holy Apostles. (15)

And thus he places the third portion below the second, finishing the row. Then he saith:

Of our holy Fathers, and œcumenical great

(14) This portion, μῆσις, is called the Virgin's; and hence, perhaps, arose the error by which the Greeks were accused of pretending to consecrate it into the body of S. Mary. The portions are pyramidal pieces of bread, cut out of the Oblation with the holy spear.

(15) The Eastern Church commemorates in the Meneæ the Seventy, and others who were immediately connected with our Lord as Apostles: hence the necessity for the addition. Saints, next in her estimation, she denominates ἰσαποστόλοι, the equals of the Apostles.

Doctors and Hierarchs, Basil the Great, Gregory the Theologian, and John Chrysostom, Athanasius and Cyril, Nicolas of Myra, and all holy Hierarchs.

And taking the fourth portion, he places it near the first, beginning a second row. Then he saith again,

Of the holy Proto-martyr and Archdeacon Stephen, the great and holy Martyrs Demetrius, George, Theodore, and all holy Martyrs, both men and women.

And taking the fifth portion, he lays it under the first of the second row. Then he saith:

Of our holy Fathers, filled with God, Antony, Euthymius, Sabbas, Onuphrius, and Athanasius of Mount Athos, and all holy ascetics, men and women.

And thus, taking the sixth portion, he places it below the second portion, to the accomplishment of the second row. After this he saith:

Of the wonderworking and unmercenary Saints, Cosmas and Damian, Cyrus and John, Panteleemon and Hermolaus, and of all unmercenary Saints.

Then taking the seventh portion, he puts it at the top, beginning the third row.

Of the holy and just parents of God, Joachim and Anna, of N. (the Saint of the day,) and all Saints, through whose intercessions God look upon us.

And taking the eighth portion, he places it in order a little below the first (of the third row.)

Yet further he saith:

Of our holy Father, John Chrysostom, Archbishop of Constantinople, (if his Liturgy be said that day; but if S. Basil's, he commemorates him.)

And thus, taking the ninth portion, he finishes with it the third row. ~~Then taking the fourth Oblation, he saith:~~

Remember, O Lord and Lover of men, all Orthodox Sees, our Bishop N., the venerable Presbytery, the Diaconate in CHRIS, and every hierarchical rank, the Hegumen N., our brothers and fellow-ministers, Priests and Deacons, and all our brothers, whom Thou hast called to Thy Communion, through Thy mercy, O good Lord.

And taking a portion, he places it below the holy Bread. Then he commemorates also those living whose names he has, ⁽¹⁶⁾ and thus taking their portions, places them below the holy Bread. Then taking the fifth Oblation, he saith:

For the memory and forgiveness of sins of the blessed founders of this holy habitation.

⁽¹⁶⁾ "Before they go to the prothesis to begin the Liturgy," says Dr. Covel, "all good people who are disposed to have their absent friends, dead or living, commemorated, go to them that celebrate, and get their names set down, there being two catalogues, one for the living, one for the dead, for which they deposit some aspers, or richer presents, in silver or gold, as they are able or disposed; this being a great part of a common Priest's maintenance, especially in country villages. And as the Priest reads over these catalogues, at every name there written, there is a scrape made upon the crust to rub off some mites as their particular portions." This custom much resembles that which is referred to by S. Innocent I., in his Epistle to Decentius: "The Oblations are first to be commended to God, and then their names, whose are the Oblations, to be recited, that they may be named in the mysteries." And S. Jerome (Homil. in Ezech., cap. 6 and 18.) rebukes the pride which some offerers took in hearing their names thus recited.

He then commemorates the Bishop that ordained him, and such other of the dead as he pleases; and lastly, saith thus:

And of all our Orthodox fathers and brethren, who have departed in the hope of the resurrection and in Thy communion to eternal life, O Lord and Lover of men. (The Deacon takes a portion.)

Then the Deacon, himself also taking a Seal and the holy spear, commemorates ⁽¹⁷⁾ those of the living whom he pleases; and lastly saith thus:

Remember also, O Lord, my unworthiness, and forgive me every sin, voluntary and involuntary.

Then, in like manner, he takes another Seal, and commemorates whom he will of the departed: and puts the portions below the holy Bread, in the same way as the Priest. Then he takes the sponge, ⁽¹⁸⁾ and gathers together the portions in the dish under the holy Bread, so that they are safe, and that nothing can fall off. Then the Deacon, taking the censor, and incense in it, saith to the Priest:

Sir, bless the incense. Let us make our supplications to the Lord.

The Priest saith the prayer of Incense.

We offer to Thee incense, O CHRIST our GOD, for a savour of a spiritual perfume: receive it unto Thy heavenly altar, and send down in its stead the grace of Thy most HOLY SPIRIT.

⁽¹⁷⁾ This is an innovation. S. Synaeon of Thessalonica distinctly condemns it. "The Deacons must not offer portions; for they have not the grace of offering to God." (ὁ δὲ δεῖ διακόνους μερίδας προσφέρειν . . . ἐπεὶ καὶ τὸ χάρισμα τοῦ προσφέρειν τῷ Θεῷ οὐκ ἔχουσιν.)

Deacon. Let us make our supplications to the LORD.
The Priest censures the Asterisk, ⁽¹⁹⁾ and places it over the holy Bread, saying :

And the star came, and stood over where the young Child was.

Deacon. Let us make our supplications to the LORD.
And the Priest taking the first veil, ⁽²⁰⁾ covers with it the holy Bread with the disk, saying :

⁽¹⁹⁾ The asterisk is as shown in the text; it folds and unfolds for the purpose of being more conveniently put away. Its use is to prevent the veil of the disk from disarranging the order of the portions; its mystical meaning, as the versicle shews, is the star which led the Wise Men to the Infant SAVIOUR. S. Germanus, who usually finds a reference to the Nativity where the context of the office refers to the Death of our Saviour, here finds a reference to the latter where the Liturgy intends the former, and explains the asterisk of our Lord's bier and its coverings.

⁽²⁰⁾ This veil is called the διακοκλύμμα. The second veil has no distinctive name, but the third is called ἄηρ or νεφέλη. It is called air, because, as the air surrounds the earth, so does this surround the holy gifts; and cloud, because it is written, "There came a cloud and overshadowed them." This name, air, has found its way into our own Church, through Bishop Andrewes and the divines of his time, who (especially Wren) were well versed in the Eastern Liturgies.

The LORD hath reigned; He hath put on glorious apparel: the LORD hath put on His apparel, and girded Himself with strength.

Deacon. Let us make our supplications to the LORD. Sir, cover. (καλύψου.)

And the Priest, censuring the second veil, covers with it the holy chalice, saying :

Thy glory, O CHRIST, hath filled the heavens, and the earth is full of Thy praise.

Deacon. Let us make our supplications to the LORD. Sir, shelter. (σκέπασου.) ⁽²¹⁾

The Priest censuring the covering which is called the Air, and covering both chalice and disk with it, saith :

Shelter us with the covering of Thy wings, chase away from us every enemy and foe; give peace in our time; LORD, have mercy upon us, and on Thy world, and save our souls, for Thou art good, and the lover of men.

Then the Priest, taking the censor, censures the prothesis, saying thrice :

Blessed be our GOD, who is thus well pleased: glory be to Thee.

The Deacon saith at each time :

Always, now and ever, and to ages of ages. Amen.

⁽²¹⁾ The difference of the two expressions used for the covering with the first and with the second veil will shew the propriety of the exclamations by the Priest that follow each.

Then they both adore reverently, three times. Then the Deacon, taking the censer, saith :

At the oblation of the Holy Gifts, let us make our supplications to the LORD.

The Priest saith the Prayer of Prothesis : (2)

O God, our God, Who didst send forth the Heavenly Bread, the nourishment of the whole world, our LORD and God, JESUS CHRIST, as a Saviour and Redeemer and Benefactor, blessing and hallowing us ; Thyself bless this Oblation, and receive it to Thy heavenly altar : remember, of Thy goodness and love to men, them that offered it, and them for whom they offered it ; and keep us without condemnation in the celebration of Thy holy mysteries. For blessed and hallowed is Thy holy and glorious Name, FATHER, SON, and HOLY GHOST, now and ever, and to ages of ages. Amen.

And after this he there makes the Dismission, saying thus :

Glory be to Thee, CHRIST, our God and Hope : glory be to Thee.

Deacon. Glory. Both now. LORD have mercy. Sir, give the blessing.

And the Priest gives the Dismission, saying :

*{ if it be Sunday, CHRIST, that arose from the dead, }
 { if not CHRIST, our true God. }*

through the intercessions of His spotless Mother, and our holy Father, John Chrysostom, Archbishop of Constantinople, (or, if it be the Liturgy of S. Basil, of S. Basil the Great, of Caesarea in Cappadocia,) and All Saints, have mercy upon us, and save us ; for Thou art good and the lover of men.

(2) This prayer is word for word from the Liturgy of S. James, where it is said by the Priest when the Oblations are brought from the Prothesis to the altar, i.e. at the Great Entrance.

Deacon. Amen.

After the Dismission, the Deacon censers the holy prothesis ; then he goes and censers the holy Table all round in the form of a Cross, saying secretly :

In the tomb bodily, in Hades spiritually, in Paradise with the thief, while Thou wast, O CHRIST, with the FATHER and the HOLY GHOST on the throne, as God filling all things and incircumscrip't. Then he saith the fifty-first Psalm. In the meantime he censers the Sanctuary and all the Church, and comes again to the holy Altar, and again censers the holy Table and the Priest ; then he puts down the censer in its place, and comes close to the Priest ; and they stand in front of the holy Table, and make three reverences ; praying secretly, and saying :

O Heavenly King, the Paraclete, the SPIRIT of truth, Who art every where present, and fillest all things, the Treasure of good things, and Giver of life, come and tabernacle in us, and cleanse us from all stain, and save our souls, O good God.

Glory to God in the highest, and on earth peace, good-will towards men. Twice.

O LORD, open Thou my lips, and my mouth shall shew forth Thy praise.

Then the Priest kisses the Holy Gospel, and the Deacon the holy Table. Then the Deacon, bowing his head to the Priest, and holding his oration with the three fingers of his right hand, saith :

It is time to sacrifice ^(*) to the Lord. Holy Sir, give the blessing.

The Priest, signing him with the Cross, saith:

Blessed be our God always, now and ever, and to ages of ages. Amen.

Deacon. Holy Sir, pray for me.

Priest. The Lord make straight thy goings to every good work.

Deacon. Holy Sir, remember me.

Priest. The Lord our God remember thee in His kingdom, always, now and ever, and to ages of ages.

Deacon. Amen. Then he makes a reverence, and goes out, and standing in the accustomed place, over against the holy doors, makes three reverences, saying to himself: O Lord, open Thou my lips, and my mouth shall shew Thy praise. After this, he begins, Sir, give the blessing.

Priest. Blessed be the kingdom, &c.

[The Liturgy will be found at page 92.]

(*) ἑσθῆς. King translates "to perform;" and Goar, doubtfully, "faciendi." The word often, in late Greek, signifies to sacrifice. So the LXX. Isaiah xix. 21; 1 Kings xi. 33; Levit. ix. 7. So in S. Luke ii. 27, "τοῦ ποιῆσαι αὐτοῖς κατὰ τὸ εἰδωμένον τοῦ νόμου"—ought to be translated—"that they might offer a sacrifice according to the custom of the law." So facere is often used in Latin, Virg. iii. 77, "Cum faciam vitula pro frugibus." And the similar word ποιῆσαι, as every one knows, constantly means the same thing.

APPENDIX I.

THE FORMULÆ OF INSTITUTION

As they occur in every extant Liturgy.

[ALPHABETICALLY ARRANGED.]

I. ALL APOSTLES. I.

[Ethiopic: Monophysite.]

In the same night in which He was betrayed, He took bread into His hands, holy, blessed, and immaculate, He looked up to heaven, to Thee, His FATHER, He gave thanks, He blessed, He sanctified, and gave to His disciples, saying: Take, eat ye all of this: THIS BREAD IS MY BODY, WHICH IS BROKEN FOR YOU FOR THE REMISSION OF SINS. Amen.

People. Amen. Amen. Amen. We believe and are certain. We praise Thee, O LORD, our God: this is truly, and we thus believe, Thy Body.

Priest. In like manner the cup of thanksgiving He blessed and sanctified, and said to them: Take, drink ye all of it: THIS IS THE CHALICE OF MY BLOOD WHICH SHALL BE SHED FOR YOU, FOR THE REDEMPTION OF MANY.

People. Amen. This is verily Thy Blood: we believe.

[The first formula has been made the subject of great rejoicing by Protestants: while by some Liturgical writers it has been considered invalid. But the extremely strong language employed in the response of the people, ought to set the Ethiopic canon above suspicion. I do not mean to defend its compilers from the charge of presumption in altering our Lord's own most sacred words: I would only urge with most Catholic writers, that they are perfectly orthodox. When the Priest says, holding the paten in his hand,—This bread, that which is in the paten is bread, and no more: were he to terminate then, the bread would be only so far sanctified as being an oblation to God, but true bread still.]

* 2. ALL APOSTLES. II. (Ethiopic.) (1)

In that night in which they betrayed Him, He took bread.

People. We believe that this is He, truly we believe.

Priest. In His holy and blessed hands, which are without stain; He looked up to heaven unto Thee, unto His Father, gave thanks, blessed, and brake, and gave unto them, to His own, His disciples, and said to them: Take, eat, THIS BREAD IS MY BODY, WHICH IS BROKEN FOR YOU FOR THE REMISSION OF SINS.

People. Amen. Amen. Amen. We believe and are sure; we praise Thee, our Lord and our God, this is He, truly we believe.

Priest. Likewise the cup too He blessed, consecrated, and sanctified, and gave it to them, His own, His disciples, and said to them: Take, drink, THIS CUP IS MY BLOOD WHICH IS Poured out for you for the remission of sins.

People. Amen. Amen. Amen.

Priest. And when ye do this, make commemoration of Me.

He Who, when He was about to give completion to His dispensation in the flesh, on that evening, priestly and full of mysteries, in the upper-chamber, handed to His holy disciples the mystery of the mystic service of His sacrifice, when He had taken bread into His hands, holy and spotless and immaculate, and showed (it) to Thee, God the FATHER; and when He had given thanks, He blessed, consecrated, brake, and gave to His disciples, the holy Apostles, saying: Take, eat of it, all of you; THIS IS MY BODY, WHICH, FOR YOUR SAKE AND THAT OF MANY, IS BROKEN, AND GIVEN FOR THE REMISSION OF SINS AND FOR EVERLASTING LIFE.

Priest. And thus, over the cup too, when He had given thanks, He blessed, consecrated, (and) gave to His disciples, the holy Apostles, saying: Take, drink of it, all of you; for THIS IS MY BLOOD OF THE NEW TESTAMENT, WHICH FOR YOU AND FOR MANY IS SHED, AND GIVEN FOR THE REMISSION OF SINS AND FOR LIFE EVERLASTING.

People. Amen.

Priest. For whenever ye celebrate this service,

NOTE. S. Cyril's is one of the most valuable of the second class of Liturgies. From its singular resemblance to, and in some respects its even more singular departure from, that of S. Mark, it is very probably the real composition, or rather edition, of the Saint whose name it bears.

He took bread into His pure and holy hands, and looked to Thee, His God and FATHER, and, giving thanks, blessed, sanctified, brake, and gave to His disciples, the holy Apostles, saying, Take and eat of it: and believe ⁽¹²⁾ that THIS IS MY BODY: THE VERY SAME WHICH FOR YOU IS BROKEN AND GIVEN FOR THE EXPIATION OF TRANSGRESSIONS, THE REMISSION OF SINS, AND LIFE ETERNAL.

People. Amen.

Priest. Priest. In like manner, having raised His eyes to heaven, signifying that His Will was one with that of His FATHER and His HOLY SPIRIT, as if to confirm the verity of His voluntary Death, for the salvation of His image which lay in corruption, He took also the Chalice of Life, which He had mingled with wine of grape and natural water, according to due measure, after they had feasted on the Sacraments, and gave thanks, blessed, sanctified, and in like manner reached it forth to His friends, and said: Take and drink each from the hand of the other: FOR THIS IS MY LIVING BLOOD WHICH IS Poured FORTH FOR THE HUMAN RACE THAT BELIEVE IN ME, FOR THE ABOLITION OF FOLLIES AND LIFE ETERNAL.

Priest. And when He was prepared to undergo voluntary Death for us sinners, He Who had done no sin, He took bread into His holy hands, and gave thanks, blessed, sanctified, and brake, and gave to His holy Apostles and said: Take, eat of it: THIS IS MY BODY, WHICH FOR YOU AND FOR MANY IS BROKEN AND GIVEN FOR THE REMISSION OF SINS AND LIFE ETERNAL.

People. Amen.

Priest. In like manner also He took the chalice and gave thanks, blessed, sanctified, and gave to the same His holy Apostles, saying, Take, drink ye all of it: THIS IS MY BLOOD, WHICH FOR YOU AND FOR MANY IS Poured FORTH AND GIVEN FOR THE REMISSION OF SINS AND LIFE ETERNAL.

44. JAMES BARADÆUS. ⁽²⁾ (Syro-Jacobite.)

Priest. Who, when He had accomplished all His salutary dispensation, above the condition of human nature, Himself, God the Word Incarnate for our sakes: in that night in which it was to be that He should suffer voluntarily, He took common bread into His holy hands, and giving thanks, He blessed, He sanctified and brake, and gave to His Apostolic band, and said to them: THIS IS MY BODY; TAKE, AND EAT OF IT, BECAUSE WITHOUT ANY DOUBT IT IS BROKEN FOR THE LIFE OF THE WORLD, AND SHALL BE TO YOU, AND TO ALL THAT BELIEVE IN ME, FOR THE PROPITIATION OF OFFENCES, THE REMISSION OF SINS, AND ETERNAL LIFE.

People. Amen.

Priest. And after they had supped, He took the chalice mingled with wine and water into His pure hands, and giving thanks, He blessed, He sanctified, and gave to His disciples, and said to them: THIS IS MY BLOOD OF THE NEW TESTAMENT; TAKE, DRINK OF ALL OF IT; FOR WITHOUT DOUBT IT IS POURED FORTH FOR THE LIFE OF THE WORLD, AND SHALL BE TO YOU AND TO ALL THAT SHALL BELIEVE IN ME, FOR THE PROPITIATION OF OFFENCES, THE REMISSION OF SINS, AND ETERNAL LIFE.

People. Amen.

Priest. When therefore He was eating that legal Lamb, which was the type of the Heavenly Lamb, with His holy disciples, and willed to deliver us from corporal sacrifices of lambs, of bulls, and of kids, and to raise us to more worthy sacrifices, celestial and divine mysteries,—in that evening, in which He was about to give Himself up to be a Sacrifice for us, He took bread into His holy hands, free from all stain, and raising His eyes to heaven, to His FATHER, He gave thanks, He blessed, He brake, He ate, and gave to His disciples, saying: Take, eat of it: THIS IS MY BODY, WHICH FOR THE LIFE OF CREATURES IS BROKEN AND DIVIDED FOR THE REMISSION OF SINS AND LIFE ETERNAL.

People. Amen.

Priest. In like manner He temperately mingled the cup with wine and water, He gave thanks over it, after He had supped with His disciples in the mystical table, He blessed, He sanctified, and reached forth to His holy Apostles, and said: THIS IS MY BLOOD, WHICH I POUR FORTH FOR THE LIFE OF THE WORLD, AND WHICH PREPARETH, FOR THEM THAT BELIEVE IN ME, ETERNAL LIFE.

Priest. But when He had accomplished and fulfilled in Himself the figures and shadows of the ancient law, as the LORD of both Testaments, and willed to take away from the eyes of the Apostolic band the typical veil of prophecy, and to bear witness that that true Body which of old was obscurely, and as it were afar off, prefigured, was now in a certain excellent manner close at hand; in that night which destroyed the night of sin and death; in that very night in which He was about to celebrate this religious sacrifice as a Priest for the expiation of the whole world; He took bread into His holy hands which created the world, and raised His calm face to the height of heaven, to the FATHER, and giving thanks, He blessed, and brake, and ate, and gave to the company of His holy Apostles, and said: Take, eat of it: THIS IS MY TRUE BODY, WHICH FOR THE LIFE AND SALVATION OF THE WHOLE HUMAN RACE IS BROKEN AND GIVEN FOR THE EXPIATION OF TRANSGRESSIONS AND LIFE ETERNAL.

People. Amen.

Priest. Thus also He mingled the Chalice mystically of wine and water, after He had refreshed them at the Table of Life, ~~He~~ blessed, He sanctified, and gave to the band of the holy Apostles, and said: Take, drink ye all of it: This is My BLOOD OF THE NEW TESTAMENT, WHICH IS Poured FORTH FOR THE SALVATION OF THE WHOLE WORLD, AND WHICH PREPARETH THOSE THAT BELIEVE IN ME TO LIFE ETERNAL.

People. Amen.

Priest. He then, the Prince of the Revelation of our good things, on that evening of His voluntary groaning, explaining by these quickening and easily-to-be-handled Elements, this Mystery which cannot be expressed in words. He took bread into His holy hands, and as the High Priest and Apostle of our confession, rendering thanks for us, He gave thanks, He blessed, He sanctified, He brake, and gave to His disciples, saying: Take, eat of it: This is My BODy, WHICH FOR YOU AND FOR MANY IS BROKEN AND DIVIDED FOR THE EXPIATION OF TRANSGRESSIONS AND LIFE ETERNAL.

Priest. This, saith He, do in remembrance of Me: for I say unto you that I will be in the midst of you, and will give holiness to those rites which shall be accomplished: for he that eateth My Body, and drinketh My Blood, dwelleth in Me and I in him; and as I live through the FATHER, so also he that eateth Me, shall live through Me. Receiving, therefore, this mystical institution, according to the disposition of Thy laws, O God the Word, we have prepared Bread, and have mingled the Chalice—commemorating over them all Thy dispensation, from the first assumption of our flesh, which took place in a moment and in the twinkling of an eye, even to the Passion, the Death, the Cross, and the Resurrection worthy of God; with a pure heart, and with one voice, according to that Thy divine precept, Ye shall set forth My Death and confess My Resurrection until Mine Advent.

He took bread in His holy and blessed hands, a marriage-gift for Thy spouse, and a divorce for her whom He left, the Synagogue. He gave thanks, blessed, and brake, and gave to His disciples, and said to them: THIS IS MY BODY, THE FOOD OF RIGHTEOUSNESS, WHICH VERILY HE WHO EATS SHALL NOT DIE, AND HE WHO TAKES SHALL NOT PERISH. Take, eat of it, all of you. And similarly He praised (God) over the Cup too, and said: THIS CUP IS MY BLOOD OF THE NEW TESTAMENT: take, drink of it, all of you. A wondrous sign it is to all those who worship Him, a bar of judgment to the crucifiers, which is written with His Blood, and sealed with His Cross, and signed with His Death, for everlasting life, whereby sin is forgiven. Priest. But, desiring to assist the work of His hands by His gifts, and to destroy the dominion of death by His own death: He, before His salutary Passion, took bread into His pure, immaculate, and unspotted hands, and looked up to Thee, God the FATHER; and giving thanks. He blessed, sanctified, brake, and gave to His disciples and holy Apostles, saying: Take, eat of it: THIS IS MY BODY, THAT SAME WHICH FOR YOU IS BROKEN AND GIVEN, FOR THE EXPIATION OF TRANSGRESSIONS, THE REMISSION OF SINS, AND LIFE ETERNAL TO THEM THAT RECEIVE IT.

People. Amen.

Priest. In like manner also, after they had supped, mingling the Chalice with wine and water, and giving thanks, He blessed, He sanctified, and gave to the same His disciples and holy Apostles, saying: Take, drink ye all of it: THIS IS MY BLOOD OF THE NEW TESTAMENT, THAT SAME WHICH FOR YOU AND FOR MANY IS Poured FORTH AND GIVEN FOR THE EXPIATION OF TRANSGRESSIONS, THE REMISSION OF SINS, AND LIFE ETERNAL TO THEM THAT RECEIVE.

People. Amen.

Priest. Do this in remembrance of Me; for as often as ye shall eat this Bread and drink this Chalice, ye shall set forth My death, until I shall come.

73. PHILOXENUS OF MABUG. I. (Syro-Jacobite.)

Priest. And when He willed of His own free will to taste death for us, and to accomplish the legal Passover, He took bread into His holy hands, and lifted up His eyes to Thee, GOD the FATHER; He gave thanks, He blessed, He sanctified, He brake, and gave to the order of His holy Apostles, and said: THIS IS MY BODY, WHICH FOR YOU AND FOR MANY IS BROKEN AND DIVIDED, FOR THE REMISSION OF SINS AND LIFE ETERNAL.

People. Amen.

Priest. In like manner He also mingled the Chalice of wine and water, He gave thanks, He blessed, He sanctified, and gave to the company of His holy Apostles, and said: Take, drink ye all of it: THIS IS MY BLOOD, WHICH FOR YOU AND FOR MANY IS Poured FORTH FOR THE REMISSION OF SINS, AND LIFE ETERNAL.

People. Amen.

Priest. Thus also He commanded and admonished them: As often as ye shall celebrate these Mysteries, ye shall do it to commemorate My Death and Resurrection, until I shall come.

People. (As in 18.)

74. PHILOXENUS OF MABUG. II. (Syro-Jacobite.)

Priest. Who, when He had accomplished all His dispensation, salutary and full of life, and had exhibited virtues and miracles to all creatures, and had in all places destroyed the power of the Rebel and Seducer, and coming to His salutary Passion through love to us men, He had eaten that legal Lamb with the company of His disciples; taking bread into His pure, holy, immaculate and unspotted hands, raising His eyes to heaven, He looked up to Thee, GOD the FATHER, and gave thanks, blessed, sanctified, brake, and gave to His holy disciples, saying: Take, eat of it: THIS IS MY BODY, WHICH PREPARETH YOU AND MANY FAITHFUL TO LIFE ETERNAL.

People. Amen.

Priest. In like manner also He took the Chalice, tempered with wine and water, and gave thanks, blessed, sanctified, and gave to the same disciples, His Apostles, saying: Take, drink ye all of it: THIS IS MY BLOOD OF THE NEW TESTAMENT, WHICH PREPARETH YOU AND MANY FAITHFUL TO LIFE ETERNAL.

People. Amen.

Priest. And ever do this in remembrance of Me: for as often as ye shall eat this Bread and shall drink this Chalice, ye shall make memory of My Death and announce My Resurrection, until I come.

People. (As in 18.)

75. ROMAN.

Priest. Who, the day before He suffered, took bread into His holy and venerable hands: and having lifted up His eyes to heaven, to Thee His Father God Almighty, He blessed, He brake, and gave to His disciples, saying: Take and eat ye all of this: FOR THIS IS MY BODY.

In like manner after they supped, taking also this glorious Chalice into His holy and venerable hands; also rendering thanks to Thee, He blessed and gave to His disciples, saying: Take, and drink ye all of it: FOR THIS IS THE CHALICE OF MY BLOOD, OF THE NEW AND ETERNAL TESTAMENT, THE MYSTERY OF FAITH: WHICH FOR YOU AND FOR MANY SHALL BE Poured FORTH FOR THE REMISSION OF SINS. As often as ye do these things, ye shall do them in memory of Me.

* 76. ROMANO-CHALDEE. (C)

Glory to Thee, God the FATHER, who didst send Thy only SON for our deliverance; and He, on the day before His Passion, took bread in His holy hands, and lifted up His eyes unto Thee, God, His FATHER Omnipotent, and gave thanks to Thee, and blessed, and brake, and gave to His disciples, saying: Take, eat of it, all of you; THIS IS MY BODY.

In the same way, after they had supped. He took in His pure hands this pure Cup, and gave thanks to Thee, and blessed, and gave to His disciples, saying: Take, drink of it, all of you; THIS IS THE CUP OF MY BLOOD OF THE NEW TESTAMENT, WHICH IS FOR EVER THE MYSTERY OF FAITH, WHICH FOR YOU AND FOR MANY IS SHED FOR THE REMISSION OF SINS.

77. SCOTTISH.

Priest. Who, (by His own oblation of Himself once offered,) made a full, perfect, and sufficient sacrifice, oblation, and satisfaction for the sins of the whole world; and did institute, and in His Holy Gospel command us to continue, a perpetual memorial of that His precious death and sacrifice, until His coming again. For in the night that He was betrayed, He took bread, and when He had given thanks, He brake it, and gave it to His disciples, saying: Take, eat: THIS IS MY BODY, WHICH IS GIVEN FOR YOU: do this in remembrance of Me.

Likewise, after supper, He took the cup; and when He had given thanks, He gave it to them, saying: Drink ye all of this: FOR THIS IS MY BLOOD OF THE NEW TESTAMENT, WHICH IS FOR YOU, AND FOR MANY, FOR THE REMISSION OF SINS: do this, as often as ye shall drink it, in remembrance of Me.

78. SEVERUS OF ANTIOCH (Syro-Jacobite).

Priest. Who, when He left His salutary Passion and Cross for a memorial to us, He, the Physician of our wickednesses, offering the oblation of Himself for us to Thee, God and FATHER, took bread into His hands, and stretching them to heaven, He blessed, He sanctified, He brake, and divided to His disciples the Apostles, saying: Take, eat of it: FOR THIS IS MY BODY, WHICH FOR YOU AND FOR MANY IS BROKEN AND GIVEN UNTO LIFE ETERNAL.

People. Amen.

Priest. In like manner also He took the Chalice, after they had supped, and mingling it with wine and water, He gave thanks, and sanctified, and divided to His disciples the Apostles, saying: Take, drink ye all of it: THIS IS MY BLOOD OF THE NEW TESTAMENT, WHICH FOR YOU AND FOR MANY IS POURED FORTH AND GIVEN FOR THE REMISSION OF SINS. Do this in remembrance of Me; for as often as ye shall eat this Bread, and shall drink this Chalice, ye shall set forth My death.

79. THEODORE THE INTERPRETER (Nestorian).

Priest. Who, with His Apostles, in that night in which He was betrayed, celebrated this Mystery, great, tremendous, holy and divine: taking bread, He blessed and brake, and gave to His disciples, and said: THIS IS MY BODY, WHICH FOR YOU IS BROKEN FOR THE REMISSION OF SINS.

In like manner also the Chalice: He gave thanks, and gave to them and said: THIS IS MY BLOOD OF THE NEW TESTAMENT, WHICH FOR MANY IS Poured FORTH FOR THE REMISSION OF SINS. Take ye all, therefore, and eat of this Bread and drink of this Chalice, and do thus, as often as ye shall be gathered together, in remembrance of Me.

80. THOMAS OF HERACLEA (Syro-Jacobite). (⁶⁶)

Priest. Verily and certainly He took on Himself the form of a servant, that in that form He might accomplish the things that were to be for our salvation, and the life that was to be given us. He took bread and wine: He blessed, He sanctified, He brake, and gave to His Apostles, saying: Take, use, and thus do. And when ye shall receive these things, believe and be certain that ye eat My Body and drink My Blood, doing it in remembrance of My Death, until I shall come.

bread in their presence, blessed, and said: Take, eat: THIS BREAD IS MY BODY, WHICH IS BROKEN FOR YOU, FOR THE REMISSION OF SIN. And likewise the Cup, He blessed, and said: Take, drink; THIS CUP IS MY BLOOD, WHICH IS GIVEN FOR YOU, FOR THE REMISSION OF SIN.

82. S. Xystus (Syro-Jacobite). (⁶⁸)

Priest. Who, when He was prepared for His salutary Passion, in the bread which by Him was blessed, sanctified, broken, and distributed to His holy Apostles, sanctifying His Body, He gave it to us, saying: Eat ye of it: FOR THIS IS MY BODY, WHICH FOR YOU AND FOR MANY IS BROKEN AND DIVIDED, FOR THE EXPIATION OF TRANSGRESSIONS, AND THE REMISSION OF SINS, TO ETERNAL LIFE.

People. Amen.

Priest. In like manner, in the Cup which was by Him signed, sanctified, and given to the same holy Apostles, giving to us, His propitiatory Blood, He said: Take, drink ye all of it: FOR THIS IS THE CHALICE OF MY BLOOD OF THE NEW TESTAMENT, WHICH FOR YOU AND MANY IS GIVEN FOR THE EXPIATION OF TRANSGRESSIONS, AND HATH GIVEN TO US THE REMISSION OF ETERNAL LIFE.

People. Amen.

Priest. He also added this admonition, saying: As often as ye shall communicate in this Bread, ye shall set forth My Death and Resurrection, until I come.

APPENDIX II.

PRAYERS FOR THE FAITHFUL DEPARTED.

Is the following Appendix I propose to give the more interesting among the intercessions for the faithful departed which occur in the whole body of Liturgies. The more they are examined, the more clearly two points will appear. 1. That prayers for the dead, and more especially the oblation of the blessed Eucharist for them, have been from the beginning the practice of the Universal Church. 2. And this without any idea of a purgatory of pain, or of any state from which the departed soul has to be delivered as from one of misery. The examples are arranged in alphabetical order; and the many that are omitted, are omitted, not because they contravene the above statements, (a polemical deceit of which God forbid that I should be guilty,) but only, either because they say less strikingly what is better expressed in some example that I have given; or as being conceived in precisely the same words.

1. ARMENIAN.

Remember, LORD, and have mercy, and be propitious to the souls of the departed, and give them repose and life, and set them with Thy Saints in the kingdom of heaven, making them worthy of Thy mercy.

2. S. BASIL (Copto-Jacobite).

In like manner, O LORD, remember also all those who have already fallen asleep in the Priesthood, and amidst the laity; vouchsafe to give rest to all their souls, in the bosoms of our holy fathers, Abraham, and Isaac, and Jacob. Bring them in and collect them in a place of greenness, by the water of comfort in the paradise of pleasure, where grief and misery and sighing are banished, in the brightness of Thy Saints.

3. S. CLEMENT (Syro-Jacobite).

And at Thy spiritual and holy altar, O LORD, grant rest, good memory, and felicity to all the souls, bodies, and spirits of our fathers, brethren, and sisters, corporal or spiritual, who have departed in whatever regions, cities, or states; or have been suffocated in the sea or in rivers, or who have died in travel, and of whom there is no memory in the Churches constituted on earth. Thou, O LORD, give them good memory, who have departed to Thee in the orthodox faith, together with those whose names are written in the book of life.

And to all of them who, having run the race of this life, have appeared perfect and illustrious before Thee, and having been set free from the ocean of sins have reached Thee, our fathers and brethren according to the flesh and the spirit,—give rest, O LORD, in that spiritual and mighty bosom. Give them the spirit of joy in the habitations of light and gladness, in the tabernacles of shade and rest, in the treasures of happiness, whence every sorrow is far banished, and the souls of the pious wait without labour for the first-fruits of life; and the spirits of the righteous in like manner are waiting for the fulfilment of the promised reward: in that region, where the labourers and the weary look towards Paradise, and they that are invited to the wedding long for the celestial Bridegroom: when they that are called to that feast wait till they go up thither, and ardently desire to receive that new state of glory: where sorrows are banished and where joys are found; for love only has appeared not entangled in the passions of sin of all who have been arrayed with the human body, namely, Thine Only-Begotten Son, JESUS CHRIST, our Lord, through Whom also we hope to obtain mercy for ourselves and for them.

4. GREGORY ABU'LFARAJ (Syro-Jacobite).

Because Thou art the just remunerator of the living and the dead, and because in Thy hands are the spirits of all flesh, we pray Thee, LORD, for all men who have passed to Thee out of this temporal life, who have departed in the orthodox faith, that Thou wouldst remember them, of Thy mercy, and hear these our prayers, and neglect not these our supplications on their behalf; for they are created in Thy king-like image; but spare them of Thy grace; forgive them according to Thy clemency; lead them into Thy dwellings; direct them to Thee, adding them to the numbers of heavenly hosts, where Thy Only-Begotten Son is celebrated and glorified by hymns, and is honoured and extolled by hymns returning in a circle. According to the promises made by Him to us, we hope in Thy mercy and the remission of sins, as well for us as for them.

5. S. IGNATIUS (Syro-Jacobite).

Placidly and tranquilly receive through Thy goodness, O LORD, the souls and spirits of Thy servants and worshippers, who have departed to Thee out of the present life; but chiefly them for whom, and on account of whom, this sacrifice is offered and perfected. Remember them, grant them rest, and place them in the habitations of light, in the abodes of blessed spirits, in the heavenly Jerusalem, in the Church of the First-born who are written in heaven: and bestowing on them good memory and a most happy rest, through Thy love to men, give them the life that knoweth not old age, the good things that pass not away, the delights that have no end. Mercy may they obtain through Thy clemency: rest may they be possessed of through Thy mercy: let them be hid under the wings of Thy grace and not condemned, because they have put their trust in Thee and Thine Only-Begotten Son, through Whom, &c.

6. JAMES BARADEUS (Syro-Jacobite).

LORD GOD of spirits and of all flesh, grant that all they whom we have commemorated, and they also whom we have not commemorated, who have departed in the orthodox faith out of this mutable life, may become worthy of that indefectible existence in the bosom of Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob, where are all Saints: where griefs and straits are not found, but where beatitude and joy only reign: where Thine Only-Begotten Son is glorified with Thee by all; through whom also we hope to obtain mercy, and revelation of face, before Thee, and for His sake as well for them as for us.

7. JAMES OF SERUG (Syro-Jacobite).

Grant, O LORD, rest to their souls whom we commemorate, and write their names in the book of life, and make them worthy of the pleasure which is received in Paradise. Set them in the region of the just, and join them to the ranks of the pious, and cause them to arrive in the harbour of life, where is the habitation of rest, where griefs, infirmities, groans and miseries fly; where all the Saints enjoy blessedness, where all the pious rest. Cast out none of them, or of us, in condemnation from Thy heavenly kingdom; for One only hath appeared upon earth without sin, &c.

8. JOHN BAR-MAADAN (Syro-Jacobite).

Them, who with true faith and confidence, and in the orthodox belief, have been set free from this temporal life, according to the sentence promulgated by Thy equity, and have returned to Thee, O God, as to their first omnipotent cause; spare them by Thy mercy: reckon them among the number of Thine elect: cover them with the bright cloud of Thy Saints: (?) set them with the lambs on Thy right hand, and bring them into Thy habitation: cause them to arrive in the blessed dwelling of Thy kingdom; grant that they may be invited to Thy banquet, and bring them into the region of exultation and joy, where place there is none for grief and misery, and passion and sighing is at an end. Examine them not severely, since they beseech Thee to deal mercifully with them, because of the errors to which this flesh, formed of clay and subject to sin, is liable; but in that terrible hour of judgments, let them be patterns, O Lord, for us and for themselves, for none is there without sin, &c.

(?) A very beautiful allusion to the bright cloud which overshadowed the Apostles during the Transfiguration.

9. S. JOHN CHRYSOSTOM (Syro-Jacobite).

And remember them who with purity of heart, and sanctity of soul and body, have departed from this world, and have come to Thee, O God. Them whom from the first Adam, the first made of our creation, in all generations have pleased Thee, and confessed Thee, and have hoped for and expected the manifestation of Thine Only-begotten Son, and have desired to see His great and glorious day. Them who in the spiritual bosom of Baptism have put Thee on splendidly and have believed in Thy Name. Give them rest in Thy celestial habitations, in the paradise of delights, in the tabernacles of light, in quiet dwelling-places. Enter not into judgment with them, O Lord, for in Thy sight shall no man living be justified; for there is only One Who hath appeared upon earth, pure and without blemish, &c.

10. JOHN THE SCRIBE (Syro-Jacobite).

Maker and Creator of all things, God and FATHER, grant that the bodies and spirits of Thy servants who have departed in Thy hope, may come to celestial good things and to those pleasures which have no end, to those joys which are without termination, to the indesinent banquet. Write their names in the book of life, gladden them with the aspect of Thy countenance; set them in the region of the righteous, count them among the bands of the pious. Grant that they may rejoice in the good things of the Saints; grant that they may lie down at Thy spiritual Table; forgive their sins through Thy mercy; save them from grief and sighing; deliver them from the burnings of Gehenna; cause them to pass beyond those terrible straits of the place of fear^(?); set them in the tabernacle of light: grant them rest in the bosom of Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob, our fathers, in Thy celestial habitations, in places of quiet. Enter not into judgment with Thy servants, for in Thy sight shall no man living be justified.

11. S. MARUTHAS (Syro-Jacobite).

Remember, O LORD, through Thy grace, all those who by means of the sentence pronounced against our first father Adam, have departed out of this miserable life, and are gone where Thou only knowest; and give them rest among those delights which Thou hast promised to them that love Thee, not culling to memory their sins and ours, for no man is without sin.

12. S. MARK (Syro-Jacobite).

And remember those who are worthy of pious commemoration through Thy mercy, O LORD, priests, deacons, and chaste sub-deacons, readers, singers, and all the departed faithful, especially our fathers, brethren, and masters, and all who have sought the prayers of our littleness, and all who have been made partakers of any ecclesiastical dignity, and all who have communicated to the necessities of all the poor of our society, and those whom we desire to remember. We beseech Thee, LORD God of the holy fathers, Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob, and of all the company of the just and pious, that Thou wouldst give rest to them,—to them all who have left us and departed to Thee, and to Thy blessed seats. Blot out, forgive, and remit all their sins, known and unknown, voluntary or involuntary; for none hath appeared upon earth without sin, excepting Thy Only-begotten Son, our LORD God and SAVIOUR, JESUS CHRIST, by Whom also we desire to obtain mercy and the remission of sins which is for His sake, both for them and for ourselves.

(?) It would almost seem as if constant association with Mahometan theology had somewhat influenced the writer's ideas of the passage from this world to the next.

13. MICHAEL, PATRIARCH OF ANTIOCH.

(Syro-Jacobite).

O our God, Artificer of our nature, only to be adored and knowing all things, Who desirest the life and salvation of all, give by Thy mercy, good memory, and remission of transgressions and forgiveness of sins, to our fathers, masters, and doctors, and all the sons of Thy holy Church, who by the decree which Thy equity hath pronounced against us, drank of old time the sad cup of death, and of most bitter separation. Visit them, O LORD, and console them in the habitations in which they rest, by Thy divine and most wise decree, by Thy just dispensation, by the feeling of Thy SPIRIT, blessed, sweet, and full of clemency, by this mystical sacrifice, full of all blessed hope, LORD, receive our prayers for them, and blot out their sins and defects, and purify their faults; for there is none, &c.

14. PHILOXENUS OF MABUG. II. (Syro-Jacobite).

Grant, O LORD, that Thy servants who have departed with Thy hope in faith, may arrive at those celestial good things, and unending delights, and the pleasures which perish not: to the port in which the weary and tempest-tost rest together: to that feast in which martyrs and confessors exult, and to the supper prepared for all the blessed: preserving them from fire, darkness, and the worm that dieth not, because none is free from sin, &c.

15. SEVERUS OF ANTIOCH (Syro-Jacobite).

And give rest in the bosom of Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob in the Paradise of pleasure, in the place of repose, in the tabernacles of the Saints, where is the multitude of them that keep the glorious holy-day, as the souls, bodies, and spirits of them who have come to Thee out of flesh and blood, to give, O Lord of all flesh: where is the perfection of life without molestation, and the first-fruits of incalculable promises; of the consummation whereof make them worthy, not reckoning to them their offences, not entering into judgment with Thy servants, for in Thy sight shall no man living be justified, for One only is without sin, &c.

16. THEODORE THE INTERPRETER (Nestorian).

Lord, our God, receive from us, through Thy grace, this sacrifice of thanksgiving, namely, the reasonable fruits of our lips, that the memory may be good before Thee of the ancient righteous men, holy prophets, blessed Apostles, martyrs, and confessors, bishops, doctors, priests, deacons, and all the sons of the holy Catholic Church, who with true faith have departed out of this world, that by Thy grace, O Lord, Thou mayest give them pardon of all sins and transgressions, which, in this world, in a mortal body, and a soul, subject to temptation, they have sinned and offended, for there is no man that sinneth not.
